Cuban Ransom Talks Resumed

Exiles Report 20 Slain In Raid On Castroland

By The Associated Press

Release of 1,113 Cuba invasion captives remained a big question mark Wednesday with a negotiator meeting again with Fidel Castro, the U.S. government reportedly underwriting part of the price, and an exile group providing a possible complication in a claim of a new raid on Cuba.

James R. Donovan, New York lawyer, conferred at Havana with Prime Minister Castro in resumption of talks they held last week.

Donovan, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate in New York, has emphasized he is representing the Cuban Prisoners Families Committee.

The New York World Telegram and Sun reported Donoan is acting as a U. S. government agent. The Kennedy administration denied the report.

It was learned reliably in Washington, however, that the government has agreed to underwrite the shipment of about $13 million in medicine and food to Cuba if Castro frees the men he captured in the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion of April 17, 1961.

20 Reported Slain In Raid

The amount presumably would be augmented by private subscriptions raised by the Families Committee. Castro originally asked ransom totaling $62 million. Some individuals already have been ransomed by relatives of friends for as much as $100,000, and 60 sick or wounded captives were returned to Miami last April on "credit" against future payment.

In Washington and Miami, Cuban exiles expressed concern over whether touchy dealings for the prisoners' release would be affected by the announcement of a Puerto Rico-based anti-Castro action group, Alpha 66, that it raided Isabela de la Sagua on Cuba's north coast before dawn Wednesday, killing 20 in a battle with Cuban militia and Russian military men.

Pan American World Airways, which operates jets capable of carrying 174 passengers each, has said it will make these available if needed to fly Castro's captives to the United States.

Congress Reaction Expected

Whatever amount the U.S. government contributes toward freeing the captives, reaction seemed certain in Congress. Some members have voiced sharp opposition to any payment of what they call ransom.

It was learned $3 million already has been appropriated which could be used for helping free the prisoners. There was a reported dispute over whether $10 million more could be provided from the Central Intelligence Agency or whether it must be appropriated also.

The World Telegram and Sun's story said Donovan was asked by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy last June to undertake negotiating for release of the men captured in the abortive invasion which the United States backed. It said the president's brother told Donovan the White House had a "moral obligation" to free the prisoners.

JFK OKs Tax Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy authorized the House Select Committee on Small Business Wednesday to examine the income tax returns of tax-exempt organizations from 1950 through 1962.

The committee had requested permission to inspect the returns in its study of the impact of the activities of tax-exempt organizations on small business.

State Of War Exists, Yemeni Official Says

CAIRO (AP)—The United Arab Republic's Middle East News Agency Thursday quoted Yemen's vice premier, Abdel Rahman el Beidany, announcing that Yeman considers itself at war with Saudi Arabia.

The announcement came shortly after the U.A.R. government pledged all its strength to defense against any attack on the two-week-old revolutionary regime in Yemen.

The news agency in Cairo did not make clear whether El Beidany was speaking personally or representing official government policy.

The Yemeni premier, Col. Abdullah Sallal, who overthrew the Yemen monarchy two weeks ago, was quoted Thursday morning as saying "everyone should know that the U. A. R. has placed all its facilities at the service of the Yemeni revolution to repel any attack on us."

The U.A.R. pledge was issued by Prime Minister Aly Sabry after a meeting of the presidency council presided over by Prsident Nasser.

Sabry said th council decided after assessing the situation in Yemen and "the present Saudi Arabian-Jordanian aggression on Yemen's northern borders, as well as interference directed at the southern region."

Since the revolt broke out, Yemen and the U.A.R. have pledged to support the new regime but this was the firmnest statement yet, implying full military support.

It is known that some Egyptian units are already in Yemen, as well as shipments of arms, tanks and other equipment. Naval units at Suez have also been alerted to be ready to move into Yemen waters.

Monumental Church Meet Opens Today

Pageantry, Fervent Prayer Will Launch Ecumenical Council

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic "successors of the apostles," here in worldwide force made ready Wednesday night for the mightiest gathering of the Church in modern times.

It begins Thursday at 9 a.m. —3 a.m. Eastern Standard Time— with magnificent pageantry and a fervent prayer, "Come, Holy Spirit." And it takes place against a backdrop of challenging history.

On the eve of the Church's monumental ecumenical council, the first in a century, pleas for Divine guidance were uttered in Masses around the globe.

Pope John XXIII celebrated a Mass to the Holy Ghost, invoking wisdom to light the way for the historic meeting.

Protestant Observers

Assembled for the Second Vatican Council was the high command of the entire Church of half-a billion believers—the bishops, archbishops, cardinals, abbots and other leaders of religious orders from seven continents.

Also here were delegate-observers from numerous Protestant and other bodies.

But Greek Orthodox prelates were absent. A spokesman for the Holy Synod in Istanbul announced a poll of Orthodox churches showed a majority favored staying away.

Special night illumination glowed on Rome's ancient shrines and fountains, and lit the towering dome of St. Peter's with a pearly, ethereal radiance.

The council fathers came, as Pope John says, to renew, reinvigorate and purify the Church—and begin a long labor towards Christian unity.

They will meet in massive St. Peter's, the vast 16th Century basilica built on a site where Christians once were burned at the stake and fed to beasts.

21st Council In 2,000 Years

It is the 21st such council in 2,000 years of Roman Catholic Church history. Unlike most past councils, which involved doctrinal crisis and conflict, it comes at a time of Catholic vitality and growth.

The purpose, the Pope says, is "directed entirely toward giving back to the face of the Church of Jesus the splendor and the pure and simple lines of its birth, and to present it as the Divine founder made it."

In scope, the council is unprecedented. Never before have the rulers of the Church gathered from so many lands, in such numbers—more than 2,600 of them.

At the last such meeting, the First Vatican Council in 1869-70, only 774 were present. And the Catholic population was only about 200 million, in limited geographical bounds, less than half the present range and numbers.

At Least 32 Killed In Polish Rail Wreck

WARSAW (UPI)—At least 32 persons were killed when two express trains crashed 80 miles south of Warsaw in what was described Wednesday as post-war Poland's worst railroad accident.

Railroad officials said the toll from Tuesday night's collision may rise because more bodies are believed trapped in the wreckage.

"Elect Democrats," Kennedy Tells Rally

President Kennedy, in his usual fiery campaign oratory, last night urged Maryland Democrats to send Democrats to Congress in the November election. The President helicoptered to Baltimore to address a Democratic rally in the 5th Regiment Armory. Among those sharing the speakers' platform were (front row, left to right) Baltimore Mayor J. Harold Grady, Gov. J. Millard Tawes, Daniel Brewster, U. S. Senate candidate; Carlton Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large; Thomas B. Finan, Cumberland, attorney-general; Herbert R. ## Hopes Raised Congress Can Quit This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Behind-the-scenes talk Wednesday cracked, at least a bit, the impasse that has frozen Congress into one of its longest sessions as Senate and House members agreed to iron out some of their differences in conferences.

The leaders accomplished this progress with a helping hand from the White House as the specter of a lack of a quorum threatened to halt all action. Members of Congress seeking re-election next month are eager to get back home to campaign and large numbers already have left.

One obstacle to adjournment was removed when President Kennedy — without comment — unexpectedly signed a bill to let self-employed persons set up tax-deductible pension funds.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., had been struggling to keep Congress in session past the deadline for presidential action on the measure at midnight Wednesday. He feared a pocket veto if adjournment came before then but figured enough votes could be mustered to override a regular veto.

Wednesday's developments raised hopes that Congress can meet its latest going home target date—Thursday night—or at least quit on Friday.

The big question remaining was how to solve a deadlock over the annual money bill for the Agriculture Department. The argument is over $25 million in research items in the $5-billion measure which the Senate insists on but the House opposes just as vigorously.

Informal conferences between Senate and House leaders were reported to have made some progress on the issue.

But the House gave a resounding "no" answer to one Senate solution, a resolution passed last week to provide emergency financing for the department at least until next session while the problem is threshed out. This was rejected by a 241-1 roll-call vote which passed a resolution saying the Senate action "contravenes" the Constitution and is "an infringement on the privileges of the House to originate appropriation bills."

One step toward adjournment was House agreement to send another controversial measure to a Senate-House conference, an omnibus bill to authorize, but not finance, river and harbor and flood control projects all over the nation. The House voted $2.3 billion but the Senate tacked on items raising this to around $4 billion.

House Kills Equal Pay For Women Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) —A bill that would require employers to give equal pay to women who do the same work as men apparently was killed in the House Wednesday.

A move to have a House-Senate conference meet on the bill was blocked by Rep. Frank T. Bow R-Ohio. With Congress due to adjourn any day a further effort to save the bill is not expected.

Mariner Will Pass 20,900 Miles, Not 9,000, From Venus

Planet Still Can Be Scanned Thoroughly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mariner 2 will miss Venus by 20,900 miles instead of the earlier announced 9,000, but its scientific equipment will still be able to scan the planet thoroughly as it passes.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announcing this Wednesday, said the added distance resulted from an overcorrection in Mariner's speed when signals were transmitted to it Sept. 4 to aim it more accurately for the cloud-shrounded planet.

The velocity was increased by 47 miles an hour instead of the intended 45. This will put it 20,900 miles from Venus — plus or minus 3,000 miles—when it passes by Dec. 14.

But despite the error NASA emphasized the new path still lies well within the pie-shaped target area of 5,000 to 40,000 miles from Venus.

It is "well within the region where the scientific planetary experiments are expected to be very effective," NASA said.

Mariner 2 was launched on its long space voyage from Cape Canaveral, Fla. on Aug. 27, aimed 10,000 miles from the surface of Venus. The planned Sept. 4 correction in its flight path followed and by Wednesday it had hurtled more than 7¼ million miles from the earth.

It is traveling at a speed of 7,500 miles an hour with relation to the earth, or 65,000 miles an hour with relation to the sun. This is faster than the earth rotates around the sun.

NASA scientists, in their first report on information gathered en route by Mariner, disclosed that:

—Particle radiation from the sun appears to be steady and strong like a solar wind, and of sufficient force to stretch out and distort solar magnetic fields.

—Not only are there magnetic fields radiating outward from the sun, there are transverse magnetic fields at right angles to those from the sun which may impede solar radiation.

—There apparently is always some plasma or atmospheric gas flowing in interplanetary space. At least there has been so far during the Mariner sampling.

—The rate of flow of very small particles in deep space is at least 1,000 pounds less than that reported by instruments on satellites orbiting near the earth. NASA said this indicates, "We are measuring some sort of concentration near the earth, a fact of significance for man-in-space programs."

U.S. Schedules High-Altitude Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced Wednesday it has scheduled a high-altitude nuclear test for next Sunday or Monday in the Johnston Island test area of the Pacific.

The announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission said the device to be detonated will be of "submegaton range"—that is with an explosive force of less than one million tons of TNT.

The announcement said the device would be set off at an altitude of "tens of kilometers" without being more specific.

A kilometer is a little more than six-tenths of a mile.

On July 9, the United States fired a high-altitude hydrogen blast over Johnston Island. The nuclear device was boosted up more than 200 miles by a Thor missile.

The blast was visible for thousands of miles. The reflection of the glow could be seen in New Zealand, 3,200 miles away.

Radiation from this shot caused some interference with communications in the Pacific and, as was determined later, a huge new radiation belt was formed around the earth.

It also touched off worldwide Communist propaganda blasts at the United States.

The July shot was greater than a megaton. The one planned next Sunday or Monday apparently will be smaller.

Action Against Rioters Left Up To University

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department turned over to University of Mississippi officials Wednesday its case against some students allegedly involved in the Sept. 30 riot that killed two men.

Meanwhile, the Army stripped its forces to about 25 per cent of their peak strength in the Oxford area as Negro James H. Meredith, 29, began his eighth day of classes without incident.

Robert J. Rosthal, deputy chief of the Justice Department's general criminal section, said the university was not being asked to take any particular action against students.

"We are turning this over to them for their own best judgment," he said. "We would hope the university will make its own inquiry and take appropriate action."

Rosthal did not rule out the possibility that criminal charges might be filed later.

Continuing its gradual pullout, the Army withdrew some 6,600 more troops.

There are now about 5,700 regular soldiers and National Guardsmen mobilized in the area—compared with some 23,600 at the high point early last week.

As the integration situation proceeded without violence, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals prepared to meet in New Orleans Friday to consider contempt charges again.

The court last week held Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., in contempt. It gave them until Friday to show they were now complying with the court's order that forced Meredith's admission into Ole Miss on Oct. 1.

Kennedy Hits "Blind" GOP Opposition

Elect Democrats, President Tells Maryland Rally

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Kennedy saluted Democrats in the waning days of the 1962 congressional session Wednesday night and attacked Republicans as a party of blind opposition.

In a speech prepared for a Democratic rally in Maryland, where he won a majority in 1960, Kennedy said "no Congress in the recent past has done more to help make our twin goals of peace and freedom more secure."

For this record, Kennedy commended Democrats in Congress. And he said it was achieved despite Republican resistance.

If Congress is to move ahead next year, Kennedy said, more Democrats and fewer Republicans will be needed.

He urged Marylanders to elect Democrat Daniel B. Brewster, now in the House, to the Senate as a replacement for the retiring John Marshall Butler, a Republican. He also called on Maryland voters to rout their only Republican member of the House and choose another Democrat, Carlton Sickles, to their new seat in the House. Sickles is running at large.

Beall, Butler Under Fire

With both its places in the Senate occupied by Republicans, Maryland has "no voice for progress" on that side of the Capitol, the President said.

Kennedy, in his prepared text, lavished praise on Congress.

"I believe that every American, regardless of party, can be proud of this Congress and its record," he said.

Kennedy added, however, "it is a sorry fact" that the type of program symbolized by the 1961-62 Congress was "consistently opposed by the Republican party in general and by the two Republican senators from this state in particular."

They are Butler and Republican J. Glenn Beall.

Looking ahead, Kennedy said the United States is seeking to build a peaceful community of free and independent nations, to end the arms race and thwart "the Communist threat to freedom." The goal at home, he said, is a prosperous nation with full and equal opportunities for all its citizens. He mentioned jobs for the unemployed, decent wages, good homes, schools with well paid teachers, good health and hospitals, clean air and water for all.

"That isn't socialism—that isn't even the welfare state — that is simply helping to fulfill the American dream," Kennedy said.

Man Arrested After Threat To Kill JFK

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police arrested a 27-year-old man Wednesday near Patterson Park, where President Kennedy landed in a helicopter Wednesday en route to a political rally.

The arrest came after Secret Service agents had tightened security arrangements following receipt by the Baltimore News-Post of an anonymous telephone call threatening the life of the President.

Police Sgt. John Heisner identified the arrested man as David Meyer. He was unarmed, police said.

Dispatcher David Collins of the Southeastern District police headquarters said Meyer was not questioned immediately and there was nothing linking him to the anonymous phone call.

Four Space Launchings On Tap Next Few Weeks

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States, riding an unprecedented wave of space successes, has the Cape Canaveral gantries loaded for a quartet of space launchings scheduled in the next few weeks.

The October firing schedule has these shots on tap:

—Ranger 5, designed to take closeup television pictures of the moon and deposit an instrument package on the surface to measure moonquakes and temperatures. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is counting on better performance than two Ranger shots earlier this year. Ranger 3 missed the moon by 22,000 miles and Ranger 4 developed control problems and crash-landed on the dark side of the moon without providing desired data.

—Serb (Study of Enhanced Radiation Belt), a crash-program satellite to probe the artificial radiation belt created 200 miles above the earth by a U.S. high-altitude nuclear explosion last July.

—Anna 1b, a geodetic satellite equipped with a flashing light and other position-fixing devices. By photographing and tracking the satellite, project officials hope to determine the feasibility of using such packages to help make more accurate maps of the world.

In November, NASA plans to launch the third of the mighty Saturn test rockets. The Saturn C-1 model, forerunner of the Saturn C-5 manned lunar landing vehicle, is to be fired on a ballistic up-and-down flight as were its two successful predecessors. Purpose will be further evaluation of the first stage with its 1.3 million pounds of thrust.

Housewife, Saying Phone Not Luxury, Balks At Tax

GROSSE POINTE PARK, Mich. (AP) — An attractive housewife here stays the telephone is neither a luxury nor a sin and shouldn't be taxed as such by the state of Michigan.

Gloria J. Mead says she won't pay the recent four per cent increase in the state's use tax on telephones. "It isn't right," she insists, adding, "I feel like carrying this thing all the way to the death house, if necessary."

The penalty isn't that bad, however. The law says anyone failing to pay is subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 or a year in jail or both. But a deputy attorney, Leon Cohan, said he doubted the mother of four will ever go to jail, although he points out that is up to the discretion of the court.

Mrs. Mead's contentions are:

1. "I didn't have a state senator in Lansing when the tax was passed and wasn't represented." (Her senator had resigned to take a seat in Congress and the State Senate seat was vacant when the tax was passed last July 1).

2. "I don't consider telephone a luxury or a sin. If it is either, why is the telephone company called a utility and put under the Michigan Public Service Commission?"

The tax, which averages about 50 cents a month, was imposed as part of a package of so-called nuisance taxes on cigarettes, beer liquor and corporation franchise fees.

The phone company says she's the only one to protest. Mrs. Mead has been paying her phone bill in person, deducting the tax.

Winnie Ruth Judd Eludes Searchers

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The search for escaped trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd leaped half a continent Wednesday, although police believed she still may be only several blocks from the mental hospital she fled Monday for the seventh time.

A report published in a Phoenix newspaper Wednesday said the 57-year-old convicted slayer — judged insane in 1932—apparently flew to St. Paul, Minn., after she escaped. Police said they sent a picture and description of the woman to Minnesota authorities.

But all airlines serving Phoenix failed to show any person answering Mrs. Judd's description had taken a flight out of the city.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Behind-the-scenes talk Wednesday cracked, at least a bit, the impasse that has frozen Congress into one of its longest sessions as Senate and House members agreed to iron out some of their differences in conferences.

The leaders accomplished this progress with a helping hand from the White House as the specter of a lack of a quorum threatened to halt all action. Members of Congress seeking re-election next month are eager to get back home to campaign and large numbers already have left.

One obstacle to adjournment was removed when President Kennedy — without comment — unexpectedly signed a bill to let self-employed persons set up tax-deductible pension funds.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., had been struggling to keep Congress in session past the deadline for presidential action on the measure at midnight Wednesday. He feared a pocket veto if adjournment came before then but figured enough votes could be mustered to override a regular veto.

Wednesday's developments raised hopes that Congress can meet its latest going home target date—Thursday night—or at least quit on Friday.

The big question remaining was how to solve a deadlock over the annual money bill for the Agriculture Department. The argument is over $25 million in research items in the $5-billion measure which the Senate insists on but the House opposes just as vigorously.

Informal conferences between Senate and House leaders were reported to have made some progress on the issue.

But the House gave a resounding "no" answer to one Senate solution, a resolution passed last week to provide emergency financing for the department at least until next session while the problem is threshed out. This was rejected by a 241-1 roll-call vote which passed a resolution saying the Senate action "contravenes" the Constitution and is "an infringement on the privileges of the House to originate appropriation bills."

One step toward adjournment was House agreement to send another controversial measure to a Senate-House conference, an omnibus bill to authorize, but not finance, river and harbor and flood control projects all over the nation. The House voted $2.3 billion but the Senate tacked on items raising this to around $4 billion.

House Kills Equal Pay For Women Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) —A bill that would require employers to give equal pay to women who do the same work as men apparently was killed in the House Wednesday.

A move to have a House-Senate conference meet on the bill was blocked by Rep. Frank T. Bow R-Ohio. With Congress due to adjourn any day a further effort to save the bill is not expected.

Mariner Will Pass 20,900 Miles, Not 9,000, From Venus

Planet Still Can Be Scanned Thoroughly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mariner 2 will miss Venus by 20,900 miles instead of the earlier announced 9,000, but its scientific equipment will still be able to scan the planet thoroughly as it passes.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announcing this Wednesday, said the added distance resulted from an overcorrection in Mariner's speed when signals were transmitted to it Sept. 4 to aim it more accurately for the cloud-shrounded planet.

The velocity was increased by 47 miles an hour instead of the intended 45. This will put it 20,900 miles from Venus — plus or minus 3,000 miles—when it passes by Dec. 14.

But despite the error NASA emphasized the new path still lies well within the pie-shaped target area of 5,000 to 40,000 miles from Venus.

It is "well within the region where the scientific planetary experiments are expected to be very effective," NASA said.

Mariner 2 was launched on its long space voyage from Cape Canaveral, Fla. on Aug. 27, aimed 10,000 miles from the surface of Venus. The planned Sept. 4 correction in its flight path followed and by Wednesday it had hurtled more than 7¼ million miles from the earth.

It is traveling at a speed of 7,500 miles an hour with relation to the earth, or 65,000 miles an hour with relation to the sun. This is faster than the earth rotates around the sun.

NASA scientists, in their first report on information gathered en route by Mariner, disclosed that:

—Particle radiation from the sun appears to be steady and strong like a solar wind, and of sufficient force to stretch out and distort solar magnetic fields.

—Not only are there magnetic fields radiating outward from the sun, there are transverse magnetic fields at right angles to those from the sun which may impede solar radiation.

—There apparently is always some plasma or atmospheric gas flowing in interplanetary space. At least there has been so far during the Mariner sampling.

—The rate of flow of very small particles in deep space is at least 1,000 pounds less than that reported by instruments on satellites orbiting near the earth. NASA said this indicates, "We are measuring some sort of concentration near the earth, a fact of significance for man-in-space programs."

U.S. Schedules High-Altitude Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced Wednesday it has scheduled a high-altitude nuclear test for next Sunday or Monday in the Johnston Island test area of the Pacific.

The announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission said the device to be detonated will be of "submegaton range"—that is with an explosive force of less than one million tons of TNT.

The announcement said the device would be set off at an altitude of "tens of kilometers" without being more specific.

A kilometer is a little more than six-tenths of a mile.

On July 9, the United States fired a high-altitude hydrogen blast over Johnston Island. The nuclear device was boosted up more than 200 miles by a Thor missile.

The blast was visible for thousands of miles. The reflection of the glow could be seen in New Zealand, 3,200 miles away.

Radiation from this shot caused some interference with communications in the Pacific and, as was determined later, a huge new radiation belt was formed around the earth.

It also touched off worldwide Communist propaganda blasts at the United States.

The July shot was greater than a megaton. The one planned next Sunday or Monday apparently will be smaller.

Resolution Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In less than three minutes Wednesday, the Senate gave final approval to a resolution backing President Kennedy in any action he feels necessary in the Berlin crisis including the use of troops.

TOKYO, Thursday (UPI)—Communist China charged today that 11 of its soldiers were wounded in a skirmish with Indian troops on the two countries' eastern frontier.

Action Against Rioters Left Up To University

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department turned over to University of Mississippi officials Wednesday its case against some students allegedly involved in the Sept. 30 riot that killed two men.

Leston L. Love, dean of students, declined comment on what action Ole Miss would take.

Meanwhile, the Army stripped its forces to about 25 per cent of their peak strength in the Oxford area as Negro James H. Meredith, 29, began his eighth day of classes without incident.

Robert J. Rosthal, deputy chief of the Justice Department's general criminal section, said the university was not being asked to take any particular action against students.

"We are turning this over to them for their own best judgment," he said. "We would hope the university will make its own inquiry and take appropriate action."

Rosthal did not rule out the possibility that criminal charges might be filed later.

Continuing its gradual pullout, the Army withdrew some 6,600 more troops.

There are now about 5,700 regular soldiers and National Guardsmen mobilized in the area—compared with some 23,600 at the high point early last week.

As the integration situation proceeded without violence, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals prepared to meet in New Orleans Friday to consider contempt charges again.

The court last week held Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., in contempt. It gave them until Friday to show they were now complying with the court's order that forced Meredith's admission into Ole Miss on Oct. 1.

Kennedy Hits "Blind" GOP Opposition

Elect Democrats, President Tells Maryland Rally

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Kennedy saluted Democrats in the waning days of the 1962 congressional session Wednesday night and attacked Republicans as a party of blind opposition.

In a speech prepared for a Democratic rally in Maryland, where he won a majority in 1960, Kennedy said "no Congress in the recent past has done more to help make our twin goals of peace and freedom more secure."

For this record, Kennedy commended Democrats in Congress. And he said it was achieved despite Republican resistance.

If Congress is to move ahead next year, Kennedy said, more Democrats and fewer Republicans will be needed.

He urged Marylanders to elect Democrat Daniel B. Brewster, now in the House, to the Senate as a replacement for the retiring John Marshall Butler, a Republican. He also called on Maryland voters to rout their only Republican member of the House and choose another Democrat, Carlton Sickles, to their new seat in the House. Sickles is running at large.

Beall, Butler Under Fire

With both its places in the Senate occupied by Republicans, Maryland has "no voice for progress" on that side of the Capitol, the President said.

Kennedy, in his prepared text, lavished praise on Congress.

"I believe that every American, regardless of party, can be proud of this Congress and its record," he said.

Kennedy added, however, "it is a sorry fact" that the type of program symbolized by the 1961-62 Congress was "consistently opposed by the Republican party in general and by the two Republican senators from this state in particular."

They are Butler and Republican J. Glenn Beall.

Looking ahead, Kennedy said the United States is seeking to build a peaceful community of free and independent nations, to end the arms race and thwart "the Communist threat to freedom." The goal at home, he said, is a prosperous nation with full and equal opportunities for all its citizens. He mentioned jobs for the unemployed, decent wages, good homes, schools with well paid teachers, good health and hospitals, clean air and water for all.

"That isn't socialism—that isn't even the welfare state — that is simply helping to fulfill the American dream," Kennedy said.

Man Arrested After Threat To Kill JFK

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police arrested a 27-year-old man Wednesday near Patterson Park, where President Kennedy landed in a helicopter Wednesday en route to a political rally.

The arrest came after Secret Service agents had tightened security arrangements following receipt by the Baltimore News-Post of an anonymous telephone call threatening the life of the President.

Police Sgt. John Heisner identified the arrested man as David Meyer. He was unarmed, police said.

Dispatcher David Collins of the Southeastern District police headquarters said Meyer was not questioned immediately and there was nothing linking him to the anonymous phone call.

Four Space Launchings On Tap Next Few Weeks

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States, riding an unprecedented wave of space successes, has the Cape Canaveral gantries loaded for a quartet of space launchings scheduled in the next few weeks.

The October firing schedule has these shots on tap:

—Ranger 5, designed to take closeup television pictures of the moon and deposit an instrument package on the surface to measure moonquakes and temperatures. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is counting on better performance than two Ranger shots earlier this year. Ranger 3 missed the moon by 22,000 miles and Ranger 4 developed control problems and crash-landed on the dark side of the moon without providing desired data.

—Serb (Study of Enhanced Radiation Belt), a crash-program satellite to probe the artificial radiation belt created 200 miles above the earth by a U.S. high-altitude nuclear explosion last July.

—Anna 1b, a geodetic satellite equipped with a flashing light and other position-fixing devices. By photographing and tracking the satellite, project officials hope to determine the feasibility of using such packages to help make more accurate maps of the world.

In November, NASA plans to launch the third of the mighty Saturn test rockets. The Saturn C-1 model, forerunner of the Saturn C-5 manned lunar landing vehicle, is to be fired on a ballistic up-and-down flight as were its two successful predecessors. Purpose will be further evaluation of the first stage with its 1.3 million pounds of thrust.

Housewife, Saying Phone Not Luxury, Balks At Tax

GROSSE POINTE PARK, Mich. (AP) — An attractive housewife here stays the telephone is neither a luxury nor a sin and shouldn't be taxed as such by the state of Michigan.

Gloria J. Mead says she won't pay the recent four per cent increase in the state's use tax on telephones. "It isn't right," she insists, adding, "I feel like carrying this thing all the way to the death house, if necessary."

The penalty isn't that bad, however. The law says anyone failing to pay is subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 or a year in jail or both. But a deputy attorney, Leon Cohan, said he doubted the mother of four will ever go to jail, although he points out that is up to the discretion of the court.

Mrs. Mead's contentions are:

1. "I didn't have a state senator in Lansing when the tax was passed and wasn't represented." (Her senator had resigned to take a seat in Congress and the State Senate seat was vacant when the tax was passed last July 1).

2. "I don't consider telephone a luxury or a sin. If it is either, why is the telephone company called a utility and put under the Michigan Public Service Commission?"

The tax, which averages about 50 cents a month, was imposed as part of a package of so-called nuisance taxes on cigarettes, beer liquor and corporation franchise fees.

The phone company says she's the only one to protest. Mrs. Mead has been paying her phone bill in person, deducting the tax.

Winnie Ruth Judd Eludes Searchers

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The search for escaped trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd leaped half a continent Wednesday, although police believed she still may be only several blocks from the mental hospital she fled Monday for the seventh time.

A report published in a Phoenix newspaper Wednesday said the 57-year-old convicted slayer — judged insane in 1932—apparently flew to St. Paul, Minn., after she escaped. Police said they sent a picture and description of the woman to Minnesota authorities.

But all airlines serving Phoenix failed to show any person answering Mrs. Judd's description had taken a flight out of the city.

U.S. Tells U.N. It Shuns Voluntary A-Test Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —The United States offered anew Wednesday to sign a treaty banning all nuclear tests and providing for international inspection or to outlaw all except underground blasts without inspection.

But it firmly rejected a voluntary moratorium on all tests. U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told the General Assembly's Main Political Committee:

"Where national security is concerned, an open society cannot undertake with a closed society an arrangement which cannot be verified."

Even as the 109-nation committee began its annual debate on nuclear tests, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced in Washingto, that it will stage a high altitude nuclear shot of less than a megaton over Johnston Island in the Pacific next Sunday or Monday.

"The moment may be at hand when a comprehensive nuclear test ban treaty has again become possible," Stevenson told the committee. "The Soviet Union has had two large nuclear test series in the past year. The United States is completing a series begun last spring.

"Although the explosive force of the Soviet nuclear blasts far exceeds the U.S. tests, we are quite prepared to stop testing now as soon as we have dependable means of knowing that the Soviet Union is going to stop and stay stopped.

"If the U.S.S.R. is satisfied with the progress in its present testing program, a rare period of equilibrium may have been reached in this sector of the arms race. This is a time, therefore, when firm insistence by the General Assembly can forestall another cycle of nuclear tests. Let us make the most of this decisive moment before it passes from us."

Stevenson said the assembly could "register emphatically the anxiety and intense feeling of mankind on the subject of nuclear testing."

"At Geneva," he said, "we must translate those feelings into concrete form. And the sooner the better. . ."

Wes Gallagher New AP Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Wes Gallagher, war correspondent who became an Associated Press general executive in 1951, was named Wednesday as the news service's general manager.

The AP Board of Directors appointed Gallagher to succeed Frank J. Starzel, whose retirement was announced Tuesday night. Gallagher will take his new post next Monday.

Another shift in AP's top command is due Feb. 1, when Executive Editor Alan J. Gould retires, at 65. Starzel is 58, Gallagher 51.

Gallagher joined the AP in 1937 in its Buffalo Bureau, went overseas in 1940, headed AP staffs with Allied invasion forces in North Africa before returning to this country. Since 1953 he has been an assistant general manager in charge of personnel and AP Newsfeatures.

The trouble was, several hundred persons crashed the gate. This prevented ticket buyers from getting seated or fed. Among those left out in the cold were wives of committee members in charge of the luncheon.

Disaster Area Declared Over Chlorine Peril

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy declared Wednesday that a major disaster area exists in Mississippi because the danger surrounding efforts to recover four tanks of liquid chlorine from a sunken barge.

Army Engineers are preparing to raise the tanks from a barge that sank March 23, 1961 in the Mississippi River near Natchez. The President's declaration is a legal preliminary to protect civilians in the area.

The declaration, requested by Gov. Ross Barnett, makes it possible for the federal government to pay the expenses of Mississippi National Guardsmen used in the recovery attempt.

In a tape-recorded talk presented at Natchez, Barnett said he expected no emergency to arise from the salvage operation.

Kennedy said extreme care is being exercised but he has been advised that the operation presents a very substantial hazard. If one of the steel tanks should rupture, poisonous chlorine gas could spread through the area. This might make an emergency evacuation of civilians necessary.

Kennedy Given Big Reception

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Kennedy arrived in Baltimore by helicopter from Washington at 8:32 p. m. Wednesday to address a Democratic rally.

The President landed at Patterson Park in the southeastern section of the city before a crowd estimated by police at 25,000. The presidential party then climbed into a waiting limousine for a three-mile motorcade to the 5th Regiment Armory, where the President was to speak.

A lively crowd—jumping, shouting and waving—greeted the President's cavalcade as it wound three miles from Patterson Park, to the Armory.

Riding through downtown Baltimore with the President were Gov. Tawes, Rep. Daniel Brewster, D-Md., seeking a seat this year in the U.S. Senate, and Carlton Sickles, Democratic candidate for congressman-at-large.

The motorcade traveled at 10 to 15 miles an hour, giving the crowds good opportunity to see the President.

Riding in the helicopter with the President from Washington were Brewster, Rep. George H. Fallon, Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, both Maryland Democrats, and Sickles.

After driving past multitudes of cheering Baltimoreans on his 3-mile drive to the armory, Kennedy was greeted by a roaring, placard-waving crowd of 6,500 at the rally.

helicopter from Washington to this Maryland metropolis for his appearance on behalf of Gov. Tawes, bidding for re-election, and other Democratic candidates. The Baltimore stop was a prelude to Kennedy's full weekend of stumping for Democrats. He leaves Washington Thursday for New York and in the next three days will venture into New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Kentucky and back to Buffalo and upstate New York.

Lauding Congress Wednesday night, Kennedy recited a long list of legislation which has passed and said the session about to end would be most remembered "for ending the stalemate which had slowed down our economy, handicapped our cities, and held back our progress as a nation."

Since the "national household had been so cluttered with so many unfinished tasks," Kennedy said it faced "an impossible long agenda" and could not have been expected to act on every item.

"And with the Republican Party united in blind and negative opposition," he said, "no Congress could be expected to act affirmatively on every proposal."

"But the fact remains that no Congress in our time—and this the records prove—has had a more exceptional two years of positive and progressive accomplishment than the Democratic 87th Congress I salute tonight."

This Congress, he said, started bringing up to date the heritage and programs of the New Deal and Fair Deal.

Herbert R. O'Conor Jr., campaign chairman, introduced Gov. Tawes who in turned presented Attorney General Thomas B. Finan, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, Carlton R. Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large, and Daniel B. Brewster, candidate for U.S. Senate.

Finan recalled that 40 years ago Woodrow Wilson was nominated for president by the Democrats in the same armory.

Finan likened Wilson and Kennedy for demanding a renaissance of ideas.

Brewster, saying "these are times that try men's souls," said it was the duty of all citizens regardless of party affiliation to close ranks behind Kennedy in his conduct of foreign affairs.

In introducing the President, Gov. Tawes said he "has embarked on a crusade to get our country moving ahead, has instilled in the people of this nation the will to move forward, has generated the feeling through America that this is a proud and lusty nationa and its people should walk upright in the sun."

JFK Signs Drug Control Bill; Dr. Kelsey On Hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress members who helped push through a bill to tighten controls on production and sale of prescription drugs watched President Kennedy sign the legislation Wednesday.

The President, using several pens, said the bill would be an instrument in helping produce safe and more effective drugs to the public. The legislation is in line with Kennedy's recommendations.

The chief executive handed the first pen to Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and praised him for the long hearings his Senate subcommittee held on the drug field, which laid the basis for many provisions in the bill.

On hand for the signing was Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, the Food and Drug Administration medical officer whose adamant stand prevented introduction of the drug thalidomide into the U.S. market. Findings that it was responsible for deformities in thousands of infants in Europe and that some American mothers took it on an experimntal basis gave the bill its final push to passage.

Kefauver said "although in some respects the measure does not go as far as I would wish, it is still a strong and effective bill."

The government will have new powers to inspect and control drug output and require manufacturers to prove the safety of their products.

Drug makers will have to list "in brief summary" in their advertising any bad side effects of a prescription drug and print the generic nam of the drug on the label in letters at least half as large as the trade name.

Pension Plan Bill Signed By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed Wednesday a bill to let self-employed persons set up tax-deductible pensions systems. The unexpected action came a few hours before it would have become law without his signature.

The bill allows the self-employed person to invest up to 10 per cent of his earnings, with a ceiling of $2,500 a year, in a personal pension plan. He can deduct half of the contribution, a maximum of $1,250 a year, from his current taxable income.

It provides, however, that if the self-employed person employs anyone else in his business, he must establish a comparable pension plan for the employes in order to get his own tax advantage

$100 Million For U.N. Bonds Appropriated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress Wednesday appropriated the full $100 million requested by President Kennedy for the purchase of United Nations bonds.

But the President will not be able to spend a penny more than other countries are willing to put up to help the world organization solve its current financial crisis.

The funds, authorized last month, were contained in a compromise $2,025,895,700 appropriations bill passed by the House on a 172-76 roll call vote and then approved by the Senate on a voice vote.

Most of the funds are for operation of the State, Commerce, Justice Departments and the U.S. Information Agency during the year ending next June 30.

After driving past multitudes of cheering Baltimoreans on his 3-mile drive to the armory, Kennedy was greeted by a roaring, placard-waving crowd of 6,500 at the rally.

Kennedy Hits

helicopter from Washington to this Maryland metropolis for his appearance on behalf of Gov. Tawes, bidding for re-election, and other Democratic candidates. The Baltimore stop was a prelude to Kennedy's full weekend of stumping for Democrats. He leaves Washington Thursday for New York and in the next three days will venture into New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Kentucky and back to Buffalo and upstate New York.

Lauding Congress Wednesday night, Kennedy recited a long list of legislation which has passed and said the session about to end would be most remembered "for ending the stalemate which had slowed down our economy, handicapped our cities, and held back our progress as a nation."

Since the "national household had been so cluttered with so many unfinished tasks," Kennedy said it faced "an impossible long agenda" and could not have been expected to act on every item.

"And with the Republican Party united in blind and negative opposition," he said, "no Congress could be expected to act affirmatively on every proposal."

"But the fact remains that no Congress in our time—and this the records prove—has had a more exceptional two years of positive and progressive accomplishment than the Democratic 87th Congress I salute tonight."

This Congress, he said, started bringing up to date the heritage and programs of the New Deal and Fair Deal.

Herbert R. O'Conor Jr., campaign chairman, introduced Gov. Tawes who in turned presented Attorney General Thomas B. Finan, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, Carlton R. Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large, and Daniel B. Brewster, candidate for U.S. Senate.

Finan recalled that 40 years ago Woodrow Wilson was nominated for president by the Democrats in the same armory.

Finan likened Wilson and Kennedy for demanding a renaissance of ideas.

Brewster, saying "these are times that try men's souls," said it was the duty of all citizens regardless of party affiliation to close ranks behind Kennedy in his conduct of foreign affairs.

In introducing the President, Gov. Tawes said he "has embarked on a crusade to get our country moving ahead, has instilled in the people of this nation the will to move forward, has generated the feeling through America that this is a proud and lusty nationa and its people should walk upright in the sun."

JFK Signs Drug Control Bill; Dr. Kelsey On Hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' members who helped push through a bill to tighten controls on production and sale of prescription drugs watched President Kennedy sign the legislation Wednesday.

The President, using several pens, said the bill would be an instrument in helping produce safe and more effective drugs to the public. The legislation is in line with Kennedy's recommendations.

The chief executive handed the first pen to Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and praised him for the long hearings his Senate subcommittee held on the drug field, which laid the basis for many provisions in the bill.

On hand for the signing was Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, the Food and Drug Administration medical officer whose adamant stand prevented introduction of the drug thalidomide into the U.S. market. Findings that it was responsible for deformities in thousands of infants in Europe and that some American mothers took it on an experimntal basis gave the bill its final push to passage.

Kefauver said "although in some respects the measure does not go as far as I would wish, it is still a strong and effective bill."

The government will have new powers to inspect and control drug output and require manufacturers to prove the safety of their products.

Drug makers will have to list "in brief summary" in their advertising any bad side effects of a prescription drug and print the generic nam of the drug on the label in letters at least half as large as the trade name.

Pension Plan Bill Signed By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed Wednesday a bill to let self-employed persons set up tax-deductible pensions systems. The unexpected action came a few hours before it would have become law without his signature.

The bill allows the self-employed person to invest up to 10 per cent of his earnings, with a ceiling of $2,500 a year, in a personal pension plan. He can deduct half of the contribution, a maximum of $1,250 a year, from his current taxable income.

It provides, however, that if the self-employed person employs anyone else in his business, he must establish a comparable pension plan for the employes in order to get his own tax advantage

$100 Million For U.N. Bonds Appropriated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress Wednesday appropriated the full $100 million requested by President Kennedy for the purchase of United Nations bonds.

But the President will not be able to spend a penny more than other countries are willing to put up to help the world organization solve its current financial crisis.

The funds, authorized last month, were contained in a compromise $2,025,895,700 appropriations bill passed by the House on a 172-76 roll call vote and then approved by the Senate on a voice vote.

Most of the funds are for operation of the State, Commerce, Justice Departments and the U.S. Information Agency during the year ending next June 30.

Cresap DAR Is Asked To Support State

The importance of each chapter backing state chairmen and all committees was stressed by Mrs. Eliot C. Lovett, Chevy Chase, state regent at the annual fall luncheon of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday. Mrs. R. Finley Thompson presided at the meeting at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Yellow and orange chrysanthemums and ivy decorated the tables.

Announcing the state theme, "Accent on Youth and Education," Mrs. Lovett urged the American music group to sponsor programs; Americanism committee to hold essay and poster contests, and award prizes; establish book shelves in libraries with proper books for children; give citizenship manuals to youth groups; support the state Children of the American Revolution chapters; by members example, teach children to have their families fly the American flag on all important days; and take an active part in protesting crime programs on radio, TV and in motion pictures.

Mrs. Lovett invited the members to a board meeting in Baltimore November 8 at 2 p.m., when the headmaster of St. Mary's High School for Indian girls at Springfield, S.D., will be the speaker. She announced a good citizens pilgrimage to Annapolis on February 22, including a tour, lunch at Carvel Hall and tea at the governor's mansion; and that last year Maryland won first prize for the greatest increase in clubs, and membership.

The speaker also stressed the importance of including student loans and scholarships in the budget and the good citizenship award as youth is the first line in national defense. She said the chapter with most committee accomplishments would be honored at the March meeting.

Mrs. Charles F. Reiter, Washington, state lineage research chairman, outlined her work at libraries to assist chapters, not individuals. She stressed the latter's need often for professionals. Following the pledge to the flag, Miss Ruth Clauson offered the invocation. Guests introduced were Mrs. William E. Hinkle, Mrs. Alan Weatherholt, Mrs. Carol Fisher, Mrs. William Durland, Mrs. Luther L. Hutter, Sr., Mrs. Kenneth Doud and Miss Pauline McEvoy. Mrs. Leslie Randall and Mrs. Arch Hutcheson were in charge of arrangements.

Part In Observance Is Discussed

Participation in the World Community Day observance with seven other churches November 2 was discussed at the meeting of the WSCS of First Methodist Church. It will be held at First Methodist, with luncheon at 12:30.

Mrs. Mabel Brown presided. Miss Ina Keister and Mrs. Brady Sherman were named UNICEF chairmen. Mrs. Ruth Eversole conducted the devotions, arranged by Mrs. Kathleen Brown. The topic was "Foreign Nations and UNICEF." Ten members participated. Following the Scripture reading, prayer was offered.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Genevieve Rinker and Mrs. Ethel Johnson. Birthdays were recognized and "Happy Birthday" was sung. A corsage was presented to Mrs. Lucy Bosley. It was announced that Mary Ruth Nichols, a missionary, will be at Centre Street Church October 22. Members were urged to attend a seminar October 28 in a group. Mrs. Brown will be leader for the fall study course on Eastern Asia. A reading was given by Mrs. Rinker and a social followed. Thirty-two members attended.

Workshop Scheduled

North Branch Homemakers will hold a Christmas tree workshop October 24 at 10 a. m. in Davis Memorial Church hall and the Yule party December 19 at the North Branch fire hall.

Mrs. Charles Merritt conducted the meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry White. The hostess, Mrs. Frank Bloss and Mrs. Raymond White were appointed to the nominating committee. Mrs. Edith Young reported on Short Course Achievement were exhibited.

Antique Sale October 20

The Animal Welfare Society will meet October 16 and have an antique and rummage sale October 20.

The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. at the Antique Shop, North Centre Street.

Antiques, buttons for collections, picture frames, glassware, dishes, furniture and costume jewelry as well as clean used clothing will be on sale October 20 at 26 South George Street. The sale will start at 10 a. m.

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 2 NT | Pass |
| 3 NT | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

The declarer and his opponent waged a battle of wits in today's hand, and the defender ultimately emerged with the honors. South could have avoided the setback, however, had he taken a simple precaution.

South found himself confronted with an awkward situation when it came his turn to bid in third position. He lacked the required winners for a demand opening, and yet he hesitated to inaugurate the proceedings with a mere call of one spade for fear that this bid might be passed out. He selected two no trump as the least of evils despite his lack of a true stopper in clubs. North's raise to three no trump was fully justified.

West made the natural opening of the jack of spades. The dummy played low, and when East discarded a diamond declarer saw that the spade suit could not be counted on to provide the bulk of his winners. There were seven top tricks available in spades, hearts, and diamonds. It would be necessary, therefore, to develop the two remaining tricks in clubs.

After winning the opening lead in his hand, South led the queen of clubs next. West promptly followed with the deuce which proved to be a shrewd play. Observe that, if West takes the first club, it will be routine going for declarer to establish a second club trick. When the queen of clubs held, South led the nine next. West unhesitatingly played low again, and declarer overtook with dummy's ten in the belief that East had the ace of clubs and had ducked on the first round. When East won the trick with the jack, South was short of the entries required to gain a second club trick from the dummy, and he subsequently conceded a one trick set.

While West must be applauded for having put South to the maximum guess, the latter could have avoided the trap by handling the club suit with greater skill. The proper technique is to lead the nine of clubs first and pass the trick if West plays low. If the nine holds, the queen is led next to develop a second club trick while dummy still has a spade entry.

If the nine of clubs forces out the ace the rest is routine. And finally, if the nine loses to the jack, then declarer leads the queen next and overtakes with dummy's king in order to drive out the ace, for as you see the remaining cards are in sequence.

Snow Ball To Be Held Jan. 19; Auxiliary Receives Reports

Various committee chairmen outlined plans for the year and Mrs. William H. Geppert, ways and means chairman, announced the steering committee for the annual Snow Ball, at the fall luncheon meeting of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. G. Louis Spoerl presided.

Additional volunteers for service were requested by Mrs. Robert Wilkins, book cart chairman; and Mrs. George B. Newman, pediatrics department chairman. Mrs. Raymond Lapp Jr., social chairman, announced the annual fall tea for student nurses will be held at the nurses home November 14.

The Snow Ball will be held January 19 at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Richard W. Trevaskis Jr. was named head of the steering committee. Other members are Mrs. Simon Rosenbaum II, Mrs. Walter Dyck, Mrs. Howard L. Tolson, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. William Oburn, Mrs. James Reinhart, Mrs. Spoerl, Mrs. Miles Thompson Jr., Mrs. S. Lua Syckes, Mrs. Bert Mason, Mrs. Glen Brant, Mrs. Lapp, Mrs. Milton Beneman, Mrs. Joseph Gratton, Mrs. W. Royce Hodges, Mrs. William H. Ryan, Mrs. Ralph Sell Jr., and Mrs. F. Perry Smith Jr.

Mrs. Ryan gave a detailed report of the work done in the nurses' home, with money raised by previous Snow Balls. The nurses recreation room was completely redecorated and refurnished, including acoustical ceiling and recessed lights.

New members received were Mrs. Thomas Keech, Mrs. Louis Fatkin, Mrs. Edward DeButts, Mrs. Charles Walls, Mrs. Lester Kiefer, Mrs. Milton Gerson, Mrs. Albert Eliason, Mrs. James E. Truka, Mrs. Robert Stover, Mrs. Robert Bristow, Mrs. Allen Staggers, Mrs. William Kelley, Mrs. Paul Pickens, Mrs. John Schaidt and Mrs. Joseph Ragione.

Committees Named

A committee to visit inactive members and a nominating committee were appointed at the meeting of the Wesleyan Fellowship of Cresaptown Church. The former includes Mrs. Clifford Demarest, Mrs. William Balderson and Mrs. Howard Frankenberry. Members of the latter are Mrs. James Glover, Mrs. Harry Wright, and Mrs. Dirk Vandenberg. A donation of $5 was sent to the "Army of Compassion" and plans made to provide flowers for the church.

The worship was conducted by Mrs. Walter Richardson, who with Mrs. Lester McGill presented a program honoring Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hedrick, who are moving to Missouri. Mr. Hedrick, who organized and taught the class, was presented a Bible.

Trail Ride Announced

Plans for the last point trail ride of the season were formulated at the monthly meeting of the Potomac Valley Riding Club Sunday evening at the club house on Route 28. Lee Welsh, trail boss, announced the ride would leave the club house at 1 p. m. October 21, and will be over the Knobley Mountain trail, where a chuck wagon will meet the riders.

The annual Halloween party will be held October 28 at the club house. It will begin at 3 p. m. Mrs. Thomas Ferrebee and Mrs. Floyd Grace of the house committee are in charge of arrangements.

Thomas Reinhart showed a movie, "An Introduction to the Arabian Horse." He also distributed copies of the booklet, "Arabs, and What They Can Do." The film by the International Arabian Horse Association showed the Arabian horse in all his beauty and versatility.

Four new members were received. They are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brant, Richard Hare and Marion Davis. The next meeting will be held November 4 at 8 p. m.

Projects Selected

Oldtown WSCS will serve a lunch on election day and make apple butter to raise funds for the building fund. Orders for the latter are to be made with Mrs. Grace Crabtree or Mr. Juanita Crabtree.

The society also decided to serve refreshments to the UNICEF collectors and pay repairs for the church lawnmower. Each member brought a tea towel for the kitchen and planned a bake and rummage sale for 2 p. m. Saturday.

Beautician Delegates Named, Yule Plans Made

Delegates to the state convention were appointed at the meeting of the Allegany Hairdressers Association, held Monday evening at Henrietta's Beauty Salon, Frederick Street. They are Mrs. Evelyn George and Miss Ethel Henry. Mrs. Virginia Nave is chairman for the convention, which will be held November 10-12 at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore.

Mrs. Catherine Welton was appointed liaison officer for 1963.

December 3 was announced as the date for the unit's Christmas dinner. It will be at Nave's dining room. Gifts, not exceeding $2, will be exchanged. Reservations are to be made by calling Miss Henry. Following the Lord's Prayer in unison, routine reports were given by Mrs. Ruth Campbell, Mrs. Nave, John Taylor and Miss Elsie Henry. A thank-you card was received from Mrs. Hettie Taylor, who has been ill since June.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held November 5 at 8 p.m. at Ruth's Beauty Salon, 144 North Mechanic Street, at which time officers will be elected; and a grab bag, with Mrs. Eloise Ack chairman, will be featured.

Mrs. Nave appointed Mrs. Edna Morrissey and Mrs. Elma Jones on the Christmas program. Mrs. Alberta Lindner was reported improving at her home, following surgery.

Committees Appointed

Chairmen for the Christian Mothers of SS. Peter and Paul Church were appointed at the communion breakfast Sunday. Mrs. Nancy Hinea received the "Gold Medal of Honor" and Mrs. Eleanor Miller, retiring president, a life membership scroll.

Mrs. Alvera Grabenstein was named chairman for the parish bazaar October 23,24; Mrs. Bertha Imes, Mrs. Clara Helmstetter and Mrs. Margaret Miltenberger, food preparation committee; Mrs. Eleanor Lakin, Mrs. Josephine Simpson, Mrs. Isabel Arnone, dining room; Mrs. Sara Connor, purchasing; Mrs. Regina Herstine, Mrs. Christine Walbert, property maintenance; Mrs. Josephine Leasure and Mrs. Eula Firlie, special events.

Mother love and sacrifices were stressed by Rev. Ernest Horning, O.F.M. Cap., in his talk to the group.

Auxiliary Receives Reports

A donation of $150 for the new siren was made and reports were given at the meeting of the Bedford Road Firemen's Auxiliary Monday evening. Following the Lord's Prayer and flag salute, routine reports were given. Mrs. Helen Wilson and Mrs. Nancy Growden reported on dinners during the past month. The latter also spoke of the fall conference at Earleigh Heights and spring conference in Forestville. Mrs. June Dickerhoff reported on the county meeting in Forestville. Mrs. June Dickerhoff reported on the county meeting in Frostburg and announced the next one will be December 3 at Gorman, in the form of a Christmas party.

The trustees were authorized to purchase a new stove for the kitchen. Mrs. Dorothy Wilson and Mrs. Dickerhoof were named the banquet committee until the first of the year. A nominating committee was appointed and consists of Mrs. Dickerhoof, chairman; Mrs. Helen Wilson and Mrs. Anna Lee Roberts. The auxiliary will serve sandwiches and soup at the fire hall on election day. The sunshine collection was taken and a report was given.

A social hour was held with the firemen, and refreshments were served.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Put Color To Work For You

To dramatize your coloring, any color you wear must not be keyed to your underlying skin tone, but must be held to the same intensity as your over-all coloring. For instance, a very fair, ash-blonde girl will not attain the dramatic effect she hopes for if she wears a brilliant Kelly green dress. The high intensity of the Kelly green will completely dwarf the low intensity of her own delicate coloring. On the other hand, a water green is of just the right intensity to accent and dramatize the fragility of her type, her skin and hair coloring.

The rule of matching intensities holds for the dark as well as the fair. The dark-skinned girl should select strong colors to preserve her vivid coloring. The titian is the only exception to the rule. The color of her hair is so high in intensity that she can only display it to advantage against a background of low-keyed color.

When you have mastered this color principle, you can go one step further along the path of dramatizing your appearance by suiting your colors to the mood of the occasion. Every event, big or small, has a definite aura about it and so does every color. See whether you can find the right shade that both matches the occasion and dramatizes you!

Psychologists tell us that colors have traditional associations in the mind. That's why you associate red with gaiety; yellow with cheerfulness; blue with restfulness; white with purity. Now, maybe you'll understand why you like to wear any shade of red from pink to wine for a party; yellow on bright leisurely Sunday mornings; blue for quiet evenings at home; and white for the biggest moment of your life.

Experts use these tricks in dressing the casts for the theatre. How about being an expert yourself on your home stage?

To help, I offer the booklet, "Your Color Type." To get a copy, send 10c and a stamped, return envelope to me, John Robert Powers, % this newspaper.

Rainbow Girls Receive Reports

Reports on the Rainbow-De-Molay dances and a hobo party were made at the meeting of Cumberland Assembly 6, Order of Rainbow for Girls, at the Masonic Temple. Margaret Bennett announced the first dance of the season will be in the memorial room at the Ali Ghan Country Club, November 17. It will be from 8 until 11. Tickets may be obtained from any of the top five officers.

The hobo party, reported by Dorothy Grim, will be Saturday at the Shrine club, from 8 until 12. Hobo costumes and sports wear are to be worn. The committee in charge is Teryl Chaney, Rebecca Miller, Cheryl Fisher, Barbara Stuby, Rebecca Dean, Margaret Bennett, Victoria Barnes and Nancy Umstot.

Girls signing up for tag day sale Saturday are Rebecca Miller, Sheila Phillips, Shirley Strachen, Nancy Umstot, Alana Sine, Duey Snyder, Diane Watson, Barbara Sheetz, Linda Mudge and Helen Brooks.

Awards were presented by Mrs. Jessie McElfish to Sheila Phillips and Diane Watson. Mrs. Monroe McKenzie announced choir practice for 11:30 a.m., October 20 at the temple. Members are to bring a sack lunch. Mrs. Maxine Zerbach announced the Berlin Assembly will hold a grand reception of officers November 17, instead of October 20. It will be at Berlin, Md. All officers are asked to attend practice at 10 a.m., October 18.

The choir sang, "Onward Christian Soldiers." Grand officers, Margaret Ellen Filler, Margaret Bennett, Victoria Barnes, Teryle Chaney, Charlene Nield, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McElfish and Mrs. Mary Steele, past mother advisor, were introduced and welcomed.

Concluding the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. Settle, Mrs. Ruth Taschenberger and Mrs. Eleanor McElfish.

Tag Day Workers Asked To Help

Additional sellers for the tag sale of the Veterans of World War I and Auxiliary are needed. Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, PA 2-4814, by 6 p.m. tomorrow. The sale will be all day Saturday.

Money collected from the sale is used for work at Baker VA Center, and veterans who need help at home. Mrs. Reynolds sold the first tag to Mayor Chaney and asks the public to support the project.

Fellowship Selects Project

The Adult Fellowship of Cresaptown Methodist Church will be responsible for putting flowers in the church for Thanksgiving. Plans were formulated at the meeting, held in the form of a hobo party at the South Branch cottage of Arlie and Florence Borror.

Dennis Ellifritz presided. The worship service was led by Mrs. Esta Willison on "As We Would See Jesus." Rev. William Balderson offered prayer. Mrs. Balderson led group singing. Mrs. Irma Frankenberry was in charge of games. It was announced that $132 was realized on the soup and pie sale. The next meeting, November 2, will be at the home of Mrs. Emma Heinrich.

Others present were Ellsworth and Sara Lewis, Mrs. Heinrich, Mrs. Hilda Ellifritz, Mrs. Ethel Smith, Miss Susan Smith, Charles Frankenberry, Fred Willison, Leslie Ann Willison, Karen Fairgrieve, William and Shelia Riley, Gerald and Dorothy Clayton, Miss Evelyn May, Mrs. Hazel M. Baird, Mrs. Buelah Feight, Mrs. Julia Lewis, Debra and Dan Balderson.

David Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Owens, 114 Mullen Street, is a patient in Children's Hospital, Baltimore.

Circle Elects

Mrs. A. F. Wilson was elected leader of the Alice Moore Circle of First Baptist Church. Other officers are Mrs. J. E. Tritt, secretary-treasurer and publicity; Mrs. Henry Humphries, community missions; Mrs. James Ruppert, program; Mrs. Earl Gauntz, sunshine; Miss Mary Moxley, mission study; Mrs. C. H. Taylor, camp fund.

Preceding the meeting a covered dish luncheon was held with the Christine Garnett circle. Announcement was made of the Day of Prayer, today and a visit to the infirmary. Mrs. Henry Laube, Westernport, was guest speaker. Rev. T. C. Johnson offered the invocation.

Vatican's "Army" Ready

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican is putting its battalion-sized armed forces on full duty plus overtime to assure security during the Roman Catholic ecumenical council. They total 810 men.

"There will be no time for joking and watching the pigeons fly by," Col. Spartaco Angelini, commander of the pontifical gendarmerie, said Tuesday.

The gendarmerie, totaling 150 men, resembles a police department. Wearing uniforms designed in 1851, the gendarmes will patrol the surroundings of St. Peter's Basilica during council sessions, check all prelates entering the basilica and direct traffic in St. Peter's Square.

Swiss Guards, glittering in their yellow, blue and red costumes which tradition says were designed by Michaelangelo, will stand at attention inside the basilica. The guards, 100 in all, will perform the honor duty also in the Vatican palaces.

The Noble Guards, a restricted group of 60 made up of Roman nobles, will escort Pope John XXIII from his apartment to the basilica and stand by whenever the papal cortege is moving.

But the bulk of work will be handled by the Palatine Guard, a force of 500 volunteers armed with rifles and pistols.

The Palatine Guards, said their commander, Col. Francesco Cantuti Castelvetro, will be asked to see that "no incident mars the council's proceedings." That includes bombing scares.

The basilica, Catholicism's greatest temple, was the scene of two bomb attempts recently.

Climbers School

Vatican's "Army" Ready

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican is putting its battalion-sized armed forces on full duty plus overtime to assure security during the Roman Catholic ecumenical council. They total 810 men.

"There will be no time for joking and watching the pigeons fly by," Col. Spartaco Angelini, commander of the pontifical gendarmerie, said Tuesday.

The gendarmerie, totaling 150 men, resembles a police department. Wearing uniforms designed in 1851, the gendarmes will patrol the surroundings of St. Peter's Basilica during council sessions, check all prelates entering the basilica and direct traffic in St. Peter's Square.

Swiss Guards, glittering in their yellow, blue and red costumes which tradition says were designed by Michaelangelo, will stand at attention inside the basilica. The guards, 100 in all, will perform the honor duty also in the Vatican palaces.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Mother is in her 70's but very active. She enjoys visiting relatives who live nearby.

I noticed whenever she returned from a trip she brought back articles which did not belong to her, such as hosiery, underwear, bedding, jewelry and kitchen utensils. She told me these items were gifts. After a while I thought it strange she would receive such an assortment of odds and ends — none of it new.

I finally made some phone calls and learned that mother had taken the articles. Of course I returned them.

Now she complains that some of our relatives whom she used to enjoy visiting do not want her anymore. They make excuses, of course not wishing to tell her the truth.

I'm afraid she may start to steal from stores and then the law would step in. If she is sick how can I help her? Please advise me.—SAD DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Your Mother has an illness called kleptomania. At her age I doubt that a doctor could help. Your best bet is to keep an eye on her whenever she returns from anywhere. Learn where she has been, examine her clothings, parcels, etc. and return what she takes. Also, notify the store she frequents, advise them of her problem and ask for their cooperation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father was a day-laborer. I grew up in the part of town where the working people lived. I was never ashamed of my folks or the neighborhood. The girl who lived next door had a nice hard-working father also. Her parents spoke virtually no English. I remember when this girl started school she had a difficult time. I had to translate for her because she spoke a foreign tongue almost exclusively.

Twenty years have passed and this girl and I have married. Our husbands have done well professionally and we both live on the other side of town.

In the past year our paths have crossed socially. Now, as if suddenly struck by amnesia, she doesn't understand one word of the first language she ever learned.

Will you please explain this to me?—BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: The girl with the faulty memory has deep feelings of insecurity about her origins. The foreign language reminds her of the poverty and old-country ways of her parents.

These memories make her uncomfortable so she wishes to sweep them all under the rug. The poor thing is to be pitied.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please settle something in our column once and for all. I am a mother who must depend on sitters when we want to leave the children at night.

Three teenagers in our block are available. Two of these girls want permission to have company. My husband doesn't like the idea but I see nothing wrong with it. After all, when the children are in bed what difference does it make if the sitter has her boy friend over and they watch TV together?

Please deal with this in the column and state your reasons for or against—whichever they may be. —N.T.K.

N. T. K.: I'm against company for sitters and here are the reasons:

The girl who sits is working. It is as much a job as if she were in an office or a store. An employer is entitled to her undivided time and attention.

I do not approve of a teenager entertaining a boy friend in her own home when no adult is present, for obvious reasons. The woman who provides the sitter with a far cozier set-up than she could get at home hands the girl a gilt-edged invitation to trouble.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Mother is in her 70's but very active. She enjoys visiting relatives who live nearby.

I noticed whenever she returned from a trip she brought back articles which did not belong to her, such as hosiery, underwear, bedding, jewelry and kitchen utensils. She told me these items were gifts. After a while I thought it strange she would receive such an assortment of odds and ends — none of it new.

I finally made some phone calls and learned that mother had taken the articles. Of course I returned them.

Now she complains that some of our relatives whom she used to enjoy visiting do not want her anymore. They make excuses, of course not wishing to tell her the truth.

I'm afraid she may start to steal from stores and then the law would step in. If she is sick how can I help her? Please advise me.—SAD DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Your Mother has an illness called kleptomania. At her age I doubt that a doctor could help. Your best bet is to keep an eye on her whenever she returns from anywhere. Learn where she has been, examine her clothings, parcels, etc. and return what she takes. Also, notify the store she frequents, advise them of her problem and ask for their cooperation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father was a day-laborer. I grew up in the part of town where the working people lived. I was never ashamed of my folks or the neighborhood. The girl who lived next door had a nice hard-working father also. Her parents spoke virtually no English. I remember when this girl started school she had a difficult time. I had to translate for her because she spoke a foreign tongue almost exclusively.

Twenty years have passed and this girl and I have married. Our husbands have done well professionally and we both live on the other side of town.

In the past year our paths have crossed socially. Now, as if suddenly struck by amnesia, she doesn't understand one word of the first language she ever learned.

Will you please explain this to me?—BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: The girl with the faulty memory has deep feelings of insecurity about her origins. The foreign language reminds her of the poverty and old-country ways of her parents.

These memories make her uncomfortable so she wishes to sweep them all under the rug. The poor thing is to be pitied.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please settle something in your column once and for all. I am a mother who must depend on sitters when we want to leave the children at night.

Three teenagers in our block are available. Two of these girls want permission to have company. My husband doesn't like the idea but I see nothing wrong with it. After all, when the children are in bed what difference does it make if the sitter has her boy friend over and they watch TV together?

Please deal with this in the column and state your reasons for or against—whichever they may be. —N.T.K.

N. T. K.: I'm against company for sitters and here are the reasons:

The girl who sits is working. It is as much a job as if she were in an office or a store. An employer is entitled to her undivided time and attention.

I do not approve of a teenager entertaining a boy friend in her own home when no adult is present, for obvious reasons. The woman who provides the sitter with a far cozier set-up than she could get at home hands the girl a gilt-edged invitation to trouble.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Oh, my aching back

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation . . . with that restless uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain-relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills...get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years.

For convenience, ask for the large size. Get Doan's Pills today! Doan's

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press

Drown-proof swimming pools, a comeback for an old cancer treatment and pollen-stopping fences for hay fever sufferers figure in the medical news this week.

Swimming Pools

A Netherlands scientist who believes too many children drown needlessly in fresh-water backyard swimming pools, gives this advice:

Fill your pool with a comparatively harmless physiological salt solution—salt water that has been perfused with oxygen.

Dr. J .A. Kylstra of the University of Leiden reached this conclusion after experiments showed submerged mice could survive for hours in an oxygenated balanced salt solution.

Old Cancer Treatment

Doctors have known for half a century that exposure of certain tumors to heat would destroy them without extensively damaging the surrounding tissue.

Medical World News reports that the same heating technique has been found to amplify the tumor killing power of X-rays.

Skin cancers that normally required 1,500 Roentgens or more of radiation for their destruction were killed by a single dose of only 600 Roentgens.

Internal tumors also responded to the double treatment. In these cases internal heat was applied by diathermy or electrical energy.

Animal experiments indicate it is not the heat that destroys tumor cells but an inflammatory reaction that follows heating. Investigators have found they can enhance the inflammatory reaction even more by injecting a chemical into the tumors before heating.

Hay Fever Fences

A North Dakota doctor believes that modified snow fences might be practical in late summer for the relief of hay fever.

Dr. Kenneth J. Johnson of Bismarck said he has found that 8-foot slatted fences decrease the ground velocity of the wind and reduce the spreading of ragweed pollen and mold spres that plague hay fever victims.

In a report to the American College of Allergists, he added that the plain wooden fences of city residential areas provide little protection.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Budd Co. reported its backlog of railway car orders has risen over the past year from $7 million to $18.5 million.

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y. (UPI) —M. Ten Bosch, Inc. Tuesday announced the formation of a precision machining division for use by independent manufacturers. The division will specialize in small production runs, prototype lots and experimental work.

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI)—Lockheed Aircraft Corp. announced it has received a $6 million order from the Air Force for seat modifications on T-33 jet trainers.

NEW YORK (UPI)—American Can Co. said it has developed a new can-closing machine, said to be 30 per cent faster and requiring a third less maintenance than machines currently in use.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Procter & Gamble Co. announced Tuesday it has reduced the price of most of its natural glycerine products by 2¼ cents a pound or 11 per cent, effective immediately. These products are used largely in cosmetics, pharmaceuticals, paint and plastics.

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — General Precision, Inc. announced Tuesday a long-term agreement in the field of electronics with Finanziaria Ernesto Breda, a leading Italian industrial complex. The firms intend to build a new, jointly - owned Italian company subject to the approval of their governments.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — So you want some spark in your life?

If you don't mind a good burning, smoke in bed. You'll get sparks. For best results, fall asleep while smoking in bed.

The advice from a "Blueprint for Life" is among many left-handed suggestions from Paul Jones, administrator for the Greater Cleveland Safety Council.

Jones has figured that accident statistics show that people don't pay as much attention as they should to the right-handed suggestions.

You know — the kind that say: Don't smoke in bed; Don't leave the medicine where toddlers can get at it; Don't practice accident prevention on the homefront.

The poet laureate for safety wrote his left-handed blueprint for life for the PTA magazine.

As he sees it, you can do more than smoke in bed if you're determined to break your neck in the bedroom. You also can':

—Turn on the gas or oil heater without allowing for any ventilation. This induces quick and permanent sleep, Jones promises:

—Place a footstool or chair where you can fall over it in the dark. "This will put you in stitches," Jones noted.

If you want to continue to live dangerously, he suggests you give everyone a king - sized headache by leaving the aspirin bottle where the youngsters can reach it in the bathroom.

In the kitchen, deal a blow to safety by standing squarely in front of the oven when lighting it.

Stairways, as Jones figures it, give you plenty of opportunities to skid. Help the accident prone by having junior leave his skates or marbles on the stairs. Give everyone a chance to fall — anytime. Keep the stairway dimly lit.

This new and different way of life, yours with practically no effort, guarantees maining and possibly killing experiences.

"The National Safety Council," Jones said, "points out that by following the unsafe practices . . . a total of 26,500 Americans managed to kill themselves in home accidents last year.

"Four million others suffered disabling injuries. The cost of all this in cold cash was 900 million dollars."

Va. Sen. Robertson Opposes Reserve Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., predicted Tuesday that world tensions would increase in the coming months and said the size of the Army may have to be increased.

Robertson, acting chairman of the defense appropriations subcommittee, questioned whether reservists should be called up for each crisis that develops.

The senator spoke at the annual three-day meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army.

He opposed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's proposal to cut reserve forces from their authorized strength of 700,000 to 642,000.

"It is not logical to cut our reserves as long as they are to be used as part of our first line of defense," the senator said.

IAM Sues EAL For Million

MIAMI (UPI) — The International Association of Machinists (IAM Tuesday filed a $1 million damage suit in federal court against Eastern Air Lines, accusing the carrier of cancelling vacations and forcing union members to work seven days a week.

The union's suit, signed by IAM District President George Brown, charged that the airline violated the Railway Labor Act by cancelling all vacations for 1962 for IAM members, and violated the union-management agreement by requiring 144 union members to work a seven-day week without discussing it with IAM officials.

Drown-proof swimming pools, a comeback for an old cancer treatment and pollen-stopping fences for hay fever sufferers figure in the medical news this week.

Swimming Pools

A Netherlands scientist who believes too many children drown needlessly in fresh-water backyard swimming pools, gives this advice:

Fill your pool with a comparatively harmless physiological salt solution—salt water that has been perfused with oxygen.

Dr. J .A. Kylstra of the University of Leiden reached this conclusion after experiments showed submerged mice could survive for hours in an oxygenated balanced salt solution.

Race Relations Unit Postpones Tawes Meeting

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations has postponed a meeting with Gov. Tawes which had been scheduled for Thursday.

William C. Rogers Sr. of Baltimore, commission chairman, said the action was taken Wednesday at a closed meeting attended by seven of the nine commission members.

The purpose of the session with Tawes is to ask the governor's support for equal accommodations legislation.

Rogers said the postponement was decided upon "because the bill we wanted to discuss with the governor is not perfected." He said the commission would meet with the governor after the Nov. 6 general election.

Tawes has indicated he will endorse any recommendations submitted by the commission.

It was reported unofficially that some of the commissioners do not wish to include equal housing and employment in any bill they ask the governor to back, while others are in favor of these provisions.

A bill for statewide equal accommodations was introduced in the House of Delegates at the special session of the legislature last March 9. It failed to pass by two votes.

That bill was amended in committee to rule out equal accommodations in places serving liquor. It also excluded 15 of the 23 counties.

It is understood that the commission would restore the 5 counties and places serving liquor in any legislation it submits to the governor.

Port Central Control Seen

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ports soon may have central control towers to check ships in and out of harbors electronically, Donald W. Alexander, federal maritime administrator, said Wednesday.

Alexander said such control towers would be similar to those used at airfields.

The electronic communication devices in the control towers would reduce greatly the time-consuming paperwork now needed by ships entering ports for entrance and clearance formalities, Alexander said.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the 51st annual convention of the American Association of Port Authorities at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Alexander said every ship would check in and out of harbor at one location.

Clearance and entrance formalities, he said, "will be handled by pushbuttons."

Various government inspecting agencies now require a "physical submission of documents," Alexander said, as a ship enters port.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — About 20,000 Maryland teachers will meet here Oct. 18, 19 and 20 for the 95th annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers' Association.

Scheduled speakers at the convention include Max Lerner, professor of American civilization and world politics at Brandeis University; John P. Carmichael, Chicago Daily News sports editor; Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, Nuclear physicist, and Charles T. Vetter Jr., lecturer for the Professional Training School of the U.S. Information Agency.

BALTIMORE (AP) — All offices of the Department of Employment Security in Maryland will be closed Friday, Columbus Day. Claimants for unemployment benefits, regularly reporting on Fridays, hae been advised of special arrangements for alternating reporting days.

HANCOCK, W.Va. (AP) — The third annual Tri-State Forestry Day will be held Thursday at the H. Allen Kerns tree farm south of Hancock in Morgan County, W.Va.

Brooks Smith, vice president of the Hancock Bank for landowners in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, will award $225 in cash prizes to winners of the bank's annual reforestation contest.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Richard N. Gardner, deputy assistant secretary of state for International Organization Affairs, will speak on "International Cooperation in Outer Space" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 16 in the University of Maryland library auditorium. Gardner is the U.S. deputy representative to the U.N. Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. The United Nations Association of Maryland and the University of Maryland are sponsoring the talk in observance of United Nations Month.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Carla Presti, Baltimore, has been selected as Maryland's 1963 Queen of Flowers.

The dimpled, dark-haired beauty will be crowned at the annual Festival of Flowers at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel Saturday, Oct. 27. The contest is sponsored by the Allied Florists Association. Miss Presti is a teller at Provident Savings Bank in Baltimore.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Ernest T. Cullen, Mardela Springs, has received a National Future Farmers of American Fellowship to the University of Maryland.

The fellowship was awarded by Massey-Ferguson, Inc., Detroit, and provides for graduate study in agricultural education and practical experience in the National Offices of the FFA. Cullen has taught vocational agriculture in Wicomico County High School for 10 years and is a past president of the Maryland Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association.

MARTINSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — The Frederick County, Va., board of supervisors has asked the Virginia Department of Highways to build a by-pass around the western side of Winchester, Va. The board requested the by-pass, connecting U.S. 11 on the north and U.S. 11 on the south, to ease traffic bottlenecks around Winchester's outskirts.

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — Maryland State Police cite driver error, alcohol and speed as major factors in Maryland's traffic fatality toll last week.

Col. Carey Jarman, State Police superintendent, said "simple violations of the fundamental and basic rules of the road" have a part in 80 per cent of all fatal accidents. Jarman urged defensive driving at all times.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Virgil L. Kelly, 23, Baltimore, was charged Wednesday with the fatal shooting of his 5-month-old son, Mark, Tuesday night. Kelly told police he was cleaning his 16-gauge shotgun when it accidentally discharged, striking the boy in the chest.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Air National Guard's 104th Tactical Fighter Squadron has changed its name to the 175th Tactical Fighter Group. Lt. Col. Jesse D. Mitchell, squadron commander, said the group also has been reorganized so that the unit could accomplish its mission alone if an atomic attack rendered higher headquarters ineffective.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The second trial of Nick Donald Bagley, 19, Durham, N.C., for the slaying of a Mount Washington storekeeper began Wednesday. Bagley is charged with shooting Don Davis 11 months ago while robbing the store. Bagley says he was home at the time of the shooting. An earlier trial in May produced a hung jury.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Northwest Airlines announced Wednesday it will begin four jet flights daily from Dulles field to the West Coast Nov. 19.

The announcement came after Baltimore asked the Civil Aeronautics board to deny the airlines' request to move its single jet flight from Friendship International Airport to rival Dulles.

Baltimore asked CAB to either deny the request or hold a hearing on the proposed cancellation of Northwest's sole remaining flight at Friendship.

Baltimore charges that Northwest has not given adequate service to the Baltimore area.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A former state's attorney of Baltimore County, T. Lyde Mason, died Tuesday night at University Hospital after a heart attack suffered several weeks ago. He was 73.

Mason was appointed state's attorney in April, 1946, to fill out the unexpired term of James D. C. Downes who resigned. Mason never ran for public office. He also served as president of the Baltimore County Bar Association.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Association of the United States Army honored Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey of Laurel, Md., Wednesday for his conduct while a prisoner in Laos.

Bailey and three former prisoners of Pathet Lao forces received certificates from Lt. Gen. Milton G. Baker, president of the association.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A resolution giving congressional consent for Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia to amend the Washington metropolitan area transit regulation compact was signed into law Wednesday by President Kennedy.

Gunman's Pals Sent To Prison

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Judge D. K. McLaughlin sentenced two Pennsylvania men to two years in prison Wednesday for their roles in an episode Aug. 20 involving the shooting of a state trooper.

James C. Lane, 32, and Robert Booker, 44, Harrisburg, were convicted of attempted larceny and being rogues and vagabonds. They received concurrent one-year sentences for destruction of property.

Their companion, Laurence Johns, 27, Pittsburgh, fatally shot himself as a police dragnet closed in on him near Hancock along U.S. 40.

Trooper Robert Kirby of the State Police said he apprehended the three trying to break into an outdoor pay telephone. He arrested Lane and Booker but was shot in the hip and shoulder by Johns. Kirby has recovered and is back on duty.

FBI Agents Quiz Prison Escapees

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — FBI agents joined local police Wednesday for formal interrogation of two Pennsylvania prison escapees accused of slugging and robbing a police lieutenant here.

Authorities said the fugitives, Richard A. Stump, 28, and Richard E. Goodrich, 30, were routed from a barn hayloft Tuesday but were too exhausted for questioning at that time. Stump and Goodrich escaped last Wednesday from Rockview Correctional Institute at Bellefonte, Pa.

Bonds of $10,000 were set for each man on charges of murderous assault and robbery. No arraignment date was set.

Lt. Ralph Hoffa, 48, Crawfordsville, beaten with his own blackjack when he stopped to question two men in an auto, was listed in excellent condition today.

U.S. Naval Academy Is 117 Years Old

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The U.S. Naval Academy was 117 years old Wednesday.

The original number of midshipman was about 80 when George Bancroft, then secretary of Navy, officially founded the academy on Oct. 10, 1845.

Since that time, over 30,000 men have been graduated from the school. Current enrollment is nearly 4,000.

There was to be no formal recognition of the anniversary but the Brigade of Midshipmen held its usual dress parade Wednesday afternoon.

The parade was to be reviewed by the present and 42nd superintendent of the academy, Rear Adm. Charles C. Kirkpatrick, USN.

Compact Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy signed Thursday a measure giving congressional consent to a compact between Virginia and Maryland for the creation of a Potomac River Compact.

S&L Receiver Faces Charge Of Contempt

BALTIMORE (AP)—The court-appointed receiver for the Mutual Security Savings and Loan Association has been ordered to appear in federal court Monday to answer contempt of court charges.

Federal bankruptcy referee Joseph O. Kaiser has ordered Paul M. Coughlan to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for not producing certain company records.

Coughlan was named receiver in Montgomery County Circuit Court in January after state and defense attorneys agreed that the loan company had third deeds of trust on unsecured properties in the Washington area.

In the meantime, two state auditors have been ordered to testify Thursday in connection with the operation of the First Fidelity Savings and Loan Associations.

Subpoenas have been issued for the two state officials to appear before the Baltimore Grand Jury investigating possible criminal activity in the operation of certain savings and loan associations.

Subpoenas have been issued for Vincent C. Mahony, deputy chief of the Department of Assessment and Taxation, and William C. Wright, the department's senior examiner.

First Fidelity is one of the largest savings and loan associations under court administration.

Gambling Material And Suspect Seized

BALTIMORE (AP) — Federal agents arrested one man and seized a substantial quantity of betting material in a raid Wednesday afternoon on a bungalow in Harundale in Anne Arundel County.

The man, Harry Bernstein, 53, of Baltimore, was to be arraigned Wednesday before U.S. Commissioner Ernest A. Volkert on charges of gambling without a federal stamp.

Firemen Pay Upped

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some investment experts are taking a brighter view of the economy.

And with it go cautious hopes that the stock market will respond and move out of the rut in which it now finds itself.

United Business and Investment Service reports that business is showing about its normal early fall pickup, though not enough oomph to have much lifting effect on sentiment.

The service says prospects for the rest of 1962 and the opening months of 1963 remain good, even if not exciting.

It adds that consumer business and government spending are still on the upgrade; production is at high levels with new model automobile output rising sharply; construction activity is maintaining a record pace and credit is plentiful.

While there are some soft spots —and numerous uncertainties—in the picture, few serious excesses are apparent, it concludes.

"Nothing in the immediate offing seems likely to cause the stock market to boom, but neither do we expect the June lows to be passed," United Service comments.

Business trends continue to hold up better than expected and there is little sign of recession anywhere, according to L. O. Hooper, analyst for the brokerage house, W. E. Hutton & Co. Furthermore, he adds, the government is set to pump substantial amounts of cash into the economy over the next few months.

"The trouble with the stock market, we think, is internal rather than external," Hooper says. "Stocks have been much too high and even now they are not cheap.

"The urge to buy is weak but so is the urge to sell. Most people are doing nothing, the news factors are not of an emphatic nature."

ILLINOIS OPPONENTS — Sidney R. Yates, Democratic congressman from Chicago who occasionelly strums folk tunes on a guitar to woo votes, is trying to unseat Republican minority leader Everett M. Dirksen, right, in the Nov. 6 Illinois election for the Senate. Dirksen, 66, is campaigning for a third term in the Senate. Yates is 52, and a strong supporter of President Kennedy, program. # 'Substantial Joblessness' Areas Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of major industrial areas having "substantial unemployment" dropped from 47 to 44 in September, the lowest since the summer of 1960, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced Tuesday.

Substantial unemployment is defined as 6.0 to 8.9 per cent by the bureau of employment security.

Four areas—Terre Haute and South Bend, Ind., and Bridgeport and New Britain, Conn.—moved from substantial to "moderate" unemployment (3.0 to 5.9 per cent). It was the first time since 1951 that Terre Haute had been off the substantial unemployment list. A downward trend in unemployment there has been underway there since the beginning of the year due to persons without jobs moving elsewhere.

One year ago there were 82 areas of substantial unemployment. In the spring of 1961 there were 101 of the 150 areas classified as major industrial centers.

X15 Gets "Shakes" In Stability Test

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—Pilot John McKay flew the X15 to its highest altitude and speed achieved without its lower tail in a stability test Tuesday, but disclosed later the rocket ship "really shook" during the flight.

"It was really annoying — the whole airplane shook for about three minutes," National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) pilot McKay said at a news conference.

The "strange vibrations" came on a flight in which McKay deliberately crippled the X15 by shutting off its electronic brain, and tried to determine if removal of the lower (ventral) tail fin increased the ship's stability as it plunged back from space.

"It was very successful," said McKay, as far as the stability test was concerned. He also speculated that he might have lost control if the buffeting occurred during a crucial phase and the ventral fin was in place as it had on most previous tests.

Illinois GOP Confident Of Dirksen's Reelection

By CHARLES WHALEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Smooth-talking Everett M. Dirksen acts like a man without a political worry as he moves into the closing weeks of his campaign for election to a third term in the Senate.

Driving tirelessly to unseat the Republican minority leader is soft-spoken Sidney R. Yates, Democratic congressman from Chicago's North Side who haunts factory gates and occasionally strums folk tunes on a guitar to woo votes.

GOP state leaders insist the 66-year-old Dirksen doesn't have to worry. One of them—Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier claims the Nov. 6 Illinois election will be a walkaway for Dirksen by as much as 400,000 votes.

Dirksen had a 357,000 plurality in 1956.

Yates, 52, a lithe, energetic man, is wrapping his bid around a record of almost unanimous support of President Kennedy's program, plus drumming away at Dirksen's opposition to welfare measures.

But GOP officials say: "There are no burning issues in the state, that the election will turn on whether people like or don't like Dirksen, with his soothing personality and national prestige.

Republicans contend Yates' only chance of winning lies in a huge Chicago vote, and they don't believe it will show in this off-year election.

Dirksen's golden tones have been heard infrequently on the state's campaign circuit this fall because he has stuck close to Washington.

For the final month before the election, however, he has mapped a statewide hand-shaking and speaking tour.

Yates' backers are counting on Kennedy's appearance in Illinois to surge his strength in the windup stage. Kennedy is slated to make speeches for Yates and congressional candidates in Springfield and Chicago Oct. 19.

A half dozen or so districts are expected to determine whether Republicans pick up any congressional seats. Illinois Democrats achieved a 14-11 margin two years ago.

Reapportionment has created a new congressional picture and cost the state one seat.

New congressmen are certain to be elected in four districts, due either to remapping or retirement of incumbents.

In one downstate district, Reps. Peter Mack, Democrat, and Paul Findley Republican, are thrown together. Their race is considered a tossup.

Another incumbent involved in a lively battle is Democrat George Shipley, who is opposed by former Rep. Edward Jenison, newspaper publisher at Paris, Ill.

Creeping Progress Of The Alliance

Little optimism was expressed about the progress of the Alliance for Progress at the Organization of American States meeting of economic experts in Mexico City. The Alliance is considerably behind anticipated results. Many of the intended recipients of U. S. aid have taken no steps toward the reforms which it is contended must precede any real progress in South America.

Most of the reforms called for by the Alliance are of a political nature. Land reform, tax revision and trade agreements are some of the more frequently mentioned requisites for Alliance aid, and each represents a move by government to clean house and create a climate conducive to economic growth.

Economic stagnation in South America stems largely from a dearth of investment capital. Both domestic and foreign investors have obvious reasons for shunning investments.

Government dictatorship over industry and profits, expropriation of private property for no legitimate reason and without compensation, and continuing evidence of government instability are no attractions for investors.

Investment capital was a principal topic at the OAS economic conference. With or without the Alliance for Progress, the question of investment capital becomes ever more acute for South America. The outflow of capital from the continent has increased in recent months, compounding an already bad situation. It outpaces the funds planted in South America by the Alliance.

Further economic retrenchment in a region so poorly developed can only aggravate the difficulties of reform. It should emphasize the importance of private capital in any worthwhile program for industrial and economic growth in South America.

General Walker

If General Edwin A. Walker requires psychiatric treatment, he ought to have the best. There are two sides to General Walker. He has been a brave soldier, with a special capacity for lifting the morale of discouraged troops. He was sent to Little Rock by President Eisenhower to do precisely the job which he denounced in Oxford, Mississippi.

If General Walker is suffering from psychosomatic illnesses, they could be a result of war service. In that event, he is entitled to the best treatment available in this country. The man's war record establishes that. But his mental illness must be medically sure, so that no group may say that he is a scapegoat. If he is suffering from paranoic tendencies, he should be properly hospitalized, but he should not become a political prisoner.

The issue is a simple one: any person can become ill and for mental illness there are very big and frightening words. Two wars and the anxieties of a war period and the uncertainty of life during and after wars have left their marks on many more persons than is obvious. Certainly at Oxford, General Walker did not act like a soldier or a gentleman. We went wild.

General Walker poined the John Birch Society while he was in charge of troops in Germany. The John Birch Society is anti-Communist and has attracted many Americans to membership. Its weakness has been its inability to discriminate between Communists and other anti-Communists who prefer to combat Communism by different methods. Thus, the John Birch Society got a bad name not because of Communist propaganda against it but because of its assumption that anyone who is not for and of it is a Communist. This, of course, is a nonsensical notion as the record shows.

Those associated with the John Birch Society also tend to search for a vile and vicious conspiracy to make it easy for Communism to take over this country. Hunting for conspiracies by inexperienced, doctrinaire persons is a very dangerous enterprise, particularly by persons who do not understand what Communism is. Many such conspiracy-hunters are sincere; others are just antis.

There have always been antis. General George Washington knew them when he was leading his suffering and starving troops. Antis are human beings who dislike their environment and particularly dislike change. They cannot adjust to change. They burned men and women at the stake in other times, because their ideas did not conform to prevailing ones. The fact that the burned ones turned out to be right did not matter, because, in every generation, there are those who find any difference, any change, any novelty of thought abhorrent.

A man may have been publicly and at personal sacrifice opposed to Communism for 40 years, but if he does not go along with the John Birch Society or if he does not believe that Dr. Fred Schwarz is the greatest anti-Communist on Earth, the Birchers and their friends are liable to believe that he has joined President Eisenhower and Attorney General Kennedy to say nothing of Adlai Stevenson and Ralph Bunche in a conspiracy to turn the United States over to Khrushchev!

The antis are very strong in those areas where racial questions are serious. It is a reflex of their objection to change. Such persons believe that the Western European in the United States is superior to all pigmented peoples, including the darker-skinned Mediterraneans, such as the Italians, Greeks, Syrians and Jews. They tend to be anti-Semitic because, although they may read the Bible, they do not grasp its morality, they eschew history as a bunch of lies. To most of them, the Negro is inferior.

It is not possible to say that all who oppose change are suffering from psychosomatic illnesses; it is possible to say that their adjustments to a changing world are slow and even arrested. Brought up in narrow environments, with inadequate schooling, they know what they like but will not recognize that even so comparatively small an invention as the electric light alters our lives and our thoughts. Imagine what the exploration of space is doing!

I think that three of the most distinguished psychiatrists in the country should be asked to examine General Walker to make sure that he is ill and not a martyr to politics. And if his illness is war-connected, this country owes him a square deal.

'Our Cow Doesn't Seem To Give Milk'

The Conflict Between Pork And Principle

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

On a fateful afternoon not long ago, the astute Secretary of the Democratic Majority, Bobby Baker, passed the word among the anxious members of the Senate:

"On this one, principle plus a dime will buy you a cup of coffee." Berlin was on the boil; Cuba was in ferment; and many another national and international problem of awful magnitude called for the grave attention of the assembled Senators. But Baker's delicate but stern warning concerned a bill to construct a $10 million aquarium in the District of Columbia.

Among the liberal Democrats, especially, there was a strong feeling that the principle of the thing forbade approval of a "fish palace," as Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon had put it, when money was so badly needed for schools and hospitals and other projects more directly bearing on the welfare of the human population.

But the aquarium was, and is, the highly personal venture, the proud, private contribution to the culture of the nation's capital, of the formidable Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio. As second-ranking member of the House Appropriations Committee and chairman of the Subcommittee on Interior Department Appropriations, Mike Kirwan is the master of the pork-barrel. For Senators interested in pork for their states, the conflict between pork and principle was plain to see.

Nonetheless, Bobby Baker's warning was disregarded by the hot-headed Sen. Morse and the imprudent Sen. Frank Church of Idaho. The effect on Rep. Kirwan can be gauged from a passage from his own past, which he tells with relish in this connection. The Kirwan children, it seems, were sometimes persecuted by the neighboring young, event to the point of being stoned.

"My mother," Kirwan recalls, "always told us, 'Never throw back a crabapple is someone throws a rock at you'."

The workings of this rule of reciprocity were soon observable when the Interior Department appropriation bill passed the Senate and was sent to conference. Sen. Church's beloved Idaho instantly lost the Burns Creek Project, estimated to cost $52 million.

Sen. Morse's cherished Oregon also lost the planning appropriations for the Columbia and Willamette River Chanel Projects, estimated to cost an eventual $20,-700,000; the appropriation to begin construction of the Yaquina Bay and Harbor Project, with an eventual estimated cost of $23,-600,000; and appropriations to begin study of projects in the Willamette River Basin and for reclamation at Pendleton, Oregon, with eventual costs as yet beyond estimation.

As chairman of the House conferees, Rep. Kirwan had struck these items from the appropriation bill. His comment was that he had already voted countless hundreds of millions for Oregon and Idaho, and if Sens. Morse and Church did not choose to reciprocate to the extent of a $10 million aquarium, they could take the consequences.

The consequences may be fairly serious, for both Morse and Church are up for re-election. Both are now thought to be running behind. And until Mike Kirwan, remembering his mother's warning against crabapples, dutifully met rock with rock, both Church and Morse were using their power to get pork for their home states as prime selling points with the voters.

Sen. Morse has already reacted with considerable violence, demanding an audience with the President himself, and clamoring for a punitive veto of the Kirwan aquarium bill. It seems doubtful, however, that the President will want to join the Senator in throwing rocks at the rodoubtable Kirwan, when this will do no good, in any case, in the Oregon election. So the District of Columbia will get its aquarium.

The American Legislative, as can be seen from the foregoing, has marked idiosyncracies. Every Congress ends with some such drama as the great aquarium drama; and every President has to take time off to deal with such matters. The first Kennedy Congress, which is now coming to an end, has been rather more productive of such dramas than most of its predecessors.

To this Congress, however, it would be wrong to say farewell in too mocking a spirit. It has been called obstructive and sterile by a great many people, including the President himself. It is true that the President asked this Congress to pass a gigantic program, and only got a limited share of what he asked for.

But if you look at the whole record, you find, sandwiched among the aquarium bill and other comparable measures, such great innovating statutes as the new trade bill, such useful steps forward as the area redevelopment bill and the housing bill, and much else that has been solid and constructive. This has been a Congress that got a lot done, in short, even though it refused to do a lot more.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

FINANCIAL JOKE — A joke, apparently originating in Wall Street, depicts President Kennedy earnestly trying to convince a big investor in the soundness of the nation's economy.

Says Kennedy: "If I weren't President, I'd be buying stocks right now."

Replies the investor. "If you weren't President, so would I."

ESTES, CUBA THOUGHTS — A memo was circulated in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare recently urging employes to indulge in occasional "think periods" to ponder how they can do their jobs better.

It came to the attention of Sen. John J. Williams, Delaware Republican, who doesn't believe the plan has much merit. He points out that if the idea was adopted on a government-wide system:

1—All the employes in the Agricultural Department would be thinking about Billie Sol Estes.

2—Everyone in the State Department would be thinking about Cuba.

The work of these two departments would grind to a halt because none of their other assignments would be fulfilled.

Besides, says Williams, the Supreme Court probably would declare the whole plan unconstitutional because government employes sitting around silently and doing nothing would probably be construed as praying.

Air Pollution Factor In Respiratory Disorders

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Several years ago a smog descended on Brisbane, Australia, and physicians began receiving telephone calls from patients with asthma. Hundreds of men and women started wheezing, and it was more than a coincidence because all of the attacks began within a brief period of time. Something in the smog was responsible.

Undoubtedly, many respiratory disorders are caused by air pollution. Smog accentuates the bad effects of contamination because it keeps the pollutants close to the earth. The chemical nature of the particles and gases also plays a role; some are more irritating or poisonous than others.

Normal air contains nitrogen, oxygen, and lesser amounts of argon, carbon dioxide, and several other trace elements. Civilized man has added a number of substances to this, usually in the form of dusts, fumes, mists, vapors, and gases. Some are harmful by themselves, whereas others become toxic only after they combine with other chemicals in the air.

This is important because physicians have noticed an increase in bronchitis and the more disabling lung conditions such as emphysema, bronchiectasis, and cancer. In addition, the death rate from respiratory diseases in this country has more than doubled since 1949.

Smoking is partly to blame because it is concentrated air pollution. But the noxious chemicals in dusts, fumes, and gases we are forced to breathe also are factors. The respiratory passageways teem with bacteria that cause few if any symptoms unless the membranes are irritated or congested. In the circumstances, the inhalation of the chemicals leads ultimately to disorders such as bronchitis or emphysema. Some of the chemicals constrict the bronchial tubes and this probably was responsible for the asthmatic attacks in Australia mentioned previously. Other chemicals are carcinogenic—that is, they are capable of causing cancer.

Years of exposure usually are necessary and some individuals are more susceptible than others. Air pollution is a matter of public action. All of us must cooperate to cut it down at the source.

TEA FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. M. writes: My husband and I like iced tea for dinner every night. Now the children want it too. They are ages 13, 10, and 6, and drink their full quota of milk. Is it safe to give them tea?

REPLY

A little tea will do no harm, provided it does not take the place of essential foods and does not keep them awake.

TIRED AFTER HEPATITIS

R. W. writes: My daughter was in the hospital 10 weeks with hepatitis. That was a year ago. She still tires easily. Does she need more blood tests?

REPLY

Only if your physician suspects the liver is responsible for the girl's fatigue.

ARMPIT PERSPIRATION

D. M. writes: Is it safe for children to use an antiperspirant in the armpits?

REPLY

Yes, but these products seldom are necessary because the sweat glands in the armpits are not fully developed until adolescence.

THYROID TABLETS

A. W. writes: Do people suffering from thyroid deficiency become invalids in time?

REPLY

No, because the deficiency can be corrected easily and quickly with thyroid extract. A tablet or two a day and the individaul is "alive" again.

MOVING STONES

E. P. K. writes: When a person has gallstones or kidney stones, can they be felt moving from place to place?

REPLY

Not unless the stones decide to leave the gall bladder or kidney. When this occurs the individual has the worst colicky pain he will ever encounter.

SHINGLES

M. H. writes: Do children ever get shingles?

REPLY

Yes, but the majority of victims are adults, particularly older persons.

TOMORROW: The eczematous infant.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Jack Kofoed swears he saw this happen in the dining room of a swanky Miami Beach hotel. A clumsy waiter spilled a plate of soup on the white jacket of an outraged guest. The manager rushed up immediately and purred, "Give that coat to me, sir. I'll have it sponged immediately and returned to you absolutely spotless before you've finished your meal."

Five minutes later, the waiter who had spilled the soup poked the guest indignantly on the shoulder, and demanded, "Don't you know you're not allowed in this dining room unless you're wearing a jacket?"

An underpaid English professor recently applied for a job of a highly technical nature at General Dynamics. "But you have none of the requirements," demurred the employment manager. "Whatever made you think you could hold down a position like this?" "Because," said the professor with great dignity, "this is probably the only chance you'll ever have of hiring a worker who has read 'Beowulf' twice in the original Anglo-Saxon."

A bragging session at recess in Clinton, Iowa, school produced this lively exchange: "You've learned about the Pacific Ocean? Well, my pa built the hole for it." "So what? You know about the Dead Sea? Well, it was my father who killed it!"

JFK's Deal With Otto Passman Undercuts Foreign Aid Battlers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — While Senate leaders were battling to restore the House slashes in foreign aid, President Kennedy undercut them by settling the issue behind their backs.

He made a secret deal with Louisiana Congressman Otto Passman, archfoe of foreign aid, to accept a compromise bill restoring $296 to $300 million of the House cuts.

Apparently, the President feared his Senate leaders were fighting a losing battle and couldn't salvage more than $300 million anyway.

As it turned out, the Senate restored every penny of the original foreign aid authorization. This put the Senators in a strong bargaining position to deal with Passman.

But, unknown to them, the President had already settled for a lesser figure than they could have demanded.

Passman gave no inkling of the secret settlement when Senate and House conferees gathered behind closed doors for the showdown. He launched into an arm-waving triade and threatened to stay there arguing against foreign aid "until the snows melt."

When he saw that his forensics were having no effect on the Senators, however, he apparently decided he couldn't browbeat them into giving up more concessions and played his trump card. He calmly announced that the President had agreed to accept a restoration of only $296 to $300 million.

Dumfounded, Florida Sen. Spessard Holland expressed skepticim that Kennedy would have made such a deal.

"Why don't you call the President and find out for yourself?" invited Passman.

Later in the afternoon, Holland phoned the White House and was assured that Passman had told the truth.

Result: The Senators gave up their fight and agreed to accept Passman's figures, which were almost $494 million less than the Senate had voted.

Mississippi Ire

Meanwhile, Holland received another jolt from his fellow southerner, Mississippi Sen. John Stennis, who turned on him savagely for sponsoring the constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax.

Flush-faced, Stennis threatened to retaliate by using his position on the Senate Appropriations Committee to block Holland's pet projects. The Senator from Florida, who has always voted with the southern bloc, could hardly believe Stennis would do this to him.

"I have never been treated so shabbily," he complained to Senate Leader Mike Mansfield.

Indeed, Stennis has dropped his usual dignity and decorum since the Mississippi race riots. He hastily rushed an investigator to Oxford, Miss., for instance, after learning that his Mississippi colleague, Sen. Jim Eastland, was sending investigators to dig up dirt on the federal forces there.

In fact, the whole Mississippi delegation has become unruly and rebellious. Mississippi Congressman Jamie Whitten refused to accept a single Senate amendment to an agriculture appropriations bill.

But once again, his obstinacy hurt a fellow Southerner, Georgia Sen. Dick Russell, who is trying to get a peanut-processing plant for Dawson, Ga. Russell angrily accused Whitten behind closed doors of wangling three agricultural experimental stations for his own district, then refusing to appropriate money for a peanut plant in the heart of the peanut country.

The riot-rocked University of Mississippi, incidentally, is also located in Whitten's district.

Another Mississippi Congressman, while issuing bold pronouncements upholding the rioters, was taking no chances himself. At the height of the race trouble, Congressman Tom Abernethy in Washington removed his Mississippi license plates from his gleaming white car and hung District of Columbia tags in their place.

While Congress was hung up over peanuts, pensions, and pork-barrel projects, there was such a rush for the exits that the leaders had trouble rounding up enough votes to make the results official.

Elusive Legislators

Only 279 Congressmen could be flushed out of the cloakrooms and corridors, for example, to vote on the foreign aid bill.

The remaining 158 congressmen, or at least most of them, had lit out for home on a matter of higher priority: their own re-election.

Most of the Senators, facing re-election this year, also deserted the Senate and hit the campaign Trail. Among those who were missing during the final rollcalls: Aiken of Vermont, Bennett of Utah, Bottum of South Dakota, Capehart of Indiana, Carroll of Colorado, Clark of Pennsylvania, Fulbright of Arkansas, Gruening of Alaska, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Hickey of Wyoming, Jordan of Idaho, Long of Missouri, Magnuson of Washington, and Morton of Kentucky.

While Magnuson was away, the Senate voted to abolish the 6 per cent differential that Uncle Sam pays to West Coast shippers. California Sen. Clair Engle tried frantically to phone Magnuson and plead with him to use his considerable influence to block the measure in the Senate-House conference.

But Magnuson was cruising aboard the atomic merchant ship Savannah, off the Washington coast.

At least one Congressman sheepishly showed up in the House while the others were slipping home. He was Harlem's dashing and debonair Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, who rushed home from a government-paid vacation touring Europe's bright spots with two beautiful secretaries.

His publicity had preceded him, and he was greeted with mocking applause the first time he appeared on the House floor.

"Who else can come back from a trip like this," grinned Powell in an aside to Congressman Carroll Kearns, "and enter the chamber and receive such a rousing burst of applause?"

Teach The French?

By John Crosby

PARIS

The other day I went to a movie called "A Touch of Mink," in which Cary Grant spends an hour-and-a-half attempting to seduce Doris Day. I sat directly behind a young French couple who, I soon discovered, knew no English. Consequently, since this picture is in English, this couple was totally dependent on the French subtitles.

Well, the film started to unroll itself, as the French express it, and the couple in front of me started to snuggle. Presently, Mr. Grant met Miss Day and made his first pass. Offered the girl a trip to Bermuda. All expenses paid. Moonlight. All that jazz. Sounds like elementary seduction, but Cary Grant brought to it, as he does to everything, a suavity, a polish, an assurance from which we can all profit.

But did the Frenchman in front of me profit? No. He was kissing his girl, his eyes closed. Couldn't see Cary Grant. Couldn't understand him. Missed the subtitles and everything. Well.

Anyhow, Miss Day—to get back to the picture—said she wasn't having any. In short, no. However, in calling Mr. Grant, to tell him no, she discovered Mr. Grant had withdrawn the offer. This so affronted her pride that Miss Day changed her no to yes. Well, I tell you: it's a lesson in feminine psychology in which every man interested in seduction (and what man isn't?) could well learn many things.

I glanced at the Frenchman to see if he was profiting from this wellspring of Hollywood wisdom. By God, he was at it again! Kissing the girl's neck. Murmuring French endearments. Missed the whole thing.

It went on like that for an hour-and-a-half. Mr. Grant went from one repulse after another, from Miss Day, from fate, and a couple from the Johnson office. Meanwhile, the Frenchman in front of me was missing one valuable lesson after another, fondling the girl. Not only was he missing everything, but also she was missing the edifying spectacle of Doris Day yielding slowly to Mr. Grant's blandishments. I mean, learning how to yield well takes learning, too, but this French girl didn't see any of it.

Mr. Grant finally gets Miss Day. Of course, he has to marry the girl. But he gets her. That's the point, the moral, the lesson to be drawn from this particular film.

The French couple weren't even there. They'd slipped off into the night a half-hour earlier. Probably never will know how the picture came out.

I don't know how the French will ever learn anything about seduction until they learn how to pay attention.

Just one other observation: the French use of the word "impossible" which I find intriguing. When you say, for example, "I think the laundry lost one of my shirts," the immediate French riposte is: "That's impossible!" Right away you know it's not only possible, it's highly probable you'll never see that shirt again.

The French, it seems to me, use "impossible" the way newspapermen use "alleged," as a sort of cure-all for all sorts of lawsuits and other unpleasantness. It's like that old legend at the front of books: "All characters in this book are fictitious and any resemblance to any character living or dead is purely coincidental." You never see that in any books unless all the characters, particularly the scummy ones, are taken directly from someone fearfully alive and prone to institute lawsuits.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Radio signals continue to come in clearly from the Mariner II space craft, though its millions of miles away. Guess we'll have to revise the meaning of that old phrase—"out of earshot."

The manager of a Huyton, England, dairy remained cool during a robbery in the store—the crooks made him stay in the refrigerator during the looting.

The planet Venus was once known as Lucifer—Factographs. At least, the present name is more ladylike!

At Keokuk, Iowa, a driverless truck carrying a 17-ton load of honey rolled down hill, bounced off a parked car, jumped a curb and sideswiped several trees. Hardly a bee-line!

Zadok Dumkopf announces he's quit playing those football pools—too often his selections prove all wet.

Mexico's National Institute of Anthropology plans to spend $1.3 million to restore the ancient Aztec city of Teotihuacan. While they're at it, they might change it's monicker to a more pronouncable name.

Such persons believe that the Western European in the United States is superior to all pigmented peoples, including the darker-skinned Mediterraneans, such as the Italians, Greeks, Syrians and Jews. They tend to be anti-Semitic because, although they may read the Bible, they do not grasp its morality, they eschew history as a bunch of lies. To most of them, the Negro is inferior.

It is not possible to say that all who oppose change are suffering from psychosomatic illnesses; it is possible to say that their adjustments to a changing world are slow and even arrested. Brought up in narrow environments, with inadequate schooling, they know what they like but will not recognize that even so comparatively small an invention as the electric light alters our lives and our thoughts. Imagine what the exploration of space is doing!

I think that three of the most distinguished psychiatrists in the country should be asked to examine General Walker to make sure that he is ill and not a martyr to politics. And if his illness is war-connected, this country owes him a square deal.

'Our Cow Doesn't Seem To Give Milk'

The Conflict Between Pork And Principle

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

On a fateful afternoon not long ago, the astute Secretary of the Democratic Majority, Bobby Baker, passed the word among the anxious members of the Senate:

"On this one, principle plus a dime will buy you a cup of coffee." Berlin was on the boil; Cuba was in ferment; and many another national and international problem of awful magnitude called for the grave attention of the assembled Senators. But Baker's delicate but stern warning concerned a bill to construct a $10 million aquarium in the District of Columbia.

Among the liberal Democrats, especially, there was a strong feeling that the principle of the thing forbade approval of a "fish palace," as Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon had put it, when money was so badly needed for schools and hospitals and other projects more directly bearing on the welfare of the human population.

But the aquarium was, and is, the highly personal venture, the proud, private contribution to the culture of the nation's capital, of the formidable Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio. As second-ranking member of the House Appropriations Committee and chairman of the Subcommittee on Interior Department Appropriations, Mike Kirwan is the master of the pork-barrel. For Senators interested in pork for their states, the conflict between pork and principle was plain to see.

Nonetheless, Bobby Baker's warning was disregarded by the hot-headed Sen. Morse and the imprudent Sen. Frank Church of Idaho. The effect on Rep. Kirwan can be gauged from a passage from his own past, which he tells with relish in this connection. The Kirwan children, it seems, were sometimes persecuted by the neighboring young, event to the point of being stoned.

"My mother," Kirwan recalls, "always told us, 'Never throw back a crabapple is someone throws a rock at you'."

The workings of this rule of reciprocity were soon observable when the Interior Department appropriation bill passed the Senate and was sent to conference. Sen. Church's beloved Idaho instantly lost the Burns Creek Project, estimated to cost $52 million.

Sen. Morse's cherished Oregon also lost the planning appropriations for the Columbia and Willamette River Chanel Projects, estimated to cost an eventual $20,-700,000; the appropriation to begin construction of the Yaquina Bay and Harbor Project, with an eventual estimated cost of $23,-600,000; and appropriations to begin study of projects in the Willamette River Basin and for reclamation at Pendleton, Oregon, with eventual costs as yet beyond estimation.

As chairman of the House conferees, Rep. Kirwan had struck these items from the appropriation bill. His comment was that he had already voted countless hundreds of millions for Oregon and Idaho, and if Sens. Morse and Church did not choose to reciprocate to the extent of a $10 million aquarium, they could take the consequences.

The consequences may be fairly serious, for both Morse and Church are up for re-election. Both are now thought to be running behind. And until Mike Kirwan, remembering his mother's warning against crabapples, dutifully met rock with rock, both Church and Morse were using their power to get pork for their home states as prime selling points with the voters.

Sen. Morse has already reacted with considerable violence, demanding an audience with the President himself, and clamoring for a punitive veto of the Kirwan aquarium bill. It seems doubtful, however, that the President will want to join the Senator in throwing rocks at the rodoubtable Kirwan, when this will do no good, in any case, in the Oregon election. So the District of Columbia will get its aquarium.

The American Legislative, as can be seen from the foregoing, has marked idiosyncracies. Every Congress ends with some such drama as the great aquarium drama; and every President has to take time off to deal with such matters. The first Kennedy Congress, which is now coming to an end, has been rather more productive of such dramas than most of its predecessors.

To this Congress, however, it would be wrong to say farewell in too mocking a spirit. It has been called obstructive and sterile by a great many people, including the President himself. It is true that the President asked this Congress to pass a gigantic program, and only got a limited share of what he asked for.

But if you look at the whole record, you find, sandwiched among the aquarium bill and other comparable measures, such great innovating statutes as the new trade bill, such useful steps forward as the area redevelopment bill and the housing bill, and much else that has been solid and constructive. This has been a Congress that got a lot done, in short, even though it refused to do a lot more.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

FINANCIAL JOKE — A joke, apparently originating in Wall Street, depicts President Kennedy earnestly trying to convince a big investor in the soundness of the nation's economy.

Says Kennedy: "If I weren't President, I'd be buying stocks right now."

Replies the investor. "If you weren't President, so would I."

ESTES, CUBA THOUGHTS — A memo was circulated in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare recently urging employes to indulge in occasional "think periods" to ponder how they can do their jobs better.

It came to the attention of Sen. John J. Williams, Delaware Republican, who doesn't believe the plan has much merit. He points out that if the idea was adopted on a government-wide system:

1—All the employes in the Agricultural Department would be thinking about Billie Sol Estes.

2—Everyone in the State Department would be thinking about Cuba.

The work of these two departments would grind to a halt because none of their other assignments would be fulfilled.

Besides, says Williams, the Supreme Court probably would declare the whole plan unconstitutional because government employes sitting around silently and doing nothing would probably be construed as praying.

JFK's Deal With Otto Passman Undercuts Foreign Aid Battlers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — While Senate leaders were battling to restore the House slashes in foreign aid, President Kennedy undercut them by settling the issue behind their backs.

He made a secret deal with Louisiana Congressman Otto Passman, archfoe of foreign aid, to accept a compromise bill restoring $296 to $300 million of the House cuts.

Apparently, the President feared his Senate leaders were fighting a losing battle and couldn't salvage more than $300 million anyway.

As it turned out, the Senate restored every penny of the original foreign aid authorization. This put the Senators in a strong bargaining position to deal with Passman.

But, unknown to them, the President had already settled for a lesser figure than they could have demanded.

Passman gave no inkling of the secret settlement when Senate and House conferees gathered behind closed doors for the showdown. He launched into an arm-waving triade and threatened to stay there arguing against foreign aid "until the snows melt."

When he saw that his forensics were having no effect on the Senators, however, he apparently decided he couldn't browbeat them into giving up more concessions and played his trump card. He calmly announced that the President had agreed to accept a restoration of only $296 to $300 million.

Dumfounded, Florida Sen. Spessard Holland expressed skepticim that Kennedy would have made such a deal.

"Why don't you call the President and find out for yourself?" invited Passman.

Later in the afternoon, Holland phoned the White House and was assured that Passman had told the truth.

Result: The Senators gave up their fight and agreed to accept Passman's figures, which were almost $494 million less than the Senate had voted.

Mississippi Ire

Meanwhile, Holland received another jolt from his fellow southerner, Mississippi Sen. John Stennis, who turned on him savagely for sponsoring the constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax.

Flush-faced, Stennis threatened to retaliate by using his position on the Senate Appropriations Committee to block Holland's pet projects. The Senator from Florida, who has always voted with the southern bloc, could hardly believe Stennis would do this to him.

"I have never been treated so shabbily," he complained to Senate Leader Mike Mansfield.

Indeed, Stennis has dropped his usual dignity and decorum since the Mississippi race riots. He hastily rushed an investigator to Oxford, Miss., for instance, after learning that his Mississippi colleague, Sen. Jim Eastland, was sending investigators to dig up dirt on the federal forces there.

In fact, the whole Mississippi delegation has become unruly and rebellious. Mississippi Congressman Jamie Whitten refused to accept a single Senate amendment to an agriculture appropriations bill.

But once again, his obstinacy hurt a fellow Southerner, Georgia Sen. Dick Russell, who is trying to get a peanut-processing plant for Dawson, Ga. Russell angrily accused Whitten behind closed doors of wangling three agricultural experimental stations for his own district, then refusing to appropriate money for a peanut plant in the heart of the peanut country.

The riot-rocked University of Mississippi, incidentally, is also located in Whitten's district.

Another Mississippi Congressman, while issuing bold pronouncements upholding the rioters, was taking no chances himself. At the height of the race trouble, Congressman Tom Abernethy in Washington removed his Mississippi license plates from his gleaming white car and hung District of Columbia tags in their place.

While Congress was hung up over peanuts, pensions, and pork-barrel projects, there was such a rush for the exits that the leaders had trouble rounding up enough votes to make the results official.

Elusive Legislators

Only 279 Congressmen could be flushed out of the cloakrooms and corridors, for example, to vote on the foreign aid bill.

The remaining 158 congressmen, or at least most of them, had lit out for home on a matter of higher priority: their own re-election.

Most of the Senators, facing re-election this year, also deserted the Senate and hit the campaign Trail. Among those who were missing during the final rollcalls: Aiken of Vermont, Bennett of Utah, Bottum of South Dakota, Capehart of Indiana, Carroll of Colorado, Clark of Pennsylvania, Fulbright of Arkansas, Gruening of Alaska, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Hickey of Wyoming, Jordan of Idaho, Long of Missouri, Magnuson of Washington, and Morton of Kentucky.

While Magnuson was away, the Senate voted to abolish the 6 per cent differential that Uncle Sam pays to West Coast shippers. California Sen. Clair Engle tried frantically to phone Magnuson and plead with him to use his considerable influence to block the measure in the Senate-House conference.

But Magnuson was cruising aboard the atomic merchant ship Savannah, off the Washington coast.

At least one Congressman sheepishly showed up in the House while the others were slipping home. He was Harlem's dashing and debonair Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, who rushed home from a government-paid vacation touring Europe's bright spots with two beautiful secretaries.

His publicity had preceded him, and he was greeted with mocking applause the first time he appeared on the House floor.

"Who else can come back from a trip like this," grinned Powell in an aside to Congressman Carroll Kearns, "and enter the chamber and receive such a rousing burst of applause?"

Teach The French?

PARIS

The other day I went to a movie called "A Touch of Mink," in which Cary Grant spends an hour-and-a-half attempting to seduce Doris Day. I sat directly behind a young French couple who, I soon discovered, knew no English. Consequently, since this picture is in English, this couple was totally dependent on the French subtitles.

Well, the film started to unroll itself, as the French express it, and the couple in front of me started to snuggle. Presently, Mr. Grant met Miss Day and made his first pass. Offered the girl a trip to Bermuda. All expenses paid. Moonlight. All that jazz. Sounds like elementary seduction, but Cary Grant brought to it, as he does to everything, a suavity, a polish, an assurance from which we can all profit.

But did the Frenchman in front of me profit? No. He was kissing his girl, his eyes closed. Couldn't see Cary Grant. Couldn't understand him. Missed the subtitles and everything. Well.

Anyhow, Miss Day—to get back to the picture—said she wasn't having any. In short, no. However, in calling Mr. Grant, to tell him no, she discovered Mr. Grant had withdrawn the offer. This so affronted her pride that Miss Day changed her no to yes. Well, I tell you: it's a lesson in feminine psychology in which every man interested in seduction (and what man isn't?) could well learn many things.

I glanced at the Frenchman to see if he was profiting from this wellspring of Hollywood wisdom. By God, he was at it again! Kissing the girl's neck. Murmuring French endearments. Missed the whole thing.

It went on like that for an hour-and-a-half. Mr. Grant went from one repulse after another, from Miss Day, from fate, and a couple from the Johnson office. Meanwhile, the Frenchman in front of me was missing one valuable lesson after another, fondling the girl. Not only was he missing everything, but also she was missing the edifying spectacle of Doris Day yielding slowly to Mr. Grant's blandishments. I mean, learning how to yield well takes learning, too, but this French girl didn't see any of it.

Mr. Grant finally gets Miss Day. Of course, he has to marry the girl. But he gets her. That's the point, the moral, the lesson to be drawn from this particular film.

The French couple weren't even there. They'd slipped off into the night a half-hour earlier. Probably never will know how the picture came out.

I don't know how the French will ever learn anything about seduction until they learn how to pay attention.

Just one other observation: the French use of the word "impossible" which I find intriguing. When you say, for example, "I think the laundry lost one of my shirts," the immediate French riposte is: "That's impossible!" Right away you know it's not only possible, it's highly probable you'll never see that shirt again.

The French, it seems to me, use "impossible" the way newspapermen use "alleged," as a sort of cure-all for all sorts of lawsuits and other unpleasantness. It's like that old legend at the front of books: "All characters in this book are fictitious and any resemblance to any character living or dead is purely coincidental." You never see that in any books unless all the characters, particularly the scummy ones, are taken directly from someone fearfully alive and prone to institute lawsuits.

Air Pollution Factor In Respiratory Disorders

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Several years ago a smog descended on Brisbane, Australia, and physicians began receiving telephone calls from patients with asthma. Hundreds of men and women started wheezing, and it was more than a coincidence because all of the attacks began within a brief period of time. Something in the smog was responsible.

Undoubtedly, many respiratory disorders are caused by air pollution. Smog accentuates the bad effects of contamination because it keeps the pollutants close to the earth. The chemical nature of the particles and gases also plays a role; some are more irritating or poisonous than others.

Normal air contains nitrogen, oxygen, and lesser amounts of argon, carbon dioxide, and several other trace elements. Civilized man has added a number of substances to this, usually in the form of dusts, fumes, mists, vapors, and gases. Some are harmful by themselves, whereas others become toxic only after they combine with other chemicals in the air.

This is important because physicians have noticed an increase in bronchitis and the more disabling lung conditions such as emphysema, bronchiectasis, and cancer. In addition, the death rate from respiratory diseases in this country has more than doubled since 1949.

Smoking is partly to blame because it is concentrated air pollution. But the noxious chemicals in dusts, fumes, and gases we are forced to breathe also are factors. The respiratory passageways teem with bacteria that cause few if any symptoms unless the membranes are irritated or congested. In the circumstances, the inhalation of the chemicals leads ultimately to disorders such as bronchitis or emphysema. Some of the chemicals constrict the bronchial tubes and this probably was responsible for the asthmatic attacks in Australia mentioned previously. Other chemicals are carcinogenic—that is, they are capable of causing cancer.

Years of exposure usually are necessary and some individuals are more susceptible than others. Air pollution is a matter of public action. All of us must cooperate to cut it down at the source.

TEA FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. M. writes: My husband and I like iced tea for dinner every night. Now the children want it too. They are ages 13, 10, and 6, and drink their full quota of milk. Is it safe to give them tea?

REPLY

A little tea will do no harm, provided it does not take the place of essential foods and does not keep them awake.

TIRED AFTER HEPATITIS

R. W. writes: My daughter was in the hospital 10 weeks with hepatitis. That was a year ago. She still tires easily. Does she need more blood tests?

REPLY

Only if your physician suspects the liver is responsible for the girl's fatigue.

ARMPIT PERSPIRATION

D. M. writes: Is it safe for children to use an antiperspirant in the armpits?

REPLY

Yes, but these products seldom are necessary because the sweat glands in the armpits are not fully developed until adolescence.

THYROID TABLETS

A. W. writes: Do people suffering from thyroid deficiency become invalids in time?

REPLY

No, because the deficiency can be corrected easily and quickly with thyroid extract. A tablet or two a day and the individaul is "alive" again.

MOVING STONES

E. P. K. writes: When a person has gallstones or kidney stones, can they be felt moving from place to place?

REPLY

Not unless the stones decide to leave the gall bladder or kidney. When this occurs the individual has the worst colicky pain he will ever encounter.

SHINGLES

M. H. writes: Do children ever get shingles?

REPLY

Yes, but the majority of victims are adults, particularly older persons.

TOMORROW: The eczematous infant.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Jack Kofoed swears he saw this happen in the dining room of a swanky Miami Beach hotel. A clumsy waiter spilled a plate of soup on the white jacket of an outraged guest. The manager rushed up immediately and purred, "Give that coat to me, sir. I'll have it sponged immediately and returned to you absolutely spotless before you've finished your meal."

Five minutes later, the waiter who had spilled the soup poked the guest indignantly on the shoulder, and demanded, "Don't you know you're not allowed in this dining room unless you're wearing a jacket?"

An underpaid English professor recently applied for a job of a highly technical nature at General Dynamics. "But you have none of the requirements," demurred the employment manager. "Whatever made you think you could hold down a position like this?" "Because," said the professor with great dignity, "this is probably the only chance you'll ever have of hiring a worker who has read 'Beowulf' twice in the original Anglo-Saxon."

A bragging session at recess in Clinton, Iowa, school produced this lively exchange: "You've learned about the Pacific Ocean? Well, my pa built the hole for it." "So what? You know about the Dead Sea? Well, it was my father who killed it!"

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Radio signals continue to come in clearly from the Mariner II space craft, though its millions of miles away. Guess we'll have to revise the meaning of that old phrase—"out of earshot."

The manager of a Huyton, England, dairy remained cool during a robbery in the store—the crooks made him stay in the refrigerator during the looting.

The planet Venus was once known as Lucifer—Factographs. At least, the present name is more ladylike!

At Keokuk, Iowa, a driverless truck carrying a 17-ton load of honey rolled down hill, bounced off a parked car, jumped a curb and sideswiped several trees. Hardly a bee-line!

Zadok Dumkopf announces he's quit playing those football pools—too often his selections prove all wet.

Mexico's National Institute of Anthropology plans to spend $1.3 million to restore the ancient Aztec city of Teotihuacan. While they're at it, they might change it's monicker to a more pronouncable name.

LAVALE PLAZA SHOPPING CENTER

OPEN MONDAY through SATURDAY
9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Sardine-Swiss Cheese Sandwiches

2 (3¾-ounce) cans sardines
12 slices rye bread
3 (2 ounces) slices natural Swiss cheese
1 large tomato

Arrange sardines on 6 slices of slices of rye bread. Cut each slice of cheese in half; place over sardines. Cut tomato into 6 thin slices; place 1 over cheese. Top with remaining bread slices. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

Hamburger Boats

Cut thin slice from tops of 8 rectangular hard rolls and hollow out. Shred inside of rolls to coarse crumbs and reserve shells. Saute 1 onion, minced, in 1 Tbsp. butter or margarine; add 1 lb. ground beef and brown well, breaking meat up with a fork. Blend in 1 Tbsp. A-1. Steak Sauce, 1 can (10½ oz.) mushroom soup, ¼ c. milk, ½ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. poultry seasoning. Add crumbs and heat well. Spoon while hot into heated roll shells. Makes 8 servings.

Frankfurter-Sauerkraut Sandwich

2 cups sauerkraut
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
⅓ cup sliced radishes
6 frankfurter buns
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 medium green pepper, sliced into 2-inch strips
1 medium onion, thinly sliced

Combine sauerkraut, salt, mayonnaise and radishes; place over low heat for about fifteen minutes to warm completely. While sauerkraut is heating, broil frankfurters; slice them lengthwise. Brush cut sides of buns with mustard. Place several green pepper strips over bottom of each bun; top with sauerkraut, broiled frankfurter, and onion rings. Cover each sandwich with bun top. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

Week's Food Economies

Shoppers are finding brightly colored tree-fresh apples in markets these fall days. This is National Apple Week. The crop of apples is adequate to supply everyone with the average consumption of nearly two thirds of a bushel of fresh and processed apples, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore office of the university of Maryland Department of Markets.

Many of the fresh market apples this time of the year come from Maryland orchards as well as nearby states of Deleware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia and others. Dry weather has caused some fruit to be small in size, but quality is generally very good.

When selecting apples be sure to choose those that are firm, of good color and flavor. Flavor is a characteristic of a particular variety. You can use apples to best advantage if you are familiar with the variety and its uses.

Medium-size apples are often more economical and the best choice for general use. Large-size apples are excellent for dessert uses, small-size fruit good for cutting and cooking or for children to eat out of hand. Buy amounts you can store properly. Enjoy the juice of apples either as apple juice or cider. Apples are one of the best buys on the fruit market.

Tokay grapes are also on the best-buy list. Prices are low and quality high on Tokays. The best citrus buy is frozen orange juice. Early season grapefruit from Florida has started to reach local markets. Cranberries are also available.

Now is the time to watch for and take advantage of canned goods specials. Take advantage of sales when they fit into your meal plans if you have storage space in your home that is cool, dry and dark.

At the vegetable counter the best buys will be found in white potatoes, sweet potatoes and cabbage. Other seasonal items in good supply are cauliflower and cooking greens.

Prune Cottage Cheese Souffle

Crusty outside, fluffy inside and filled with the tart-sweet meatiness of prunes.

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
4 eggs, separated
¾ cup plumped finely chopped prunes
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy; add egg yolks and beat until thoroughly blended. Add prunes. Press cottage cheese through sieve; add cheese with sour cream and lemon juice to prune mixture. Beat egg whites stiff; fold into prune mixture. Pour into greased 2-quart casserole and set in shallow pan of boiling water. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 1 hour. Serve immediately. Makes 6-8 servings.

Wife Preservers

Fruited Pork Chops

6 pork chops, cut 1 inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup plumped chopped prunes
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup finely chopped nuts
¼ teaspoon salt
1 thick slice bread, cubed

Sprinkle chops on both sides with salt and pepper. With a sharp knife cut a pocket in meaty part of chop to hold stuffing. Combine remaining ingredients and blend well. Place about ¼ cup of stuffing in each chop. Brown chops lightly in skillet. Place in 9" x 12" baking dish. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes or until tender. If desired, spread with sour cream just before removing from oven. Makes 6 servings.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

"I DO NOT CHOOSE TO BE A COMMON MAN" — These were the words of Dean Alfange, in expressing what it means to him to be an American. Continuing, he said: "It is my right to be uncommon — if I can. I seek opportunity, not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want ot take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, This I have done. All this is what it means to be an American."

RUSSIA ESTABLISHING NAVAL BASES IN CUBA — The announcement of Communist Dictator Castro to the effect that a "major port" for a Soviet "fishing fleet" would be built at Havana with Soviet help fooled no one. It will be a Russian naval base. On Cuba's east coats, along the deep-water Bay of Nipe, heavy construction, supervised by Russian technicians, is already under way. The Soviets plan to have at least two basing areas in Cuba for missile and missile-carrying submarines. Military personnel from Russia continue to flow into Cuba. Arms and heavy munitions from Russia continue to flow into Cuba. The shadow of the hammer and sickle is darkening the Western Hemisphere.

Officials in Washington are saying privately that this threat to us, this Soviet aggression into the Western Hemisphere, can be ended only by military action to overthrow the Castro regime. The longer that action is delayed the tougher will be the job.

President Kennedy in his last week's press conference warned the Soviets that the United States would use force to defend its security at three points: the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba; passage to the Panama Canal; and space and missile activities at Cape Canaveral. Fine! But why stop there? Are we to accept Russian military and naval bases in Cuba? A weak policy has brought us to this plight; a continuation of weak policy will not get us out of it. When are we to stop retreating?

What should be do? It seems to me that we should officially recognize a Cuban Government-in-Exile, located on our soil, and give aid for the proper training and equipping of its military forces (already 75,000 strong) for an effective military action to throw out the Communist regime in Havana. (We have recognized other governments-in-exile, including Chiang Kae-shek's Chinese Nationalist Government, which we have aided.)

"MINUTEMAN" MISSILE VERY REASSURING—It has been disclosed to the public that the Air Force's new "Minuteman" ICBM (intercontinental ballistic missile) can take off from its underground hard-site silos in a matter of seconds, — and this makes the United States more secure. The other United States ICBMs, the "Atlas" and "Titan", take about 15 minutes to be fired. While this is adequate to get them off their pads or out of their silos, given a 30-minute warning of "enemy missiles sighted—by radar", the 32-second blast-off credited to the solid-fuel ICBM, the "Minuteman", makes our military and civilian leaders more confident.

MONSTROUS GOVERNMENT —The Federal government owns 771,512,000 acres of land, which is one acre in every three of the total land of the country. The Government owns 405,443 biulding. In addition, an agency of the Government, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, holds real estate mortgages on private property totaling $2,704,413,000. The Government owns 54 electrical projects with a kilowatt capacity amounting to one-tenth of the capacity of all electric utilities of the nation.

This illustrates how the Federal government, reaching out to control virtually every facet of our private lives, has already swollen to monstrous proportions. Unfortunately, there are those in key advisory positions who would have the Federal government go even further toward complete control and regimentation of all social, cultural and economic activities in the country to advance their political aims.

WHITE HOUSE ADVISER BELITTLES "AVERAGE AMERICAN" — New Frontiersman Harvard Professor Seymour Harris recently stated that his group is "well aware of the measures needed" but is hamstrung, because "the Administration faces the difficulty that many of the modern ideas of economics have not percolated to Congress or its constituencies. It takes a long time for modern ideas to get across to the average American."

Professor Harris revealed what he had in the back of his mind when he went on to say that "most economists" have accepted the Keynesian doctrine (of government intervention in private business). Criticizing principles of the American Constitution, the Presidential adviser said that "it is unfortunate" that our Constitution "was written at a time when the British government was in disrepute and its parliamentary system not working well." (He was talking about the Constitution the President swore to defend and uphold.)

FREE ENTERPRISE WINS A VICTORY — The position of the American businessmen who demured at revealing to a Senate subcommittee data involving competitive secrets has been upheld. The full Senate Judiciary Committee refused to go along with its subcommittee which had attempted to cite the businessmen for contempt for refusing to divulge confidential information on which they based their competition with other companies, particularly foreign companies. The businessmen are officials of companies in the steel industry, which previously had been under attack by President John Kennedy and Attorney General Robert Kennedy. The Judiciary Committee's action is a victory for free enterprise.

THE SPACE RACE: A REPORT — Astronaut Shirra's orbital flight on Wednesday invites a comparison of space accomplishments of the United States and Russia. In the five years since Russia sent into orbit her first satellite, Sputnik I, she has successfully launched 24 space shots; during the same period, the United States has successfully launched 79 space shots. Here's the record:

| 1957 | 2 | 0 |
| 1958 | 1 | 8 |
| 1959 | 3 | 11 |
| 1960 | 3 | 16 |
| 1961 | 6 | 31 |
| 1962 | 9 | 13 |
| Total | 24 | 79 |

It was our satellites which sent back the first information about the shape of the earth, magnetic belts, cosmic radiation, and many other secrets of space. In the months ahead there will be further broadening of our space program. The Space Administration proposes to launch 40 to 50 new space vehicles during the next 12 months, and during the same period our Armed Services will conduct some 200 space shots.

Dr. Seaborg, head of the Atomic Energy Commission, has announced that the United States will send a manned spacecraft to Mars in the 1970s, that the men will remain on Mars one month and then return to Earth, the entire trip taking one year.

TILL WE MEET AGAIN — SO LONG! — As Congress is adjourning, this will be our last "Senate Cloakroom" for this session, except for a summary of the major legislation considered in this session, the summary to follow in two weeks. During the adjournment, I hope to get around the State and talk with many Marylanders. In any event, I'll be talking with you right here in the "Senate Cloakroom" in January, when the new Congress will convene.

Orange Carrot Molded Salad

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup sugar
3 cups Florida orange juice, divided
2 teaspoons grated or minced onion
2 tablespoons vinegar
4 cups finely grated carrot

Combine gelatine, salt and sugar. Add 1 cup of the orange juice and stir over low heat until gelatine dissolves. Add remaining 2 cups orange juice, onion and vinegar. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in grated carrot. Pour into 1-quart mold or individual molds and refrigerate until firm. To unmold, dip quickly into hot water to loosen edges; turn out onto serving platter. Garnish with salad greens if desired.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Scrambled Eggs And Sardines

For a new savory treat the next time you are scrambling eggs include a few tiny Norwegian sardines. As soon as the eggs begin to set, arrange the whole sardines over the eggs and cook a few minutes longer. Oh, so good.

Prune Cottage Cheese Souffle

Crusty outside, fluffy inside and filled with the tart-sweet meatiness of prunes.

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
4 eggs, separated
¾ cup plumped finely chopped prunes
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy; add egg yolks and beat until thoroughly blended. Add prunes. Press cottage cheese through sieve; add cheese with sour cream and lemon juice to prune mixture. Beat egg whites stiff; fold into prune mixture. Pour into greased 2-quart casserole and set in shallow pan of boiling water. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 1 hour. Serve immediately. Makes 6-8 servings.

Wife Preservers

Fruited Pork Chops

6 pork chops, cut 1 inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup plumped chopped prunes
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup finely chopped nuts
¼ teaspoon salt
1 thick slice bread, cubed

Sprinkle chops on both sides with salt and pepper. With a sharp knife cut a pocket in meaty part of chop to hold stuffing. Combine remaining ingredients and blend well. Place about ¼ cup of stuffing in each chop. Brown chops lightly in skillet. Place in 9" x 12" baking dish. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes or until tender. If desired, spread with sour cream just before removing from oven. Makes 6 servings.

YOU CAN ENJOY AN "ADVENTURE IN SPACE" FOR AS LITTLE AS $1.05

Don't get us wrong. They haven't put a price on rocket trip tickets yet. We are talking about newspaper space . . . the kind of space that works so well to deliver your message when you use a Want Ad.

We call it an adventure because so many first time Want Ad users have been so pleasantly surprised at the way people respond to their ads. A little three line ad doesn't look like much but thousands of people will read it.

Next time you have a need to sell something, find something, hire someone or rent something, remember the Want Ads. Take an adventure in space, space buying, that is. Buy three lines in the Times-News Want Ad pages and see how profitable your adventure can be.

The $1.05 we mentioned is the price of a 15-word ad for one day, morning and evening on a week-day or Sunday Times only on a Sunday; paid for in advance at our office or mailed to us with payment in advance.

To place your ad, or obtain further information without obligation, dial the Want Ad number, 722-4600. The minimum cost of an ad if we charge it to you is only $1.50.

Leadership Class Opens At St. Luke's

Fifty members of four Lutheran congregations in Allegany County are participating in a six-week Mountain Conference Lutheran Leadership School in St. Luke's Church, Frederick Street.

The instruction is a cooperative effort on the parts of St. John's Church, St. Luke's Church and St. Paul's Church in Cumberland; St. Paul's Church, Frostburg, and Mt. Calvary Church, Westernport.

The instructors and their courses are:

Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Church, "Our Neighbors' Churches"; Rev. Robert Logan, minister of education of St. John's Church, "Helping Children Know the Bible", and Rev. Frederick Simmel, Mt. Calvary, "Gospel of St. John".

The courses started October 1 and will continue for five consecutive Mondays at St. Luke's Church.

Ronald Chapman of St. Luke's congregation is dean of the leadership school which is being sponsored for the youth and adults of the five participating churches.

Reds Hold Manuevers

WARSAW (UPI) — Polish, Soviet and East German troops have been carrying out large-scale maneuvers on the Baltic coast, the official news agency PAP reported Wednesday. The maneuvers, held under the Warsaw Pact framework, were under command of Polish Defense Minister Gen. Marian Spychalski.

Edwin F. Alt Found Guilty Of Assault And Battery

The Alt-Shoemaker case in Hampshire County Circuit Court at Romney finally came to an end Tuesday.

The case was making its third appearance in the Romney court Tuesday. Twice before the case ended in a hung jury.

Tuesday's re-trial of Edwin F. Alt, 33, Cabins, W. Va., charged with assault, kidnapping and robbery of Thomas Shoemaker, 73, of Junction, W. Va., finally ended when the state and attorneys for the defense reached an agreement to change the charges to assault and battery.

After the formal charge was read by Judge H. G. Muntzing, attorneys for Alt entered a plea of "nolle contender," no contest. Alt was found guilty and fined $100 on the charge.

The case first developed last winter when Shoemaker informed authorities that Alt entered his grocery store and robbed him of $225.

Shoemaker told authorities that after the robbery the defendant and his brother forced him (Shoemaker) into their car and drove to the Burlington area. They then allegedly forced Shoemaker to lie face down in a field while they made their getaway.

Following the incident, Shoemaker was admitted to Hampshire County Memorial Hospital in Romney where he was treated for exposure and wounds sustained when the men allegedly struck and beat him.

Court attaches said that during the first two hearings Shoemaker was unable to provide positive identification of the defendant. Thus, both cases ended in a hung jury.

Pied Piper Nursery Begins Operation Here

The Pied Piper Nursery has opened in the building on Baltimore Avenue formerly occupied by the Keating Memorial Day Nursery.

Registration was held over the weekend and children began attending Monday. Enrollment is being continued until the maximum limit is reached.

Added features are a library, little theatre, three large playrooms, one of which has a connecting TV room, music room, tiled dining room and kitchen.

Carey Selby, manager, said the nursery will be open daily from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. except Sunday, with a staff of seven.

The nursery has been approved by the Allegany County Health Department, the City Fire Department and the city engineer's office.

Hearing Set For Four Youths In Theft Cases

A hearing has been set next Wednesday in Juvenile Court for four youths who were questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's office concerning the thefts of items April 15 from the Bowler and the LaVale Shopping Center.

Four persons were questioned today in the State's Attorney's Office concerning the thefts of items April 15 from The Bowler and the LaVale Shopping Center.

Sgt. William F. Baker and Tfc. Milton Hart, criminal investigators for the Maryland State Police, said the case involves three older boys and a minor.

The loot stolen included an $85 camera, a set of automobile mirrors, two transistor radios, whisky and other items. Authorities estimated the stolen loot amount to $150 to $200.

The case developed as a result of an investigation of Sgt. Baker and Tfc. Hart with Cpl. Robert Armstrong of the West Virginia State Police.

Authorities said the four were released in the custody of their parents pending action of Juvenile Court.

Youth Text Planned At Bruce Oct. 13

The nationwide Senate Youth Program Test will be given Saturday, October 13 in Bruce High School, according to Mrs. Catherine McGiboney, co-advisor of the western region of student councils in Maryland.

Mrs. McGiboney said the purposes of the program are to broaden the knowledge and understanding of Congress and the legislative process among high school students, to demonstrate importance of a freely elected democratic system of government, and to dramatize the crucial role performed by local citizens in the maintenance of such a government.

Fifty-five semi-finalists in Maryland will participate in the state examinations, and six finalists will deliver an oration. Two student leaders from each state who emerge as winners will attend a program in Washington.

Mrs. McGiboney said the objectives of the program will be achieved through a week-long program in Washington, directed and supervised by a Senate Advisory Committee of Senators, Senate assistants, and personnel from the William Randolph Hearst Foundation and the American Political Science Association.

This program will consist of meetings with members of Congress, the executive branch, and the staff of the Senate. There will also be an opportunity to observe directly the operation of the Senate and its committees, as well as to participate in small group discussions.

The students being tested are currently serving in an elected capacity in a student government, a student council office, or a class office in the sophomore, junior or senior years. The competition is open to all students regardless of race, color or creed. Private schools are included in the test.

The group taking the test at Bruce consists of students from Valley, Allegany, Oldtown, Fort Hill, Beall, Bruce, Mt. Savage, St. Peters, LaSalle, Ursuline, Girls Central and Southern Garrett County. Eighty-four are registered to be tested.

Leadership Class Opens At St. Luke's

Fifty members of four Lutheran congregations in Allegany County are participating in a six-week Mountain Conference Lutheran Leadership School in St. Luke's Church, Frederick Street.

The instruction is a cooperative effort on the parts of St. John's Church, St. Luke's Church and St. Paul's Church in Cumberland; St. Paul's Church, Frostburg, and Mt. Calvary Church, Westernport.

The instructors and their courses are:

Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Church, "Our Neighbors' Churches"; Rev. Robert Logan, minister of education of St. John's Church, "Helping Children Know the Bible", and Rev. Frederick Simmel, Mt. Calvary, "Gospel of St. John".

The courses started October 1 and will continue for five consecutive Mondays at St. Luke's Church.

Ronald Chapman of St. Luke's congregation is dean of the leadership school which is being sponsored for the youth and adults of the five participating churches.

Edwin F. Alt Found Guilty Of Assault And Battery

The Alt-Shoemaker case in Hampshire County Circuit Court at Romney finally came to an end Tuesday.

The case was making its third appearance in the Romney court Tuesday. Twice before the case ended in a hung jury.

Tuesday's re-trial of Edwin F. Alt, 33, Cabins, W. Va., charged with assault, kidnapping and robbery of Thomas Shoemaker, 73, of Junction, W. Va., finally ended when the state and attorneys for the defense reached an agreement to change the charges to assault and battery.

After the formal charge was read by Judge H. G. Muntzing, attorneys for Alt entered a plea of "nolle contender," no contest. Alt was found guilty and fined $100 on the charge.

The case first developed last winter when Shoemaker informed authorities that Alt entered his grocery store and robbed him of $225.

Shoemaker told authorities that after the robbery the defendant and his brother forced him (Shoemaker) into their car and drove to the Burlington area. They then allegedly forced Shoemaker to lie face down in a field while they made their getaway.

Following the incident, Shoemaker was admitted to Hampshire County Memorial Hospital in Romney where he was treated for exposure and wounds sustained when the men allegedly struck and beat him.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — If you were to ask me which young star has the greatest future, I would have to say — Carol Burnett. There isn't a studio that hasn't offered her a film contract. She's wanted for "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," the movie Larry Weingarten is going to make at MGM, but there's nothing settled on that yet.

She has, however, signed a contract to star in Jule Styne's bright new musical for Broadway "The Unfair Sex," which goes into rehearsal next June with a Broadway opening early in the fall.

Carol hurt her back the day she left Hollywood for the east, and was in misery while she was taping the guest spot on Jack Benny's TV show.

You can be sure that James Bassett's book, "Harm's Way," which won't be published until Thanksgiving, is a thriller and exciting because Otto Preminger doesn't buy any other kind for a movie. Yes, Otto has acquired this story which deals with the high command of the United States Navy in the Pacific during the first year of World War II starting the day of the Pearl Harbor attack.

Author Bassett hasn't led a dull life himself. He was Admiral Halsey's press aide during the wartimes he writes about. Also he was campaign director for Richard Nixon in 1956 and 1960 and is currently chief political analyst on a Los Angeles newspaper. Like most of Preminger's films coming up, this will be for Columbia release.

Marlon Brando not only showed up for the one and only preview of "Mutiny on the Bounty" in Denver, he remained in his seat during intermission and signed at least 100 autograph books, shook hands with fans, even posed for a picture or two—just like he did it all the time. So enthusiastic was the audience to "Mutiny" that even the MGM brass, who have a $26,000,000 investment in the spectacle, gave Brando pats on the back.

But for the return trip to Hollywood, Marlon who likes to be alone, reverted to type and cancelled out his plane reservations. Instead, he rented a car to drive back to Hollywood and proved he was himself again by saying he wanted to stop off and visit a couple of Indian reservations (??????!)

It was a sad mission back to London for David Niven after receiving word on the set of "55 Days at Peking" in Madrid, that his former father-in-law, William Rollo, had died after being thrown from a horse and suffering a broken neck, the 72-year-old man was the father of David's first wife, Primula, and they had remained the closest of friends since her death.

It must have struck a chill to David's heart, the similarity of the accident to Primula's own death. Fifteen years ago, she had fallen down the stairs of the Tyrone Power home in Hollywood and broken her neck. Primula died without gaining consciousness. Mr. Rollo was the grandfather of David's two sons, David 19, and Jaimie, 17.

It's a good thing the young Greek actor discovered by Elia Kazan in Athens for his film "America America" wasn't discovered by Henry Willson. Can you imagine what Henry (who named Rock Hudson, Tab Hunter, Rip Torn and half a dozen others) would have done to the name Stathis Gillealis? He'd probably have come up with Stash Granite.

Joking aside, Kazan has promised Stathis that he won't change his name and will try to work it onto theatre marquees in the U.S.A. He was sold when Gillealis (pronounced jill-e-allis) told him, "I am very proud of my name."

Gene Barry won't have to worry about where his champagne and caviar are coming from for at least a year. Next spring, he'll co-star with Doris Day in "The Lady and the Bandit" at MGM, a deal which is the outgrowth of Gene's current appearance in Marty Melcher's "The Perfect Setup." The play just closed it's tryout run in San Francisco and moves on to Broadway the end of the month with Gene, Angie Dickinson and Jan Sterling.

"The Lady and the Bandit" is a comedy (starring Doris, what else) about a gal back in the days of suffragettes who ties in with a bandit to protect her while she's campaigning to get votes for her sex. Lamont Johnson will direct from Horace McCoy's story.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Salome Jens had 24 hours off from her rehearsals in Sidney Kingsley's new play "Night Life" when she flew to Balboa for the wedding of her sister Annette Jens to Anthony Zerbe. Salome dashed back to New York the same night. "Night Life" opens at the Brooks Atkinson Theatre Oct. 23.

Back in Hollywood after a year of La Dolce living in Italy, Dewey Martin says he's here to stay. He has just been signed for "Savage Sam" for Walt Disney.

Not that she's superstitious, but Wendy Hiller has taken the same apartment she had here five years ago when she was appearing in "Separate Tables," the movie that won her an Academy Award.

Andy Williams, a busy boy, took time out to take his bride Claudine Longet to the Villa Capri for dinner. Neither of these two has to watch their diet.

Deborah Walley is being repaid for her disappointment in not having Columbia wait for her for "Gidget Goes to Rome." Debbie goes to England with her husband John Ashley to spend the Christmas holidays with Hayley Mills (her co-star in "Summer Magic") and Hayley's wonderful family, Mary and John Mills.

Red letter week for Ozzie and Harriet Nelson. Wednesday was their 27th wedding anniversary. Thursday they open their 11th year of the Ozzie and Harriet TV show, and it's 19 years ago that they did their first family show on radio. This is what you might call permanent employment for the Nelsons and their two sons, Ricky and David.

Eddie Albert has gone back to London to co-star with Patricia Neal in the three hour BBC presentation of "The Country Girl," which is being done just as it was on the stage. Remember the motion picture won Grace Kelly an Academy Award.

Futurity Race For Pigeons Planned Sunday

The Allegany Racing Pigeon Club will sponsor its Futurity Race on Sunday when homing piegons released in Cincinnati, Ohio, will fly 300 miles to their lofts in the Cumberland area.

"Chilley Red," a bird belonging to R. L. Spiker, owner of the Wing Ridge Loft on Uhl Highway, won last Sunday's race from Chillicothe, Ohio, a distance of 225 miles, the sixth of a scheduled eight races in the fall series.

Other owners with birds in the first 10 finalists include D. A. Shafer, J & H Sweitzer, C. A. Smith, Dale Vanderhout and W. B. Ornderff. One hundred sixty-six birds from 13 lofts were entered.

The winner of the fifth race September 30 from Chillicothe was a pigeon owned by Mr. Spiker. Its speed was 1444.57 yards per minute.

M. M. Green is owner of the pigeon which placed first September 23 in the race which originated in Athens, Ohio, a distance of 175 miles from here.

In the third race held September 16 from Athens, Mr. Spiker's Grizzle No. 20 was winner with a speed of 1152.68 ypm.

On September 9 the second race in the fall series began in West Union, W. Va., 100 miles distance. Mr. Green's "Pamie" won that race.

Oakland Man Fined In Fatal Accident

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (UPI) —Mrs. Mary F. Jackson, 54, Harpers Ferry, was killed and two other persons were injured, one of them critically, Tuesday in a car-truck collision on fog-covered U. S. 340, about four miles from here.

Authorities said Mrs. Jackson was riding in a car driven by her husband, Daniel D. Jackson, 61. Jackson sustained serious injuries and another passenger, Calvin M. Taylor, 18, also of Harpers Ferry, was listed in critical condition yesterday at Charles Town General Hospital.

Police said the Jackson car collided head-on with a tractor-trailer truck operated by Joseph A. Ashby, 37, Oakland, Md. Ashby, who was not hurt, pleaded "no contest" to a negligent homicide charge and paid $110 in fines plus costs.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 173 One of the most colorful of the Confederate generals seems not to have received full-bodied attention from biographers. No biography of John Bankhead Magruder is singled out in the new reference key, "American Civil War Bibliography" (published by the New York & Pennsylvania Co.).

Magruder, a Virginian, who went from West Point (class of 1830) to service on the frontier, the Seminole War and the Mexican War (in which he won two brevets for gallantry in action), was a captain in 1861. He resigned to enter the Virginia forces as a colonel. He was hailed as a hero in the South when the skirmish at Big Bethel, in which Union forces were repulsed, was announced by the Confederate government as a great victory for Magruder.

Advanced to major general, Magruder was in command of the Rebel forces on the Virginia peninsula when McClellan sought to make the peninsula a route to Richmond in the spring of 1862. Magruder introduced anti-personnel mines into warfare as a defensive measure on the peninsula. In holding the bulk of McClellan's army south of the Chickahominy during the battles of Mechanicsville and Gaines's Mill he showed "an aptitude for independent command and an ability to bluff an adversary," in the judgment of D. S. Freeman. (More here later about "Prince John" Magruder.

—CLARK KINNAIRD

J. B. Magruder.

SIDELIGHT: Winchester, in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, changed hands 76 times in the ebb and flow of the Confederate and Union forces.

[←] John Bankhead Magruder and his autograph. He was known to officers in the Union Army with whom he had served as "Prince John." The nickname "came from his courtly manner and reputation for lavish entertainment while stationed at Newport, R. I.," it is stated. After Lee's surrender, Magruder refused parole, became a general in Emperor Maximilian's army of mercenaries in Mexico. [K.F.S.]

West Virginia Paper Mill Passes Major Safety Milestone

Employes of West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Luke mill passed a major safety milestone Monday when they completed 70 days and a total of 1,000,000 man hours without a lost time accident or disabling injury.

The new safety record was reached shortly after 4 p.m., Monday, when the Luke mill's over 2,400 employees amassed the total of 1,000,000 accident - free man hours.

In announcing the record, William M. Thompson, production manager, explained that the Luke mill had gone 70 days since the last lost time injury July 31. He added that although this is the first time the Luke mill has reached the charmed circle, mill employes completed 65 days for about 850,000 man hours without a lost time injury last year.

He announced that all Luke mill employes will receive an appropriate gift in recognition of their safety efforts.

The Luke mill has a 43% improvement in its lost time injury record in the last five years.

Woman Protests Fining Of Son In Bridge Case

Mrs. James Frankenberry of Mt. Savage appeared at Tuesday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to protest the fact that her son was fined $25 by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt for driving his automobile over a newly-built bridge on Dutch Hollow Road in the Mt. Savage area.

The son pleaded guilty last Wednesday before Magistrate Weatherholt on a charge of "failing to obey instructions on a traffic control device." Another defendant also was fined $25.

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, told Mrs. Frankenberry that the Roads Department had numerous complaints of motorists driving over the bridge. He said the drivers had moved the barricade which advised drivers not to use the bridge until the concrete dried.

Sgt. William F. Baker, acting county investigator, testified at the trial last week that the bridge had been barricaded September 24, 25 and 26 but was used by some motorists who removed the barricades.

Tire Firms Will Meet Here Today

Today a group of 20 to 25 representatives of the major tire manufacturing companies in America will meet at the Cumberland Country Club at 9:30 a. m. to plan for the promotion of the tire industry's committee of the Auto Industry Highway Safety Committee next year.

Hal Barber, of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company's advertising and sales promotion department, will be chairman of the local event.

Representatives of the public relations departments, sales and advertising units of Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Royal, Firestone and Kelly tire firms will be here.

This is the first time the national group has met in Cumberland.

Following the meeting a luncheon will be held and some of the visiting tire officials will play golf in the afternoon.

Allegany Co. Apple Harvest Is Reported Good By Farm Agent

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, in a summary of the agriculture production this year stated that there was a very good apple crop in Allegany County but that the Hancock area had less production.

Allegany County apples have an excellent color and harvesting is underway.

Pastures in most areas are still short. Hay crops vary in the county with a few farmers making more hay this year than last. On the average the hay crops were short this year due to the long drought.

Steger said that farmers should fertilize their alfalfa now so that the production next year will come in strong. Spraying for weevil is also advised for this fall along with the fertilization.

Corn crops were also short this year and the cool summer and dry weather caused this situation, Steger said. In some areas a killing frost came early and stopped the corn growth.

Rouen, France, is historically famous as the town where Joan of Arc was burned at the stake in 1431. The tower where she was imprisoned still stands.

Celanese Is Thanked For Land Donation

A letter of thanks was sent to the Celanese Fibers Company Tuesday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners for the donation of 20.4 acres of land on McMullen Highway to the county.

The tract, located on the north side of the highway near the Amcelle plant, will be used by the county for a new garage. The present county garage at Franklin Street on the county farm will be moved to the new site.

Signed by John J. Rowan, board president, and Commissioners John T. Mason and Louis V. Shinnamon, the letter stated that the donation is appreciated very much as it will save the county a large amount of money which would have been required to provide a new garage site.

The county board has also agreed to give the Board of Education a large tract of land on the county farm for the erection of a new junior high school.

This will be a further saving of money as no land will have to be purchased for the new school. There are also sewer lines and water lines into the county farm property and this will be an additional large saving in the cost of the new junior high school.

Commissioner Rowan, whose many years of service to the Celanese company was sited by the firm as the basic reason for donating the land to the county, said that county workers will start to "swamp out" the new tract in preparation for eventual transfer of the garage.

The Board of Education has completed preliminary work in having the county farm tract survey and topographical map prepared. Design work on the new school plant is also underway.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — If you were to ask me which young star has the greatest future, I would have to say — Carol Burnett. There isn't a studio that hasn't offered her a film contract. She's wanted for "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," the movie Larry Weingarten is going to make at MGM, but there's nothing settled on that yet.

She has, however, signed a contract to star in Jule Styne's bright new musical for Broadway "The Unfair Sex," which goes into rehearsal next June with a Broadway opening early in the fall.

Carol hurt her back the day she left Hollywood for the east, and was in misery while she was taping the guest spot on Jack Benny's TV show.

You can be sure that James Bassett's book, "Harm's Way," which won't be published until Thanksgiving, is a thriller and exciting because Otto Preminger doesn't buy any other kind for a movie. Yes, Otto has acquired this story which deals with the high command of the United States Navy in the Pacific during the first year of World War II starting the day of the Pearl Harbor attack.

Author Bassett hasn't led a dull life himself. He was Admiral Halsey's press aide during the wartimes he writes about. Also he was campaign director for Richard Nixon in 1956 and 1960 and is currently chief political analyst on a Los Angeles newspaper. Like most of Preminger's films coming up, this will be for Columbia release.

Marlon Brando not only showed up for the one and only preview of "Mutiny on the Bounty" in Denver, he remained in his seat during intermission and signed at least 100 autograph books, shook hands with fans, even posed for a picture or two—just like he did it all the time. So enthusiastic was the audience to "Mutiny" that even the MGM brass, who have a $26,000,000 investment in the spectacle, gave Brando pats on the back.

But for the return trip to Hollywood, Marlon who likes to be alone, reverted to type and cancelled out his plane reservations. Instead, he rented a car to drive back to Hollywood and proved he was himself again by saying he wanted to stop off and visit a couple of Indian reservations (??????!)

It was a sad mission back to London for David Niven after receiving word on the set of "55 Days at Peking" in Madrid, that his former father-in-law, William Rollo, had died after being thrown from a horse and suffering a broken neck, the 72-year-old man was the father of David's first wife, Primula, and they had remained the closest of friends since her death.

It must have struck a chill to David's heart, the similarity of the accident to Primula's own death. Fifteen years ago, she had fallen down the stairs of the Tyrone Power home in Hollywood and broken her neck. Primula died without gaining consciousness. Mr. Rollo was the grandfather of David's two sons, David 19, and Jaimie, 17.

It's a good thing the young Greek actor discovered by Elia Kazan in Athens for his film "America America" wasn't discovered by Henry Willson. Can you imagine what Henry (who named Rock Hudson, Tab Hunter, Rip Torn and half a dozen others) would have done to the name Stathis Gillealis? He'd probably have come up with Stash Granite.

Joking aside, Kazan has promised Stathis that he won't change his name and will try to work it onto theatre marquees in the U.S.A. He was sold when Gillealis (pronounced jill-e-allis) told him, "I am very proud of my name."

Gene Barry won't have to worry about where his champagne and caviar are coming from for at least a year. Next spring, he'll co-star with Doris Day in "The Lady and the Bandit" at MGM, a deal which is the outgrowth of Gene's current appearance in Marty Melcher's "The Perfect Setup." The play just closed it's tryout run in San Francisco and moves on to Broadway the end of the month with Gene, Angie Dickinson and Jan Sterling.

"The Lady and the Bandit" is a comedy (starring Doris, what else) about a gal back in the days of suffragettes who ties in with a bandit to protect her while she's campaigning to get votes for her sex. Lamont Johnson will direct from Horace McCoy's story.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Salome Jens had 24 hours off from her rehearsals in Sidney Kingsley's new play "Night Life" when she flew to Balboa for the wedding of her sister Annette Jens to Anthony Zerbe. Salome dashed back to New York the same night. "Night Life" opens at the Brooks Atkinson Theatre Oct. 23.

Back in Hollywood after a year of La Dolce living in Italy, Dewey Martin says he's here to stay. He has just been signed for "Savage Sam" for Walt Disney.

Not that she's superstitious, but Wendy Hiller has taken the same apartment she had here five years ago when she was appearing in "Separate Tables," the movie that won her an Academy Award.

Andy Williams, a busy boy, took time out to take his bride Claudine Longet to the Villa Capri for dinner. Neither of these two has to watch their diet.

Deborah Walley is being repaid for her disappointment in not having Columbia wait for her for "Gidget Goes to Rome." Debbie goes to England with her husband John Ashley to spend the Christmas holidays with Hayley Mills (her co-star in "Summer Magic") and Hayley's wonderful family, Mary and John Mills.

Red letter week for Ozzie and Harriet Nelson. Wednesday was their 27th wedding anniversary. Thursday they open their 11th year of the Ozzie and Harriet TV show, and it's 19 years ago that they did their first family show on radio. This is what you might call permanent employment for the Nelsons and their two sons, Ricky and David.

Eddie Albert has gone back to London to co-star with Patricia Neal in the three hour BBC presentation of "The Country Girl," which is being done just as it was on the stage. Remember the motion picture won Grace Kelly an Academy Award.

October 21 is pencilled in as the date Keely Smith opens at the Cocoanut Grove.

Futurity Race For Pigeons Planned Sunday

The Allegany Racing Pigeon Club will sponsor its Futurity Race on Sunday when homing piegons released in Cincinnati, Ohio, will fly 300 miles to their lofts in the Cumberland area.

"Chilley Red," a bird belonging to R. L. Spiker, owner of the Wing Ridge Loft on Uhl Highway, won last Sunday's race from Chillicothe, Ohio, a distance of 225 miles, the sixth of a scheduled eight races in the fall series.

Other owners with birds in the first 10 finalists include D. A. Shafer, J & H Sweitzer, C. A. Smith, Dale Vanderhout and W. B. Orndorff. One hundred sixty-six birds from 13 lofts were entered.

The winner of the fifth race September 30 from Chillicothe was a pigeon owned by Mr. Spiker. Its speed was 1444.57 yards per minute.

M. M. Green is owner of the pigeon which placed first September 23 in the race which originated in Athens, Ohio, a distance of 175 miles from here.

In the third race held September 16 from Athens, Mr. Spiker's Grizzle No. 20 was winner with a speed of 1152.68 ypm.

On September 9 the second race in the fall series began in West Union, W. Va., 100 miles distance. Mr. Green's "Pamie" won that race.

Oakland Man Fined In Fatal Accident

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (UPI) —Mrs. Mary F. Jackson, 54, Harpers Ferry, was killed and two other persons were injured, one of them critically, Tuesday in a car-truck collision on fog-covered U. S. 340, about four miles from here.

Authorities said Mrs. Jackson was riding in a car driven by her husband, Daniel D. Jackson, 61. Jackson sustained serious injuries and another passenger, Calvin M. Taylor, 18, also of Harpers Ferry, was listed in critical condition yesterday at Charles Town General Hospital.

Police said the Jackson car collided head-on with a tractor-trailer truck operated by Joseph A. Ashby, 37, Oakland, Md. Ashby, who was not hurt, pleaded "no contest" to a negligent homicide charge and paid $110 in fines plus costs.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 173 One of the most colorful of the Confederate generals seems not to have received full-bodied attention from biographers. No biography of John Bankhead Magruder is singled out in the new reference key, "American Civil War Bibliography" (published by the New York & Pennsylvania Co.).

Magruder, a Virginian, who went from West Point (class of 1830) to service on the frontier, the Seminole War and the Mexican War (in which he won two brevets for gallantry in action), was a captain in 1861. He resigned to enter the Virginia forces as a colonel. He was hailed as a hero in the South when the skirmish at Big Bethel, in which Union forces were repulsed, was announced by the Confederate government as a great victory for Magruder.

Advanced to major general, Magruder was in command of the Rebel forces on the Virginia peninsula when McClellan sought to make the peninsula a route to Richmond in the spring of 1862. Magruder introduced anti-personnel mines into warfare as a defensive measure on the peninsula. In holding the bulk of McClellan's army south of the Chickahominy during the battles of Mechanicsville and Gaines's Mill he showed "an aptitude for independent command and an ability to bluff an adversary," in the judgment of D. S. Freeman. (More here later about "Prince John" Magruder.

Tucker County Plans School Bond Issue

Improvements Total $325,000

PARSONS, W. Va. — The Tucker County Board of Education met for their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the office of Stelman Harper, county superintendent of schools and approved an election order submitted by the superintendent for a special bond issue in the amount of $325,000.

On September 11, the board had authorized the county superintendent to draw up an election order for a bond issue in the amount of $425,000 to be used in the constructing and equipping four additional class rooms at the St. George School; for construction and equipping an elementary school in the Thomas-Davis area; for the construction of a new gymnasium in Parsons and improvements and repairs to Flanagan Hill School.

Since that time there has been a series of meetings throughout the county for the purpose of discussing various school needs. During the course of these meetings it was learned that the people in Thomas did not want a new building which would serve both Thomas and Davis, but preferred to have the old building repaired, continuing with the present buildings as they are in Thomas and Davis. Accordingly the bond issue was alerted to include funds to repair the present buildings in Thomas, Davis and Flanagan Hill; to build four additional class rooms at the St. George school and a gymnasium adjacent to the Parsons High School.

The board approved the purchase of $250,000 insurance coverage, awarding $50,000 of building and property insurance to each of five insurance agents in the county, Joseph R. Gilmore, Luther H. Bennett, Paul Cross, all of Parsons, James C. Cooper of Thomas and Fred Poling of Davis.

The board approved the use of school buses for band, literary and athletic activities out of town. Each principal is to have their schedule of such activities submitted to the board at the beginning of each semester if they anticipate taking the school bus for transportation.

A letter was read from C. Donald Robertson, Attorney General, stating the law as regards transportation for school children participating in literary, band and athletic activities. In all cases the buses or other transportation facilities owned by the Board of Education shall be driven only by a driver regularly employed by the board.

The board discussed the transportation of students in several areas in the county and Mr. Harper was asked to write to the State Road Commissioner requesting that repairs be made to the road through the Brooklyn Heights area near Hendricks so a school bus can be run within the two mile limit to pick up children living in that area.

Hunting Season Opens Saturday In W. Virginia

MOOREFIELD—Sergeant Bart Townsend, Conservation Officer with the Department of Natural Resources for this area, reports small game outlook for the opening day of hunting season Saturday as squirrel-scarce; turkey-good and grouse-fair. Townsend reports mast in most areas is excellent. Deer checking stations for bow hunters in Hardy County will be See's Service Station, Wardensville, and Larry's Grille at Lost River.

Sgt. Townsend reports that spotlighting deer continues to be a problem for the enforcement officers and that several deer have been killed by these poachers. In three cases the deer were wantonly shot and left to rot in the fields. Townsend urged sportsmen to assist the enforcement officers in breaking up this type of ruthless deer killing.

Sgt. Townsend and Conservation Officer Ernest Sayres have prosecuted 34 persons on various conservation violations since July 1 in Hardy County, according to their latest report. Three men from Fairmont were arrested and fined for hunting small game during the closed season.

Townsend said that landowners who have trespass problems during the coming seasons should secure identification of violators and the officers will give them every assistance in prosecuting of trespass violations.

2,500 Attend Tucker County GOP Ox Roast

Event Featured By Sky Diver

PARSONS, Oct. 7—An estimated 2,500 persons attended the Republican rally and ox roast held at Camp Kidd near Parsons Sunday afternoon, from 1 to 5 p. m.

Speakers for the day were Circuit Court Judge Max DeBerry of Harrisville, a native of Terra Alta and candidate for judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals; Cooper Benedict of Greenbrier County, Republican candidate for congress; Dallas Wolfe, State Senator; James W. Michael, chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Tucker County and a candidate for the House of Delegates; Delvin K. Goff, Clerk of the County Court and a candidate for reelection; Albert S. Hile, president of the County Court and candidate for County Commissioner; and Marvin E. Parsons, candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court.

One of the spectacular events of the afternoon was a parachute jump by Norman Southeran of Beckley, W. Va., a member of the Beckley Sky Divers, who jumped from a plane at an altitude of 3800 feet, and dropping to 1800 feet before opening the parachute. The jump, scheduled for 1:15 p. m. was delayed until 4:15 p. m. because of difficulty in securing a plane in Beckley.

There were pie eating contests, cracker eating contests, greased pig contests and sack races.

Heading the various committees working on the event were Dewey Wilfong, chairman of the food committee; Mrs. Delvin K. Goff, chairman of the program and planning committee; Edward McDonald, chairman of the games committee; James W. Michael, chairman of speakers; Mrs. Guy H. Michael Jr., chairman of finance; Marvin E. Parsons, chairman of grounds and parking; and William Harner and Larry Mayfield, co-chairmen of transportation.

Music was furnished by Ralph Stewart and his orchestra and Hank Roy and his string band.

HARRY O. ROGERS

Keyser Postmaster Dies In Hospital

Harry O. Rogers, 71, who had served as postmaster of Keyser since January 6, 1954, died yesterday in Potomac Valley Hospital where he underwent surgery Saturday.

A native of Mineral County, he was educated in Keyser and attended the Preparatory School which is now Potomac State College. In 1917 he enlisted in the army and was with the "Yanks" in Belleau Wood, Chateau-Thierry and the Argone Forest battles. In 1927, he was a delegate to the Legion convention in Paris.

After the war he served as assessor for Mineral County for 16 years and then was elected Clerk of the County Court, a post he held for 12 years.

He became a Mason in 1920, entering Keyser Davis Lodge 51, AF&AM. In 1923 he joined the Scottish Rite Masons at Wheeling and seven years later he became a Shriner and played in the Shrine Band for 25 years. Later, he was named the first president of the Upper Potomac Shrine Club.

One of his major accomplishments was the organization of the Keyser Chapter of the Order of DeMolay in 1945 and he served as "Dad" for the young men for 10 years.

Rogers received the Knight Commander Court of Honor, 32nd Degree, at Wheeling in 1949 and that same year became a member of the Royal Order of Scotland in Washington. In 1950 he joined the Order of the Easter Star, Alkire Chapter 10, Keyser. He was also a member of the Royal Order of Jesters, joining Wheeling Court 10 in 1955.

In October 1961 he received the 33rd degree of Masonry in Washington's House of the Temple. This award made him the only person in the eastern section of West Virginia to be so honored.

He was a son of the late John W. and Laura (Gannon) Rogers.

Mr. Rogers was a member of Grace Methodist Church of Keyser, the Keyser Rotary Club, and a charter member of Nancy Hanks Post 3518, VFW.

Survivors include his widow, Hilda (Thrush) Rogers; a stepson, Lionel Martin, Keyser; a sister, Mrs. Edna Taylor, RD 1, Keyser, and two grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Rogers Funeral Home in Keyser today from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. The body will be at the residence, 135 South Mineral Street, after 7 p.m. today.

A service will be conducted at the residence tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Carroll Thorne, Wheeling, and Rev. Kenneth G. Watkins, Keyser, will officiate and interment will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

Surviving are her husband, Gaetano (Guy) B. Migliaccio; a son, Sam Migliaccio; three daughters, Miss Clara Gladys Migliaccio, at home, Mrs. Cana Arnett, Bridgeport, W. Va., Mrs. Thomas Payman, of Limekiln, Md.; a sister, Mrs. Anastonia DeLuca, Ponca, Italy; three brothers, Carl B. Avellino, Domenico, and Antonio Avellino, all of New York City; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Migliaccio resided in Manheim 45 years.

She was a member of St. Philomena Catholic Church, the Altar Society and Confraternity of Christian Mothers.

The body is at the Fike-Watson Funeral Home here where the family will receive friends today.

The Rosary will be recited today at 8 p.m. (EST).

Requiem mass will be celebrated Friday at 10 a. m. by Rev. Frank J. Brunner in St. Philomena Catholic Church. Interment will be in the Terra Alta cemetery.

MRS. THEODORE EGER

BAYARD, W. Va.—Mrs. Bessie Florence Eger, 84, of Bayard, died Tuesday in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where she was a patient 13 days.

She had suffered a broken leg in a fall at her home and was transferred to Cumberland from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Her husband, Theodore Eger, preceded her in death.

Born in Table Rock, Md., February 25, 1878, she was a daughter of the late John and Katherine (Wilt) Ridder.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Bonner, at home, and Mrs. Ruth Miller, Baltimore; two sons, Joseph Eger, Piedmont, and Carl Eger, Baltimore; three brothers, Elmer Ridder, Gormania, and David and Charles Ridder, of near Red House; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Eger was a member of Presbyterian Church of Gormania and the Pythian Sisters, Gormania.

The body is at the Minnich Funeral Home, Oakland, where the family will receive friends today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Novena To Be Held

PARSONS—The parishioners of Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church in Parsons, under the administration of the Salesian Fathers of Huttonsville are holding a novena in behalf of the Ecumenical Council which will convene in Rome today. The rosary, each evening at 7 o'clock, is led by Edward Silk.

Driver Unhurt As Auto Burns

PARSONS—A 1952 Buick car, operated by David Leon Barlow, age 17 of Montrose, burned near Parsons Friday night. Barlow was driving on U. S. 219, near the Roaring Run bridge north of Parsons when his car went over the right side of the road, struck a guard rail, knocking out several rail guard posts, upset and burned. The car was a total loss.

There were no injuries to the occupants of the car.

Barlow was tried before R. B. Kyle in Parsons, charged with failure to keep his vehicle under control and was fined $10 and costs. Trooper W. D. Thompson was the investigating officer.

The famed inventor, Thomas A. Edison, was the first man ever to hear his own voice reproduced, except as an echo.

Backers Will Evaluate Folk Festival

Officials of the Springs (Pa.) Historical Society and Penn Alps Inc. will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Springs School to evaluate the fifth annual Homecoming and Folk Festival held Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Alta Schrock, chairman of the festival and Evan Miller, president of the historical society, will be in charge of the meeting at which time criticism of this year's festival and suggestions for next year's festival will be discussed.

Those in attendance will listen to a tape recording of the festival sounds which has been requested by the National Broadcasting Company, Chairman Schrock said.

In referring to this year's festival which was the "biggest ever," Miss Schrock said some 500 workers took part in the successful event attended by over 9,000 persons, including some from Hawaii, California, Colorado, Utah, Wisconsin and the New England states.

Approximately 4,000 dinners were served at the community center in Springs and at the Penn Alps restaurant on U.S. Route 40 just east of Grantsville during the two-day festival.

Some patrons nibbled on cheese and crackers purchased at the Springs country store while others purchased sandwiches, baked beans, pie and cake on the grounds.

One woman baked 1,100 loaves of bread for the occasion. Dr. Schrock said the woman has special equipment for baking.

About 1,100 pounds of smoked sausage were sold at the country store, and 1,600 pounds were fried for hungry patrons at the dining room on the grounds and at the Penn Alps restaurant.

A Conestoga wagon provided 300 rides for youngsters, and the team of horses had to be relieved by mid-day.

At one booth two ladies sold 155 colorful bonnets to visitors, and at least 50 portraits of patrons were sketched at another booth.

ALEXANDER'S ANSWERS

QUESTION: Who is paying the bills for the reckless and dangerous UNINSURED Maryland Motorists?

ALEXANDER'S ANSWER

THE INSURED MOTORISTS. Under Policies established by the TAWES Administration, the prudent, insured drivers will be required to pay additional fees to cover losses incurred by the State's Unsatisfied Judgment Fund.

ALEXANDER'S RECOMMENDATIONS

Legislation to require every licensed motorist to carry liability insurance or immediate revocation of their license.

Yanks Top Giants On Tresh's Homer, 5-3, Take 3-2 Edge In Series

Sanford's Stout Pitching Effort Ruined In Eighth

Rookie's 3-Run Belt Breaks Tie, Giving Terry First Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Rookie Tom Tresh ruined a stout pitching effort by Jack Sanford with a three-run homer in the eighth inning Wednesday for a 5-3 New York Yankee victory over the San Francisco Giants in the fifth game of the 1962 World Series.

The triumph gave the American League champs a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Sanford Fans 10

Sanford, a three-hit shutout winner in the second game, had just struck out his 10th man, his pitching opponent, Ralph Terry, when the Yanks struck without warning.

Kubek singled sharply to right field and Richardson lined a single to left. Al Dark, manager of the Giants, bounced out of the dugout to confer with Sanford but decided to let him continue.

The broad-shouldered right-hander threw one ball to Tresh, the 24-year old son of a former major league catcher. The next sailed into the lower deck. It was Tresh's first series homer in his fifth series game and his father, Mike, was in the stands to beam with pride and accept congratulations.

Terry Shakes Jinx

Terry, the man who threw the decisive home run ball to Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski in 1960 and the loser of the second game of this series, finally broke his string of four series defeats with an eight-hit effort. He had the added incentive of winning for his new son, born during the series.

Thursday is an open date for travel with the sixth game scheduled for Candlestick Park in San Francisco on Friday. The seventh game, if necessary, will be played on the same site on Saturday.

Billy Pierce (16-6), loser of Sunday's third game is the pitching choice for the Giants in Friday's encounter with either Whitey Ford (17-8) or Bill Stafford (14-9) going for the Yankees.

Many among the crowd of 63,-165 at Yankee Stadium second-guessed Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, when he let Terry bat leading off the last of the eighth with the score tied at 2-2. But it paid off although Terry soon became Sanford's 10th strikeout victim.

Giants Show Fight

Terry wasn't home safely yet, despite Tresh's three-run blast. Willie McCovey opened the ninth with a single. After Felipe Alou struck out, Tom Haller doubled to left center, beyond the reach of Mickey Mantle, and McCovey scored. Jose Pagan, leading hitter of the series and the man who hit a home run in the fifth inning, came up in a spot where a homer would level the score. Terry made him ground to Kubek at short.

Still it wasn't over. Out of the Giant dugout came Ed Bailey, a dangerous long-ball hitter who swings from the left side. Bailey lofted a long fly to right but Roger Maris was there to make th catch for the game-ending out.

Pagan Hits Homer

Pagan's homer about 10 rows deep into the lower seats in left field leading off the fifth provided the other Giant run, once again giving the National League champs a one-run edge. This time it was 2-1.

But the way the Yanks scored their first two runs bordered on the scandalous for a team that is known as the Bronx Bombers. In the fourth a bloop hit by Tresh dropped off Pagan's glove in short center for a double. After Mantle walked, Maris forced him at second and Tresh took third on the play. After Elston Howard struck out, up came Bill Skowron. Sanford's first pitch was a ball that got through catcher Haller and Tresh scored. It was charged as a wild pitch against Sanford. against Sanford.

In the sixth inning, Richardson topped a ball down toward third base and barely beat Sanford's hurried off-balance throw to first by sliding in. Tresh sacrificed, moving Richardson to second but the slumping Mickey Mantle grounded out.

Haller Misses Ball

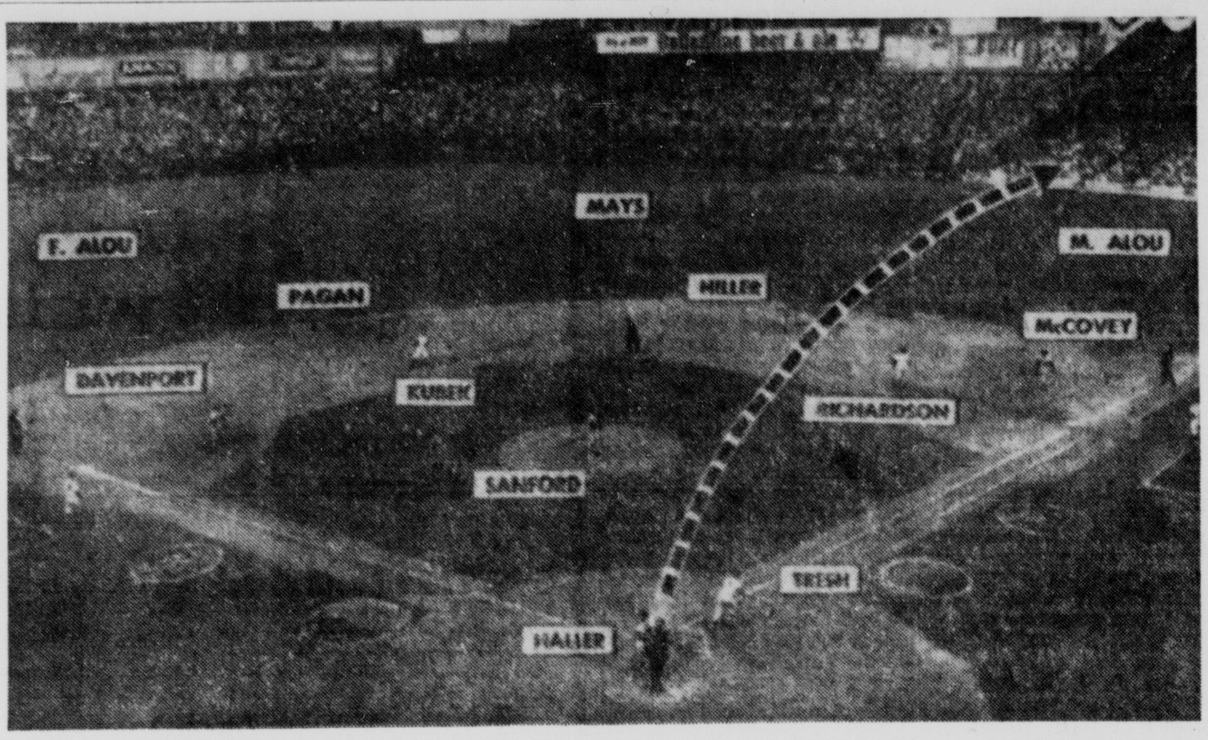
With Maris at the plate and the count two balls and one strike, Sanford threw a outside pitch that Maris missed. Unfortunately for Sanford, his catcher also missed it. It rolled off to the left of the plate half way to the stands. Although Haller recovered and Sanford covered the plate, Umpire Al Barlick ruled that Richardson was safe as he slid home from third under Sanford's tag.



YANKEES HAVE BIG INNING — Yankee outfielder Tom Tresh leaves home plate as ball he hit flies into right field stands in eighth inning for a home run at Yankee Stadium in fifth World Series game yesterday. Scoring ahead of Tresh are Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson. New York defeated San Francisco, 5-3, to take a 3-2 lead in baseball's fall classic. (AP Photofax)

Tresh Confesses He "Choked Up" But On The Bat, Not In Throat

Tom Is Hitting .400 In Series; Bailey Had Terry Worried In 9th

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tom Tresh unashamedly confessed he "choked up" Wednesday but he meant on the bat and not in the throat.

The calm, 24-year-old Yankee rookie drew startled gasps from his listeners when he said he choked up just before smashing his game-winning three-run homer in the eighth and it took a little explaining before he was fully understood.

"What I mean is that I choked up on the bat" he said, a suggestion of a twinkle in his boyish blue eyes. "I was only trying for a single, nothing more."

Tresh's climactic homer off hard-working Jack Sanford was his eighth hit in 20 times up so far in his first World Series and although his .400 batting average leads the Yankees he has no illusions about emerging the series hero.

Still Not Over

"It's a long way from being over yet," said Tresh, who one year ago was watching the World Series on television at Central Michigan University.

"I was supposed to be in the library but I was watching the ball game instead," he laughed. "I didn't have any idea of being in the series this year but I was sure hoping."

Tresh hit a fast ball for his homer off Sanford.

"He hits the corners real well," said the blond leftfielder. "He had jammed me pretty good the first two times up today."

Two of the Yankee players who reveled in Tresh's homer even more than he did, from the looks of things, anyway, were pitcher Ralph Terry and shortstop Tony Kubek.

Terry had every reason to be happy; this was his first World Series triumph following four straight defeats.

"I was a little worried in the ninth pitching to pinch hitter Ed Bailey," Terry revealed. "I threw him a slow curve and for a moment there I thought it might drop in for a base hit."

Got Job Back

Kubek, who reclaimed the first-string shortstop job from Tresh after returning from the Army last Aug. 8, beamed almost as much over young Tom's homer as Tresh's father, Mike, did.

Mike, a former catcher for the White Sox who hit only two homers in his long career, stood by proudly as reporters interviewed his son.

"He's simply terrific," Kubek said of Tresh. "He shows me something not only with his bat, but with his speed and with his glove. He's going to be a great ballplayer real soon."

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk wasn't crowing over his team's three-games-to-two advantage over the Giants.

"I remember the Milwaukee Braves of 1958," Houk said.

"They were up on us, three games to two, and still lost, remember?

Pierce To Hurl Friday's Game

Ford "Or Somebody" To Go For Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Alvin Dark announced after Wednesday's fifth World Series game that left-hander Billy Pierce will pitch for the San Francisco Giants in the sixth game but manager Ralph Houk named Whitey Ford "or somebody," for the New York Yankees.

Pierce, who had a 16-6 record during the National League season, was the losing pitcher in the third game of the series, yielding two earned runs in six runnings. He had a perfect 12-0 season record for the Giants' in San Francisco's Candlestick Park where the sixth game will be played on Friday.

Ford, who has a 10-4 record in overall series play and a winning streak of five straight, won the first game of this series for the Yankees with a 6-2 decision over Billy O'Dell. He has pitched 15 innings and yielded 15 hits and four earned runs in this series.

Northwestern Leads Nation In Offense

NEW YORK (UPI) — Northwestern, one of the surprises of the 1962 college football season, leads all major schools in total offense, forward pass offense and forward pass defense, according to statistics released Wednesday by the NCAA Service Bureau.

The unbeaten Wildcats have gained 994 yards in two games for a per game average of 497 yards. Of this they have gained 493 yards—an average of 246.5 per game—in the air.

This solid offense will receive its sternest test this Saturday when Northwestern faces Big Ten rival Minnsota, which has yet to yield a single point this season. The only other unscored - upon team is West Virginia, which this week clashes with arch-rival Pittsburgh.

Weather For Game Is Anybody's Guess

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The weather for Friday's sixth World Series game between the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees at Candlestick Park was "anybody's guess."

The U.S. Weather Bureau, in a "special baseball weather report," said:

"There will be several periods of rain during the next few days but at the present time it is not possible definitely to state whether it will rain Friday afternoon."

Sanford Tried For Outside Corner But Fast Ball Was Right Up Middle

Wanted To Strike Out Tom; Pierce To Face Yankees On Friday

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I tried for a strike on the outside corner but it was a fast ball right up the middle and that was it," big Jack Sanford said mournfully Wednesday of the pitch that wound up as a three-run homer for Tom Tresh and a 5-3 victory for the New York Yankees over the San Francisco Giants.

"This was the one we wanted to win, the big one," Sanford said. "I was trying to strike him out with two men on and (Mickey) Mantle coming up next. It was the wrong kind of a strike."

Manager Alvin Dark, who had gone out to the mound to talk with Sanford after Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson had singled with one out in the fatal eighth inning, said he never once thought of taking Sanford out of the game up to that point.

Raps Team's Play

"I just wanted to settle him down a bit," Dark said. "He has pitched too good against the Yankees for me to take him out."

Dark, now down 3-2 in the World Series, obviously was bitter about several plays during the game and called it, "The worst game we've played in a long time. We really played bad today."

But he refused to elaborate except to say, "What kinda first inning do you call that?"

Second baseman Chuck Hiller and first baseman Willie McCovey both made errors that inning although the Yankees failed to score.

"It will go seven games," Dark vowed. "Whoever wins the seventh takes it all."

Pierce Pitches Friday

Billy Pierce pitches for the Giants on Friday, Dark said, and Al will "wait and see" whether to come back with Sanford in the event a seventh game is played.

"If he wants me to," Sanford said, "I'll pitch."

The Yankees scored their first run in the fourth on a wild pitch which Sanford said was a slider that spun away from catcher Tom Haller. Haller let a passed ball get away from him in the sixth for another Yankee run.

"It was a curve ball that hit my glove and I must have taken my eye off of it, but I thought we had the runner (Richardson) out anyway on my throw to Sanford."

"We had him," Sanford said, "but the umpire said he slid under my tag."

Mike Tresh Gets Greatest Thrill

Tom's Dad Played In Majors 12 Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tears welled in Mike Tresh's eyes Wednesday when the old American League catcher hugged his hero son, Tom, in the New York Yankees' dressing room.

"I played 12 years in the majors but this is my greatest thrill" said Mike, referring to his son's three-run homer that carried the Yankees to their series victory over the San Francisco Giants.

"I was sitting behind home plate and as soon as Tom hit that ball I knew it was a homer," the elder Tresh said. "He's had a lotta pressure on him in the series but, by golly, he seems to thrive on it."

Mike, now 48, revealed he taught his son to be a switch-hitter.

"He's a natural right - hander, so when he was only two or three years old I had him batting both ways," Mike said. "I figured it wouldn't do him any harm to learn to switch. And I guess it has helped him, huh?"

The elder Tresh also disclosed he never had to push Tom into baseball.

"He was a natural from the beginning," Mike said. "And when he made the grade with the Yankees this year, it was my greatest thrill—until today."

During his entire major league career, Mike Tresh hit only two home runs. Tom's blast Wednesday was his 21st of the year.

Four To Be Named To Hall Of Fame

BALTIMORE (AP) — Four more members of Maryland's Athletic Hall of Fame will be selected Thursday.

The names of three living and one deceased athlete will be announced at the annual dinner of the M club of the University of Maryland Dec. 8 in Washington.

The M Club, composed of letter winners at the university, began the Hall of Fame in 1956. Twenty-eight star athletes in all sports have been selected to date.

Willie Mays Goes To Hospital Oct. 24 For Physical Exam

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays figures he'll go into the hospital for his scheduled complete physical examination in San Francisco about Oct. 24.

"I thought I might go in next Monday," the Giants center fielder said before the start of Wednesday's World Series game, "but I had a previous commitment for some exhibitions and have to go along with it."

He doesn't yet know which physicians will handle the examination—which is a continuation of checks made after he collapsed in the dugout at Cincinnati on Sept. 12.

At the time doctors gave him permission to play but suggested further examinations after the season. Fatigue was believed the underlying reason for the star outfielders collapse.

New York Remains Series Favorite

NEW YORK (UPI)— Oddsmakers Wednesday night established the New York Yankees favorites at 3½ to 1, in man-to-man betting, to win the World Series from the San Francisco Giants.

The professional range is 3 (to 1)-4 (to 1).

Before the Yankees won Wednesday's fifth game at Yankee Stadium and took a 3-2 game lead in the Series, New York had been favored at only 8-5 to win the Series.

However, the wagering on the next game—the sixth game at San Francisco on Friday—is at "even money," man to man. The professional range is "11-10 and pick 'em."

Delaware Is Leader In Lambert Voting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Undefeated Delaware, which has yielded only one touchdown in three games, was the unanimous choice Wednesday for the second straight week to head the list of Eastern Small college football teams in the voting for the Lambert Cup.

The selection committee, composed of eight coaches, sportswriters and sportscasters, gave all their support to the Blue Hens who boast a 3-0 record.

Williams received four second-place votes to edge intra-state rival Tufts by a fraction of a point for the runner-up position behind Delaware. Williams, with a 2-0 record, had a 7.6 average and Tufts, 3-0 was third with 7.5.

Amherst (2-0) was fourth with a 6.6 average and Bucknell (2-1) was fifth with 6.3.

Yanks Top Giants On Tresh's Homer, 5-3, Take 3-2 Edge In Series

Sanford's Stout Pitching Effort Ruined In Eighth

Rookie's 3-Run Belt Breaks Tie, Giving Terry First Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Rookie Tom Tresh ruined a stout pitching effort by Jack Sanford with a three-run homer in the eighth inning Wednesday for a 5-3 New York Yankee victory over the San Francisco Giants in the fifth game of the 1962 World Series.

The triumph gave the American League champs a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Sanford Fans 10

Sanford, a three-hit shutout winner in the second game, had just struck out his 10th man, his pitching opponent, Ralph Terry, when the Yanks struck without warning.

Kubek singled sharply to right field and Richardson lined a single to left. Al Dark, manager of the Giants, bounced out of the dugout to confer with Sanford but decided to let him continue.

Thursday is an open date for travel with the sixth game scheduled for Candlestick Park in San Francisco on Friday. The seventh game, if necessary, will be played on the same site on Saturday.

Billy Pierce (16-6), loser of Sunday's third game is the pitching choice for the Giants in Friday's encounter with either Whitey Ford (17-8) or Bill Stafford (14-9) going for the Yankees.

Many among the crowd of 63,165 at Yankee Stadium second-guessed Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, when he let Terry bat leading off the last of the eighth with the score tied at 2-2. But it paid off although Terry soon became Sanford's 10th strikeout victim.

Terry wasn't home safely yet, despite Tresh's three-run blast. Willie McCovey opened the ninth with a single. After Felipe Alou struck out, Tom Haller doubled to left center, beyond the reach of Mickey Mantle, and McCovey scored. Jose Pagan, leading hitter of the series and the man who hit a home run in the fifth inning, came up in a spot where a homer would level the score. Terry made him ground to Kubek at short.

Still it wasn't over. Out of the Giant dugout came Ed Bailey, a dangerous long-ball hitter who swings from the left side. Bailey lofted a long fly to right but Roger Maris was there to make th catch for the game-ending out.

The Giants had scored first in this game, played under sunny skies after Tuesday's rainout. A third-inning single by Pagan, Sanford's sacrifice and a curling double to left by Chuck Hiller scored the run.

Pagan Hits Homer

Pagan's homer about 10 rows deep into the lower seats in left field leading off the fifth provided the other Giant run, once again giving the National League champs a one-run edge. This time it was 2-1.

But the way the Yanks scored their first two runs bordered on the scandalous for a team that is known as the Bronx Bombers. In the fourth a bloop hit by Tresh dropped off Pagan's glove in short center for a double. After Mantle walked, Maris forced him at second and Tresh took third on the play. After Elston Howard struck out, up came Bill Skowron. Sanford's first pitch was a ball that got through catcher Haller and Tresh scored. It was charged as a wild pitch against Sanford.
against Sanford.

In the sixth inning, Richardson topped a ball down toward third base and barely beat Sanford's hurried off-balance throw to first by sliding in. Tresh sacrificed, moving Richardson to second but the slumping Mickey Mantle grounded out.

Haller Misses Ball

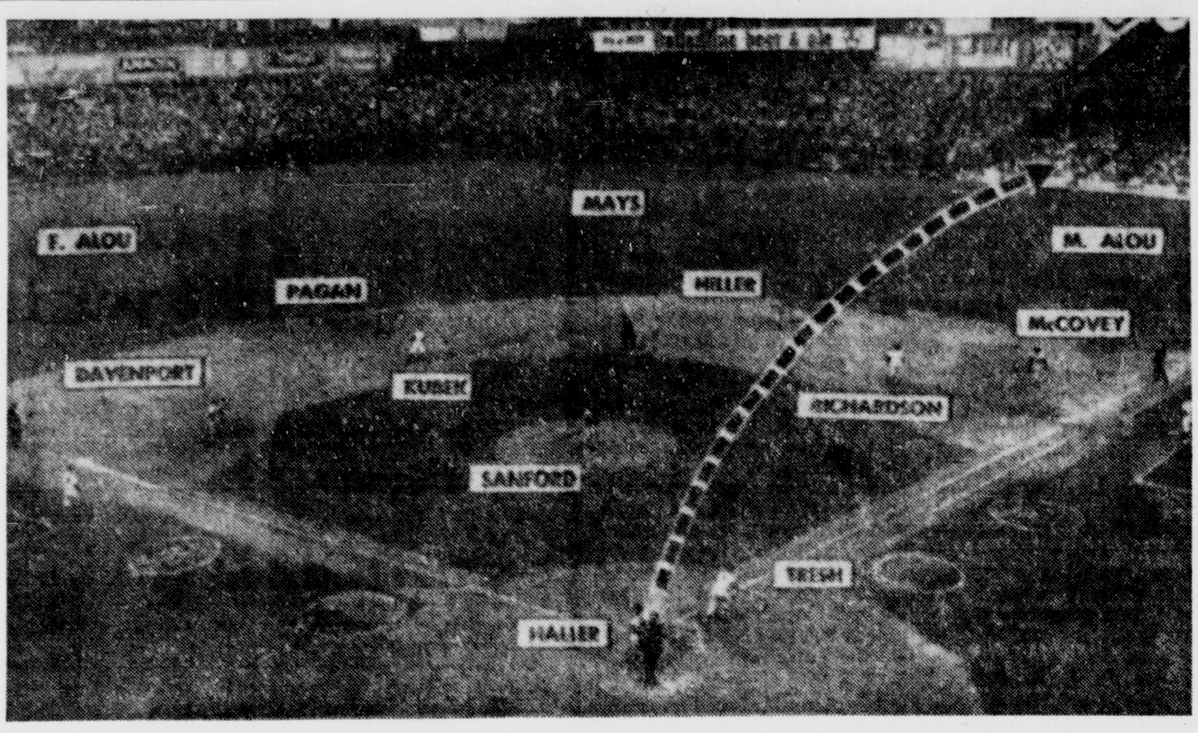
With Maris at the plate and the count two balls and one strike, Sanford threw a outside pitch that Maris missed. Unfortunately for Sanford, his catcher also missed it. It rolled off to the left of the plate half way to the stands. Although Haller recovered and Sanford covered the plate, Umpire Al Barlick ruled that Richardson was safe as he slid home from third under Sanford's tag.



YANKEES HAVE BIG INNING — Yankee outfielder Tom Tresh leaves home plate as ball he hit flies into right field stands in eighth inning for a home run at Yankee Stadium in fifth World Series game yesterday. Scoring ahead of Tresh are Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson. New York defeated San Francisco, 5-3, to take a 3-2 lead in baseball's fall classic.

Tresh Confesses He "Choked Up" But On The Bat, Not In Throat

Tom Is Hitting .400 In Series; Bailey Had Terry Worried In 9th

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tom Tresh unashamedly confessed he "choked up" Wednesday but he meant on the bat and not in the throat.

The calm, 24-year-old Yankee rookie drew startled gasps from his listeners when he said he choked up just before smashing his game-winning three-run homer in the eighth and it took a little explaining before he was fully understood.

"What I mean is that I choked up on the bat" he said, a suggestion of a twinkle in his boyish blue eyes. "I was only trying for a single, nothing more."

Tresh's climactic homer off hard-working Jack Sanford was his eighth hit in 20 times up so far in his first World Series and although his .400 batting average leads the Yankees he has no illusions about emerging the series hero.

Still Not Over

"It's a long way from being over yet," said Tresh, who one year ago was watching the World Series on television at Central Michigan University.

"I was supposed to be in the library but I was watching the ball game instead," he laughed. "I didn't have any idea of being in the series this year but I was sure hoping."

Tresh hit a fast ball for his homer off Sanford.

"He hits the corners real well," said the blond leftfielder. "He had jammed me pretty good the first two times up today."

Two of the Yankee players who reveled in Tresh's homer even more than he did, from the looks of things, anyway, were pitcher Ralph Terry and shortstop Tony Kubek.

Terry had every reason to be happy; this was his first World Series triumph following four straight defeats.

"I was a little worried in the ninth pitching to pinch hitter Ed Bailey," Terry revealed. "I threw him a slow curve and for a moment there I thought it might drop in for a base hit."

Got Job Back

Kubek, who reclaimed the first-string shortstop job from Tresh after returning from the Army last Aug. 8, beamed almost as much over young Tom's homer as Tresh's father, Mike, did.

Mike, a former catcher for the White Sox who hit only two homers in his long career, stood by proudly as reporters interviewed his son.

"He's simply terrific," Kubek said of Tresh. "He shows me something not only with his bat, but with his speed and with his glove. He's going to be a great ballplayer real soon."

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk wasn't crowing over his team's three-games-to-two advantage over the Giants.

"I remember the Milwaukee Braves of 1958," Houk said.

"They were up on us, three games to two, and still lost, remember?

Ford "Or Somebody" To Go For Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Alvin Dark announced after Wednesday's fifth World Series game that left-hander Billy Pierce will pitch for the San Francisco Giants in the sixth game but manager Ralph Houk named Whitey Ford "or somebody," for the New York Yankees.

Pierce, who had a 16-6 record during the National League season, was the losing pitcher in the third game of the series, yielding two earned runs in six runnings. He had a perfect 12-0 season record for the Giants' in San Francisco's Candlestick Park where the sixth game will be played on Friday.

Ford, who has a 10-4 record in overall series play and a winning streak of five straight, won the first game of this series for the Yankees with a 6-2 decision over Billy O'Dell. He has pitched 15 innings and yielded 15 hits and four earned runs in this series.

Northwestern Leads Nation In Offense

NEW YORK (UPI) — Northwestern, one of the surprises of the 1962 college football season, leads all major schools in total offense, forward pass offense and forward pass defense, according to statistics released Wednesday by the NCAA Service Bureau.

The unbeaten Wildcats have gained 994 yards in two games for a per game average of 497 yards. Of this they have gained 493 yards—an average of 246.5 per game—in the air.

This solid offense will receive its sternest test this Saturday when Northwestern faces Big Ten rival Minnsota, which has yet to yield a single point this season. The only other unscored - upon team is West Virginia, which this week clashes with arch-rival Pittsburgh.

Weather For Game Is Anybody's Guess

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The weather for Friday's sixth World Series game between the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees at Candlestick Park was "anybody's guess."

The U.S. Weather Bureau, in a "special baseball weather report," said:

"There will be several periods of rain during the next few days but at the present time it is not possible definitely to state whether it will rain Friday afternoon."

Sanford Tried For Outside Corner But Fast Ball Was Right Up Middle

Wanted To Strike Out Tom; Pierce To Face Yankees On Friday

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I tried for a strike on the outside corner but it was a fast ball right up the middle and that was it," big Jack Sanford said mournfully Wednesday of the pitch that wound up as a three-run homer for Tom Tresh and a 5-3 victory for the New York Yankees over the San Francisco Giants.

"This was the one we wanted to win, the big one," Sanford said. "I was trying to strike him out with two men on and (Mickey) Mantle coming up next. It was the wrong kind of a strike."

Manager Alvin Dark, who had gone out to the mound to talk with Sanford after Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson had singled with one out in the fatal eighth inning, said he never once thought of taking Sanford out of the game up to that point.

Raps Team's Play

"I just wanted to settle him down a bit," Dark said. "He has pitched too good against the Yankees for me to take him out."

Dark, now down 3-2 in the World Series, obviously was bitter about several plays during the game and called it, "The worst game we've played in a long time. We really played bad today."

But he refused to elaborate except to say, "What kinda first inning do you call that?"

Second baseman Chuck Hiller and first baseman Willie McCovey both made errors that inning although the Yankees failed to score.

Pierce Pitches Friday

Billy Pierce pitches for the Giants on Friday, Dark said, and Al will "wait and see" whether to come back with Sanford in the event a seventh game is played.

"If he wants me to," Sanford said, "I'll pitch."

The Yankees scored their first run in the fourth on a wild pitch which Sanford said was a slider that spun away from catcher Tom Haller. Haller let a passed ball get away from him in the sixth for another Yankee run.

"It was a curve ball that hit my glove and I must have taken my eye off of it, but I thought we had the runner (Richardson) out anyway on my throw to Sanford."

"We had him," Sanford said, "but the umpire said he slid under my tag."

Mike Tresh Gets Greatest Thrill

Tom's Dad Played In Majors 12 Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tears welled in Mike Tresh's eyes Wednesday when the old American League catcher hugged his hero son, Tom, in the New York Yankees' dressing room.

"I played 12 years in the majors but this is my greatest thrill" said Mike, referring to his son's three-run homer that carried the Yankees to their series victory over the San Francisco Giants.

"I was sitting behind home plate and as soon as Tom hit that ball I knew it was a homer," the elder Tresh said. "He's had a lotta pressure on him in the series but, by golly, he seems to thrive on it."

Mike, now 48, revealed he taught his son to be a switch-hitter.

"He's a natural right - hander, so when he was only two or three years old I had him batting both ways," Mike said. "I figured it wouldn't do him any harm to learn to switch. And I guess it has helped him, huh?"

The elder Tresh also disclosed he never had to push Tom into baseball.

"He was a natural from the beginning," Mike said. "And when he made the grade with the Yankees this year, it was my greatest thrill—until today."

During his entire major league career, Mike Tresh hit only two home runs. Tom's blast Wednesday was his 21st of the year.

Four To Be Named To Hall Of Fame

BALTIMORE (AP) — Four more members of Maryland's Athletic Hall of Fame will be selected Thursday.

The names of three living and one deceased athlete will be announced at the annual dinner of the M club of the University of Maryland Dec. 8 in Washington.

The M Club, composed of letter winners at the university, began the Hall of Fame in 1956. Twenty-eight star athletes in all sports have been selected to date.

Willie Mays Goes To Hospital Oct. 24 For Physical Exam

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays figures he'll go into the hospital for his scheduled complete physical examination in San Francisco about Oct. 24.

"I thought I might go in next Monday," the Giants center fielder said before the start of Wednesday's World Series game, "but I had a previous commitment for some exhibitions and have to go along with it."

He doesn't yet know which physicians will handle the examination—which is a continuation of checks made after he collapsed in the dugout at Cincinnati on Sept. 12.

At the time doctors gave him permission to play but suggested further examinations after the season. Fatigue was believed the underlying reason for the star outfielders collapse.

New York Remains Series Favorite

NEW YORK (UPI)— Oddsmakers Wednesday night established the New York Yankees favorites at 3½ to 1, in man-to-man betting, to win the World Series from the San Francisco Giants.

The professional range is 3 (to 1)-4 (to 1).

Before the Yankees won Wednesday's fifth game at Yankee Stadium and took a 3-2 game lead in the Series, New York had been favored at only 8-5 to win the Series.

However, the wagering on the next game—the sixth game at San Francisco on Friday—is at "even money," man to man. The professional range is "11-10 and pick 'em."

Delaware Is Leader In Lambert Voting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Undefeated Delaware, which has yielded only one touchdown in three games, was the unanimous choice Wednesday for the second straight week to head the list of Eastern Small college football teams in the voting for the Lambert Cup.

The selection committee, composed of eight coaches, sportswriters and sportscasters, gave all their support to the Blue Hens who boast a 3-0 record.

Williams received four second-place votes to edge intra-state rival Tufts by a fraction of a point for the runner-up position behind Delaware. Williams, with a 2-0 record, had a 7.6 average and Tufts, 3-0 was third with 7.5.

Amherst (2-0) was fourth with a 6.6 average and Bucknell (2-1) was fifth with 6.3.

Turkey Season Opens Saturday

West Virginia's wild turkey hunting season will open Saturday, October 13, and not on Friday as was stated in an article appearing in yesterday's Cumberland News.

LaSalle, Beall And Northern Face New Grid Opponents This Week

Somerset High And Explorers Tangle Friday

Musselman Invades Frostburg; Huskies Host Mountaineer

LaSalle High School has been represented by football teams for 35 years but the Explorers will be playing Somerset (Pa.) High School for the first time Friday night at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

From 1943 through 1950, Somerset played Allegany High teams coached by Walter L. Bowers and Robert E. Pence a series of eight games and the Campers emerged victorious six times.

Somerset's Record 4-1

Somerset is coached by Carl Waugaman, who has tutored the Eagles since the 1949 season. Last season Somerset posted a 9-0 record and extended that string to 12 games this season before being stopped by Scottdale, 20-13. The Pennsylvanians are coming here with a 4-1 record. They defeated Bedford High, 8-6, and the Bisons battled LaSalle to a 7-7 tie. Other wins were scored over Adams-Summerhill, 19-6, Ligonier Valley 41-0 and Everett-Southern 33-0.

Coach Paul Thompson's Explorers go into Friday night's game with a 1-2-1 record.

Northern High of Garrett county will be taking on a new opponent Saturday night when Mountaineer High of Davis-Thomas is met under the lights at Oakland.

Coach Stan Sedmock's Tucker Countians are 5-0-1 and have yielded only one touchdown in six games played to date. The Huskies are 2-3.

Musselman High School of Inwood, W. Va., will be meeting Beall for the first time in a Friday night game at Frostburg. This game was transferred from Musselman to the Mountain City within the past week. It will be Beall's fifth game at home. Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers are 3-1-1 to date.

Potomac State College, winless in three games, takes on a newcomer in Ferrum Junior College in a game scheduled for Saturday at Ferrum, Va.

Romney at Ridgeley

Three Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap for this weekend. Romney High's Pioneers (4-0-1) invade Ridgeley (2-3-0) for a Friday afternoon game (2:30) while the Petersburg Vikings (2-4-0) do battle with Guy Propst's Indians at Circleville (2-3-0).

Keyser, leading the P.V.C. with a 2-0 record, goes after its 12th consecutive victory of the series when it faces the Moorefield Yellowjackets at Moorefield Saturday at 2 p.m., EST. Keyser has shut out Ridgeley and LaSalle in league games while George Hott's club has posted a 3-1-1 mark in the P.V.C. Moorefield's last win over Keyser dates back to 1950.

Allegany's Campers are idle this weekend but Fort Hill's Sentinels will be shooting for their 6th straight win of the campaign when they play North Hagerstown in the Hub City Friday night in a C.V.A.L. contest. North High is having one of its worst seasons and to date has lost five games in a row, given up 156 points while scoring only 18. This should be a breather for the Sentinels before two big games coming up with Westminster's Owls and South Hagerstown's Rebels.

In other Friday tilts, Southern's Highlanders (2-3-0) take on the Parsons Panthers, winless in five outings, and Franklin High's Panthers journey to Hot Springs, Va., to play Valley High School.

Teachers At Home

The Saturday card also includes Frostburg State's home engagement with Bridgewater (Va.) College and the game at Romney between the American School for the Deaf, of Hartford, Conn., and the West Virginia School for the Deaf, defeated in its first four outings.

Fort Hill High School's junior varsity gridders rolled to their fourth consecutive victory of the season when they downed Beall High's Jayvees yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 31-6.

The Little Sentinels scored in every period and the touchdowns were credited to Bill Valentine, Bruce Peck, Gary Beckward, Eddie Abbott and Ronnie Cross. Paul "Rip" Flick kicked the extra point after the first score of the game.

Beall's score came in the third period on a 22-yard lateral pass play executed by Groves, Carter and Elliott.

Valentine started Fort Hill off on the road to victory when he returned the opening kickoff 61 yards to the Beall nine. Two plays later he went over for the score from the five.

In the second period, a 23-yard pass play engineered by Valentine and Beckard produced another six-pointer.

Eddie Abbott dashed over from the 13 in the third stanza and in the final period after Swick recovered a fumble on the Beall three, Ronnie Cross plunged over on the next play.

Clarke's Divorced Wife Accuses Him Of Selling Her Horse

MAYS LANDING, N.J. (AP) — The divorced wife of Alan T. Clarke, a Maryland horseman, has accused him of selling a race horse that belonged to her.

Mrs. Lillian Clarke of Huntington Farms, Clarksville, Md., swore to a warrant in Hamilton Township Municipal Court charging Clarke with embezzlement.

Mrs. Clarke charged that Clarke sold Jennie's Ruler for $20,000 on Sept. 17. However, she said in the warrant, the horse actually was hers.

The sale allegedly took place in the township, where the Atlantic City race course is located.

An official of the court said Clarke had not yet been located for serving of the warrant. The warrant listed his address as a Trenton motel.

United States Leads Canada In World Golf

Sikes Paces Team To 3-Stroke Edge

KAWANA, Japan (UPI) —The United States, paced by a sub-par round from Richard Sikes, took a three-stroke lead over Canada Wednesday in the first round of the four-day third World Amateur golf team championship at the 6,587-yard Fuji course.

Sikes, of Springdale, Ark., who won the USGA amateur public links championship in 1961 and 1962, fired a one-under-par 69 to pave the way for a team score of 212. Deane Beman, Bethesda, Md., shot an even-par 70 and current U.S. amateur champion Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., had a 73.

Veteran Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., the fourth member of the U.S. squad, shot a 74 but his score did not count since only the three best scores of each team are registered.

The winning team will receive the Eisenhower Cup, won two years ago by the United States by 42 strokes.

Gary Cowan of Canada had the day's low score, a 68, among the 92 competitors from 23 countries. The Canadian total of 215 resulted when Nick Weslock shot a 71 and Bill Wakehama a 76.

New Zealand was third with 218, followed by the combined Great Britain-Ireland team at 222. South Africa was a stroke further back in fifth place and Argentina, Mexico and Nationalist China tied for sixth at 225. Japan was ninth with 228, Italy had 229 and Australia 230.

Waivers Asked

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants asked waivers Wednesday on linebacker Bob Simms, a 3-year-veteran with the National Football League club.

Simms joined the Giants in 1960 as an offensive end from Rutgers. He was a reserve linebacker last season.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK—The little guys, not the big boys, dominate the 1962 Series.

Pagan, Hiller, Haller, the Alous and Billy O'Dell of the Giants. Tresh and Boyer of the Yanks. These are the heroes, not Mantle and Maris and Mays and Cepeda.

It's happened before, of course, for remember Bobby Richardson, the hitting demon of the 1960 Series when he drove in 12 runs, had a grand slammer, and just about walked off with all the honors.

In this Series, there's that Jose Pagan, who seems to get on base all the time and makes some spectacular plays at short.

There is Chuck Hiller, a virtual unknown who had hit only three homers all year. He socks one with the bases full to win the fourth game.

There's O'Dell, the little southpaw, who has pitched fine in the Series. And Tom Haller, second-string catcher, who did a man-sized job as a rookie.

There are the Alou brothers, who may be the first brother combo to follow each other at bat since Mort and Walk Cooper did it for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Felipe has made some fancy catches and Matty has done some great pinch-hitting chores. And there's still another brother on the way!

Tom Tresh, a rookie playing his first year, is one of the Yankee hitting stars. Clete Boyer has been spectacular at third base for the Yanks. Clete has hit well and has come up with his usual brilliant plays.

A couple of other unknowns have played a hero's role, too.

Pitcher Bob Bolin, who is only in his second year with the Giants, has been called on for some ticklish relief pitching and come through. In that game when Juan Marichal came up with a finger injury and had to leave the mound, Bolin came in to hurl the next inning, throwing nothing but strikes as he faced five Yankee batters.

And how about that Ernie Bowman, a Giant benchwarmer who replaced Jose Pagan in the second game in Yankee Stadium and made one of the great stops of the Series on a ball hit to deep short by pinch-hitter Hector Lopez?

Speaking of the "little" guys, how about that Whitey Ford? This guy has just got to be the best, as a pro among pros. And the record shows it, too.

Whitey, who had won the first game in windy Candlestick Park, turned in one of the great pitching performances in Series history in that fourth game when he got himself into a jam, loading the bases on two hits and a walk and then threw three straight balls to Chuck Hiller, later to be the big hero.

Whitey side-armed a strike over the plate and then another and with the count 3 and 2 and the bags loaded, he whiffed Hiller to end the inning to the great applause of a big Yankee Stadium crowd.

These, then, have been the standouts although the big boys gave it a real go as the Series went back to the West Coast for the windup.

LaSalle, Beall And Northern Face New Grid Opponents This Week

Musselman Invades Frostburg; Huskies Host Mountaineer

LaSalle High School has been represented by football teams for 35 years but the Explorers will be playing Somerset (Pa.) High School for the first time Friday night at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

From 1943 through 1950, Somerset played Allegany High teams coached by Walter L. Bowers and Robert E. Pence a series of eight games and the Campers emerged victorious six times.

Somerset's Record 4-1

Somerset is coached by Carl Waugaman, who has tutored the Eagles since the 1949 season. Last season Somerset posted a 9-0 record and extended that string to 12 games this season before being stopped by Scottdale, 20-13. The Pennsylvanians are coming here with a 4-1 record. They defeated Bedford High, 8-6, and the Bisons battled LaSalle to a 7-7 tie. Other wins were scored over Adams-Summerhill, 19-6, Ligonier Valley 41-0 and Everett-Southern 33-0.

Coach Paul Thompson's Explorers go into Friday night's game with a 1-2-1 record.

Northern High of Garrett county will be taking on a new opponent Saturday night when Mountaineer High of Davis-Thomas is met under the lights at Oakland.

Coach Stan Sedmock's Tucker Countians are 5-0-1 and have yielded only one touchdown in six games played to date. The Huskies are 2-3.

Musselman High School of Inwood, W. Va., will be meeting Beall for the first time in a Friday night game at Frostburg. This game was transferred from Musselman to the Mountain City within the past week. It will be Beall's fifth game at home. Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers are 3-1-1 to date.

Potomac State College, winless in three games, takes on a newcomer in Ferrum Junior College in a game scheduled for Saturday at Ferrum, Va.

Romney at Ridgeley

Three Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap for this weekend. Romney High's Pioneers (4-0-1) invade Ridgeley (2-3-0) for a Friday afternoon game (2:30) while the Petersburg Vikings (2-4-0) do battle with Guy Propst's Indians at Circleville (2-3-0).

Keyser, leading the P.V.C. with a 2-0 record, goes after its 12th consecutive victory of the series when it faces the Moorefield Yellowjackets at Moorefield Saturday at 2 p.m., EST. Keyser has shut out Ridgeley and LaSalle in league games while George Hott's club has posted a 3-1-1 mark in the P.V.C. Moorefield's last win over Keyser dates back to 1950.

Allegany's Campers are idle this weekend but Fort Hill's Sentinels will be shooting for their 6th straight win of the campaign when they play North Hagerstown in the Hub City Friday night in a C.V.A.L. contest. North High is having one of its worst seasons and to date has lost five games in a row, given up 156 points while scoring only 18. This should be a breather for the Sentinels before two big games coming up with Westminster's Owls and South Hagerstown's Rebels.

In other Friday tilts, Southern's Highlanders (2-3-0) take on the Parsons Panthers, winless in five outings, and Franklin High's Panthers journey to Hot Springs, Va., to play Valley High School.

Teachers At Home

The Saturday card also includes Frostburg State's home engagement with Bridgewater (Va.) College and the game at Romney between the American School for the Deaf, of Hartford, Conn., and the West Virginia School for the Deaf, defeated in its first four outings.

Harriers Of Six Schools Vie In Two Meets Today

Maplehurst, Fort Cumberland Sites For Cross-Country

The cross-country season opens today in Allegany county with triangular meets scheduled for the Fort Cumberland Golf Course and Frostburg.

In the meet here, Fort Hill, Romney and Oldtown harriers will tangle over the two-mile course at 4 p. m. John Fatkin makes his debut as Fort Hill coach, Edgar "Barney" Tucker is Oldtown tutor and George Hanson heads the Romney High hill and dale team.

At Frostburg, Beall High's Mountaineers will play host to Elk Garden High School and Allegany High School's Campers at 4 p. m. in a two-mile test over the Maplehurst Country Club golf course.

Enordo "Moose" Arnone is Beall's coach, Paul Kalbaugh guides the destinies of the Elk Garden squad and Harry Lennox is Allegany High School's mentor.

Fort Hill High School's junior varsity gridders rolled to their fourth consecutive victory of the season when they downed Beall High's Jayvees yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 31-6.

The Little Sentinels scored in every period and the touchdowns were credited to Bill Valentine, Bruce Peck, Gary Beckward, Eddie Abbott and Ronnie Cross. Paul "Rip" Flick kicked the extra point after the first score of the game.

Beall's score came in the third period on a 22-yard lateral pass play executed by Groves, Carter and Elliott.

Valentine started Fort Hill off on the road to victory when he returned the opening kickoff 61 yards to the Beall nine. Two plays later he went over for the score from the five.

In the second period, a 23-yard pass play engineered by Valentine and Beckard produced another six-pointer.

Eddie Abbott dashed over from the 13 in the third stanza and in the final period after Swick recovered a fumble on the Beall three, Ronnie Cross plunged over on the next play.

Clarke's Divorced Wife Accuses Him Of Selling Her Horse

MAYS LANDING, N.J. (AP) — The divorced wife of Alan T. Clarke, a Maryland horseman, has accused him of selling a race horse that belonged to her.

Mrs. Lillian Clarke of Huntington Farms, Clarksville, Md., swore to a warrant in Hamilton Township Municipal Court charging Clarke with embezzlement.

Mrs. Clarke charged that Clarke sold Jennie's Ruler for $20,000 on Sept. 17. However, she said in the warrant, the horse actually was hers.

The sale allegedly took place in the township, where the Atlantic City race course is located.

An official of the court said Clarke had not yet been located for serving of the warrant. The warrant listed his address as a Trenton motel.

Sikes Paces Team To 3-Stroke Edge

KAWANA, Japan (UPI) —The United States, paced by a sub-par round from Richard Sikes, took a three-stroke lead over Canada Wednesday in the first round of the four-day third World Amateur golf team championship at the 6,587-yard Fuji course.

Sikes, of Springdale, Ark., who won the USGA amateur public links championship in 1961 and 1962, fired a one-under-par 69 to pave the way for a team score of 212. Deane Beman, Bethesda, Md., shot an even-par 70 and current U.S. amateur champion Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., had a 73.

Veteran Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., the fourth member of the U.S. squad, shot a 74 but his score did not count since only the three best scores of each team are registered.

The winning team will receive the Eisenhower Cup, won two years ago by the United States by 42 strokes.

Gary Cowan of Canada had the day's low score, a 68, among the 92 competitors from 23 countries. The Canadian total of 215 resulted when Nick Weslock shot a 71 and Bill Wakehama a 76.

New Zealand was third with 218, followed by the combined Great Britain-Ireland team at 222. South Africa was a stroke further back in fifth place and Argentina, Mexico and Nationalist China tied for sixth at 225. Japan was ninth with 228, Italy had 229 and Australia 230.

Waivers Asked

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants asked waivers Wednesday on linebacker Bob Simms, a 3-year-veteran with the National Football League club.

Simms joined the Giants in 1960 as an offensive end from Rutgers. He was a reserve linebacker last season.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK—The little guys, not the big boys, dominate the 1962 Series.

Pagan, Hiller, Haller, the Alous and Billy O'Dell of the Giants. Tresh and Boyer of the Yanks. These are the heroes, not Mantle and Maris and Mays and Cepeda.

It's happened before, of course, for remember Bobby Richardson, the hitting demon of the 1960 Series when he drove in 12 runs, had a grand slammer, and just about walked off with all the honors.

In this Series, there's that Jose Pagan, who seems to get on base all the time and makes some spectacular plays at short.

There is Chuck Hiller, a virtual unknown who had hit only three homers all year. He socks one with the bases full to win the fourth game.

There's O'Dell, the little southpaw, who has pitched fine in the Series. And Tom Haller, second-string catcher, who did a man-sized job as a rookie.

There are the Alou brothers, who may be the first brother combo to follow each other at bat since Mort and Walk Cooper did it for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Felipe has made some fancy catches and Matty has done some great pinch-hitting chores. And there's still another brother on the way!

Tom Tresh, a rookie playing his first year, is one of the Yankee hitting stars. Clete Boyer has been spectacular at third base for the Yanks. Clete has hit well and has come up with his usual brilliant plays.

A couple of other unknowns have played a hero's role, too.

Pitcher Bob Bolin, who is only in his second year with the Giants, has been called on for some ticklish relief pitching and come through. In that game when Juan Marichal came up with a finger injury and had to leave the mound, Bolin came in to hurl the next inning, throwing nothing but strikes as he faced five Yankee batters.

And how about that Ernie Bowman, a Giant benchwarmer who replaced Jose Pagan in the second game in Yankee Stadium and made one of the great stops of the Series on a ball hit to deep short by pinch-hitter Hector Lopez?

Speaking of the "little" guys, how about that Whitey Ford? This guy has just got to be the best, as a pro among pros. And the record shows it, too.

Whitey, who had won the first game in windy Candlestick Park, turned in one of the great pitching performances in Series history in that fourth game when he got himself into a jam, loading the bases on two hits and a walk and then threw three straight balls to Chuck Hiller, later to be the big hero.

Whitey side-armed a strike over the plate and then another and with the count 3 and 2 and the bags loaded, he whiffed Hiller to end the inning to the great applause of a big Yankee Stadium crowd.

These, then, have been the standouts although the big boys gave it a real go as the Series went back to the West Coast for the windup.

Jack Cummings Dies Soccer Anniversary

Penske Finishes 9th Six Scored "Doubles"

By C. V. BURNS

JOHN W. (Jack) Cummings, 59, one of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League stars of the 1920s, died Friday at his home, 514 Nordeen Drive, West Mifflin, Pa.

Jack Cummings (1925 Photo)

A native of Pittsburgh, Cummings began his sandlot career on Pittsburgh's North Side and then went to Wheeling where he was picked up by the old New York Giants under Manager John McGraw.

A catcher, he was traded to the Old Boston Braves about four years later.

Jack was a salesman at the time of his death.

Final rites were held Tuesday.

Cummings will be remembered by M.A. fans as being a powerful hitter. In fact, in 1926 he was nosed out for the league batting title by Denny Sothern, the Cumberland Colts' slugging outfielder, who went on to play with the Phillies and Pirates. Sothern hit 40 doubles, 15 triples and 20 homers and batted .374. Cummings belted 19 homers and wound up with a .367 average.

Jack hit .315 for Wheeling in 1925, the first year of the Mid-Atlantic.

Dick Guy was owner of the Wheeling Stogies in the days Cummings played for that team. Art Rooney, present owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers football team, and his brother Dan, now a Catholic priest, were also Wheeling sluggers in 1925 with averages of .369 and .359, respectively.

Dan Rooney played in the outfield for the Cumberland Colts in 1926 when Pat Ragan managed the local club.

CLARENCE "Mickey" McBee, of Westernport, announces that a dinner celebrating the 35th anniversary of the first soccer championship of Bruce High School will be held Saturday, November 3, at 3 p.m., at the home of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, Westernport.

McBee was an outstanding booter at Bruce High School.

Bruce won its first county championship in 1927 when Scotty Hamilton was coach. The Bulldogs have won more titles than any school in the W.M.I. League's history—a total of 12, including one tie. John "Chip" Grindle coached seven of the championship elevens.

"BUCK" Gephart, the popular manager of B'nai B'rith teams in the Hot Stove Baseball League is receiving congratulations after he won a cash award in a football poll conducted by a Pittsburgh newspaper.

Gephart was among 35 contestants to tie for the $500 cash prize.

MUSSELMAN High School which plays Beall at Frostburg Friday night is to have a new regulation-size athletic field through an appropriation of funds for that purpose by the Musselman Foundation.

Twelve acres of land adjacent to the high school in Berkeley county, W. Va., have been purchased by the Foundation.

Target date for completion of the project is June 1, 1963.

Beall will play Musselman on the new field next year.

ROGER PENSKE, of Gladwyne, Pa., winner of the Edgar D. Vandegrift feature event at the tenth annual Cumberland National ports Car Races held May 13 at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, finished 9th in the United States Grand Prix held Sunday at Watkins Glen, N. Y.

In fact, four of the first nine drivers in the race drove Lotus cars. They were Jim Clark, of England, the winner; Masten Gregory, Kansas City, who came in sixth; Innes Ireland, Scotland, in eighth place and Penske.

THERE have been 40 spring and 41 fall championship golf tournaments staged at the Cumberland Country Club since 1920 and only six members have copped both events in the same year.

Dr. Karl P. Heintz scored a "double" in 1920 and was followed by Martin D. Tenney, Jr., in 1931, George Werkmeister in 1936, Charles S. "Bill" Catherman in 1938, Ed Mattingly in 1940 and Clifton Van Roby in 1947.

THIS is Yogi Berra's 13th World Series and his 12 previous checks were good for $80,000.

Mickey Mantle has cleared $62,000 in series checks, "Whitey" Ford $55,000, Bill Skowron $50,000 and Bob Turley and Elston Howard $41,000.

Frank Crosetti has played or coached on 21 of the Yankees' 27 pennant winners.

COACH Bill Hahn's Wheaton High School eleven (4-0-1) is tied with Gonzaga High (4-1) for second place in the ratings of schoolboy teams in the Washington area.

George Washington is No. 1 with a 5-0 record.

Roy Lester's Richard Montgomery High School team (4-1) is in 6th place.

Golf Tourists, Minus Palmer, Vie On Coast

Bakersfield Open Has Field Of 142

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—The touring golf band, minus moneybags Arnold Palmer and star rookie Jack Nicklaus, tees off Thursday in the $40,000 Bakersfield Open golf tournament — richest links classic of the fall tour.

The 142 man field includes Gene Littler and Billy Casper Jr., ranked second and fourth, respectively, in this year's money winning list. For slender Gene, the tourney will be his first after a summer layoff from the tour.

Other entries include Stan Leonard, Tony Lema, Bob Goalby, Billy Maxwell, Bill Collins, Mike Souchak, Bob Rosburg, Jack Fleck, Don January, George Bayer, Phil Rodgers, Tommy Jacobs, Mason Rudolph, Ken Venturi, Gardiner Dickinson and Jerry Barber.

Palmer and Nicklaus bowed out because of other commitments. Another top absentee is South Africa's Gary Player who entered but later withdrew to return home.

The tournament site is the rolling Bakersfield Country Club where the course measures 6,850 yards and par-72. When the tourney was staged for the first time last year, the golfing nomads promptly agreed the layout was a superb test.

In a come-from - behind performance in 1961, Fleck fired a final round 65 to tie Rosburg. Lanky Jack then took the crown in a sudden-death thriller on the first extra hole.

Terps' Brown Trying For 3d Record In AAC

Leads Conference In Pass Receiving

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Tom Brown, Maryland's fine defensive halfback, has turned on his offensive steam to lead the Atlantic Coast Conference in pass receiving. He's also trying for his third major Atlantic Coast Conference record.

Brown, a senior, has been called "the best defensive back in college football," by his coach, Tom Nugent.

In Maryland's 14-6 victory over North Carolina State last weekend, Brown caught eight passes for 83 yards to take over the pass receiving lead. For the first three weeks of the season, Brown has 14 catches for 166 yards and one touchdown.

Brown smashed the ACC career record for pass interceptions last year when he set a single-season interception record (8) and then set a new ACC batting record (.499) in baseball last spring.

Brown picked off one enemy pass last Saturday, bringing his three-year total to 14, with seven games still to be played. He had two interceptions against SMU in Marylane's season opener. These three interceptions moved him ahead of former Duke quarterback Jerry Barger, who held the old ACC career interception record of 12.

Green Bay's Taylor Leads NFL Rushing

Eddie LeBaron Sets Pace For Passers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jarring Jimmy Taylor of the Green Bay Packers has increased his lead over jolting Jimmy Brown for rushing honors in the National Football League but little Eddie LeBaron of Dallas has taken over the top role among the passers from Detroit's Milt Plum.

Taylor, rushing more times than the Cleveland workhorse, has piled up 418 yards on 77 carries in four games for an average of 5.4 yards. Brown, in 67 runs, has gained 331 yards for a 4.9 average.

Figures, including all games of last Sunday, were released today by the NFL.

LeBaron, a 169-pounder, has completed 44 of 70 attempts for 659 yards, a top percentage of 62.9, five touchdowns and the best average—9.41 yards per pass.

Plum has made good on 64 of 108 heaves for 890 yards, a percentage of 59.3, nine touchdowns and a 8.24 average per throw.

Liston Asks Meeting With Boxing Solons

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Charles (Sonny) Liston has requested a meeting with the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, Commissioner Alfred M. Klein said Wednesday.

Klein said the request was made shortly after Liston won the title Sept. 25. No date has been set for the meeting.

Klein said discussions would cover Liston's plans both as a boxer and as a private citizen.

Columbia Street Touch Grid Teams Score Double Win

Columbia Street School scored a double victory in the Elementary School Touch Football League in games played yesterday at Stitcher Field.

The Class A League team defeated Parkside by the score of 25-12 while the Class B League team registered a 20-6 triumph over Parkside.

Columbia Street teams now lead both leagues with 2-0 records.

Sandy Miller scored two of the "A" team's four touchdowns while the other scores were credited to Mervin Uhl and David Deremer. Sam Schwab made both of Parkside's touchdowns.

In the Class "B" contest, Denny Pyle chalked up a pair of touchdowns and Bobby Clark accounted for the other Columbia Street six-pointer. Pittman averted a shutout for Parkside by scoring in the final period.

Today Johnson Heights plays East Side at East Side Field and Mount Royal opposes Centre Street at Stitcher Field.

CLASS A GAME

| | | | | | |

Harada Wins In Flyweight Title Scrap

Stops Kingpetch In 11th At Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI)—Fighting Harada of Japan, considered by the World Boxing Association as an "unworthy" challenger, battered titleholder Pone Kingpetch of Thailand to a bloody mess Wednesday night to score an 11th round knockout and win the world flyweight championship.

It was the fourth title defense for Kingpetch since winning the crown from Argentina's Pascual Perez on April 16, 1960, and at first the WBA indicated it would not recognize this match as a legitimate defense since Harada is only ranked 10th in the division.

However, the WBA relented and announced it would recognize Harada as champion if he won.

Ferraro Rides Four Winners

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — Apprentice Ron Ferraro, who is challenging all-time great Willie Shoemaker for the 1962 national jockey championship, rode four winners at Garden State Wednesday, including Some Song in the feature $10,000 allowance purse.

Ferraro previously had scored with Terrorize ($8.00) in the second, Sam Ross ($3.40) in the fourth and Matey ($11.80) in the sixth.

Jack Cummings Dies
Penske Finishes 9th
Soccer Anniversary
Six Scored "Doubles"

By C. V. BURNS

JOHN W. (Jack) Cummings, 59, one of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League stars of the 1920s, died Friday at his home, 514 Nordeen Drive, West Mifflin, Pa.

A native of Pittsburgh, Cummings began his sandlot career on Pittsburgh's North Side and then went to Wheeling where he was picked up by the old New York Giants under Manager John McGraw.

A catcher, he was traded to the Old Boston Braves about four years later.

Cummings will be remembered by M.A. fans as being a powerful hitter. In fact, in 1926 he was nosed out for the league batting title by Denny Sothern, the Cumberland Colts' slugging outfielder, who went on to play with the Phillies and Pirates. Sothern hit 40 doubles, 15 triples and 20 homers and batted .374. Cummings belted 19 homers and wound up with a .367 average.

Jack hit .315 for Wheeling in 1925, the first year of the Mid-Atlantic.

Dick Guy was owner of the Wheeling Stogies in the days Cummings played for that team. Art Rooney, present owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers football team, and his brother Dan, now a Catholic priest, were also Wheeling sluggers in 1925 with averages of .369 and .359, respectively.

CLARENCE "Mickey" McBee, of Westernport, announces that a dinner celebrating the 35th anniversary of the first soccer championship of Bruce High School will be held Saturday, November 3, at 3 p.m., at the home of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, Westernport.

Bruce won its first county championship in 1927 when Scotty Hamilton was coach. The Bulldogs have won more titles than any school in the W.M.I. League's history—a total of 12, including one tie. John "Chip" Grindle coached seven of the championship elevens.

"BUCK" Gephart, the popular manager of B'nai B'rith teams in the Hot Stove Baseball League is receiving congratulations after he won a cash award in a football poll conducted by a Pittsburgh newspaper.

Gephart was among 35 contestants to tie for the $500 cash prize.

MUSSELMAN High School which plays Beall at Frostburg Friday night is to have a new regulation-size athletic field through an appropriation of funds for that purpose by the Musselman Foundation.

Twelve acres of land adjacent to the high school in Berkeley county, W. Va., have been purchased by the Foundation.

ROGER PENSKE, of Gladwyne, Pa., winner of the Edgar D. Vandegrift feature event at the tenth annual Cumberland National ports Car Races held May 13 at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, finished 9th in the United States Grand Prix held Sunday at Watkins Glen, N. Y.

In fact, four of the first nine drivers in the race drove Lotus cars. They were Jim Clark, of England, the winner; Masten Gregory, Kansas City, who came in sixth; Innes Ireland, Scotland, in eighth place and Penske.

THERE have been 40 spring and 41 fall championship golf tournaments staged at the Cumberland Country Club since 1920 and only six members have copped both events in the same year.

Dr. Karl P. Heintz scored a "double" in 1920 and was followed by Martin D. Tenney, Jr., in 1931, George Werkmeister in 1936, Charles S. "Bill" Catherman in 1938, Ed Mattingly in 1940 and Clifton Van Roby in 1947.

THIS is Yogi Berra's 13th World Series and his 12 previous checks were good for $80,000.

Mickey Mantle has cleared $62,000 in series checks, "Whitey" Ford $55,000, Bill Skowron $50,000 and Bob Turley and Elston Howard $41,000.

Frank Crosetti has played or coached on 21 of the Yankees' 27 pennant winners.

COACH Bill Hahn's Wheaton High School eleven (4-0-1) is tied with Gonzaga High (4-1) for second place in the ratings of schoolboy teams in the Washington area.

Roy Lester's Richard Montgomery High School team (4-1) is in 6th place.

Green Bay's Taylor Leads NFL Rushing

Eddie LeBaron Sets Pace For Passers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jarring Jimmy Taylor of the Green Bay Packers has increased his lead over jolting Jimmy Brown for rushing honors in the National Football League but little Eddie LeBaron of Dallas has taken over the top role among the passers from Detroit's Milt Plum.

Taylor, rushing more times than the Cleveland workhorse, has piled up 418 yards on 77 carries in four games for an average of 5.4 yards. Brown, in 67 runs, has gained 331 yards for a 4.9 average.

Figures, including all games of last Sunday, were released today by the NFL.

LeBaron, a 169-pounder, has completed 44 of 70 attempts for 659 yards, a top percentage of 62.9, five touchdowns and the best average—9.41 yards per pass.

Plum has made good on 64 of 108 heaves for 890 yards, a percentage of 59.3, nine touchdowns and a 8.24 average per throw.

Liston Asks Meeting With Boxing Solons

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Charles (Sonny) Liston has requested a meeting with the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, Commissioner Alfred M. Klein said Wednesday.

Klein said the request was made shortly after Liston won the title Sept. 25. No date has been set for the meeting.

Klein said discussions would cover Liston's plans both as a boxer and as a private citizen.

Golf Tourists, Minus Palmer, Vie On Coast

Bakersfield Open Has Field Of 142

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—The touring golf band, minus moneybags Arnold Palmer and star rookie Jack Nicklaus, tees off Thursday in the $40,000 Bakersfield Open golf tournament—richest links classic of the fall tour.

The 142 man field includes Gene Littler and Billy Casper Jr., ranked second and fourth, respectively, in this year's money winning list. For slender Gene, the tourney will be his first after a summer layoff from the tour.

Other entries include Stan Leonard, Tony Lema, Bob Goalby, Billy Maxwell, Bill Collins, Mike Souchak, Bob Rosburg, Jack Fleck, Don January, George Bayer, Phil Rodgers, Tommy Jacobs, Mason Rudolph, Ken Venturi, Gardiner Dickinson and Jerry Barber.

Palmer and Nicklaus bowed out because of other commitments. Another top absentee is South Africa's Gary Player who entered but later withdrew to return home.

The tournament site is the rolling Bakersfield Country Club where the course measures 6,850 yards and par-72. When the tourney was staged for the first time last year, the golfing nomads promptly agreed the layout was a superb test.

In a come-from - behind performance in 1961, Fleck fired a final round 65 to tie Rosburg. Lanky Jack then took the crown in a sudden-death thriller on the first extra hole.

Terps' Brown Trying For 3d Record In AAC

Leads Conference In Pass Receiving

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Tom Brown, Maryland's fine defensive halfback, has turned on his offensive steam to lead the Atlantic Coast Conference in pass receiving. He's also trying for his third major Atlantic Coast Conference record.

Brown, a senior, has been called "the best defensive back in college football," by his coach, Tom Nugent.

In Maryland's 14-6 victory over North Carolina State last weekend, Brown caught eight passes for 83 yards to take over the pass receiving lead. For the first three weeks of the season, Brown has 14 catches for 166 yards and one touchdown.

Brown smashed the ACC career record for pass interceptions last year when he set a single-season interception record (8) and then set a new ACC batting record (.499) in baseball last spring.

Brown picked off one enemy pass last Saturday, bringing his three-year total to 14, with seven games still to be played. He had two interceptions against SMU in Marylane's season opener. These three interceptions moved him ahead of former Duke quarterback Jerry Barger, who held the old ACC career interception record of 12.

Columbia Street Touch Grid Teams Score Double Win

Columbia Street School scored a double victory in the Elementary School Touch Football League in games played yesterday at Stitcher Field.

The Class A League team defeated Parkside by the score of 25-12 while the Class B League team registered a 20-6 triumph over Parkside.

Columbia Street teams now lead both leagues with 2-0 records.

Sandy Miller scored two of the "A" team's four touchdowns while the other scores were credited to Mervin Uhl and David Deremer. Sam Schwab made both of Parkside's touchdowns.

In the Class "B" contest, Denny Pyle chalked up a pair of touchdowns and Bobby Clark accounted for the other Columbia Street six-pointer. Pittman averted a shutout for Parkside by scoring in the final period.

Today Johnson Heights plays East Side at East Side Field and Mount Royal opposes Centre Street at Stitcher Field.

CLASS A GAME

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbia Street | 12 | 7 | 6 | 0 | —25 |
| Parkside | 0 | 0 | 6 | 6 | —12 |

Referee—Paul Light.

CLASS B GAME

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Columbia Street | 0 | 7 | 0 | 13 | —20 |
| Parkside | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 | —6 |

Touchdowns: Columbia Street—Bobby Clark (16-yard pass from Denny Pyle); Denny Pyle 2 (26 and 45 yard runs). Parkside—Pittman (1 yard plunge).

Extra points—Columbia Street—Scotty Robinson and Denny Pyle.

Referee — Doug Shook.

Stops Kingpetch In 11th At Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI)—Fighting Harada of Japan, considered by the World Boxing Association as an "unworthy" challenger, battered titleholder Pone Kingpetch of Thailand to a bloody mess Wednesday night to score an 11th round knockout and win the world flyweight championship.

Connecting with a shattering series of left and right punches in the 11th round, the 19 - year - old Harada finally put his more experienced foe away for good at 2:59 of the round.

It was the fourth title defense for Kingpetch since winning the crown from Argentina's Pascual Perez on April 16, 1960, and at first the WBA indicated it would not recognize this match as a legitimate defense since Harada is only ranked 10th in the division.

However, the WBA relented and announced it would recognize Harada as champion if he won.

Harada began his attack in the first round of the scheduled 15-rounder at the Kurame Sumo and he pressed his offense relentlessly as long as the fight lasted. Kingpetch received a cut over his left eye in the fifth round and by the time he was counted out by the referee Vongse Hiranyalekha of Thailand he was bleeding profusely from the eye and from his nose.

State, Federal Monies Sought For Infirmary

County Commissioner John Tucker Mason said Tuesday at the board meeting that a check should be made into the possibility of obtaining state and federal monies for the County Infirmary under a new program.

Mason said that Miss Ethel Wilderman, director of the County Welfare Board, reported a few weeks ago that if a part of the Infirmary was designated as a nursing home the county could possibly be eligible for certain funds for this purpose.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon said he would check into the matter and Mason stated that Miss Wilderman should be asked to meet with the board to discuss the program.

Flintstone Man Fined On Two Counts

William L. Mauzy, RD 1, Flintstone, was fined $60 on two charges Tuesday in Trial Magistrate Court. He was fined $10 for improper passing and $60 for failure to appear on the first count by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

Mauzy was arrested September 7 on Route 40 three miles east of Flintstone by Trooper R. E. Alderton and given a summons to appear in magistrate court September 14.

Magistrate Weatherholt ordered him committed to Allegany County jail in default of fine but he was released yesterday afternoon after the fine was paid.

Flintstone Man Fined On Two Counts

William L. Mauzy, RD 1, Flintstone, was fined $60 on two charges Tuesday in Trial Magistrate Court. He was fined $10 for improper passing and $60 for failure to appear on the first count by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

Mauzy was arrested September 7 on Route 40 three miles east of Flintstone by Trooper R. E. Alderton and given a summons to appear in magistrate court September 14.

Magistrate Weatherholt ordered him committed to Allegany County jail in default of fine but he was released yesterday afternoon after the fine was paid.

Senior Citizens Club Meets At Elks Today

The Senior Citizens Club sponsored by the Recreation Department will meet today at 2 p.m. at the home of Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, South Centre Street.

Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director, said a games party will feature the meeting. Each member has been asked to bring a "white elephant" to be given game winners. Different types of games will be played, Mrs. Hogan said.

Group singing will be led by Mrs. Lola Stewart.

Membership in the club is open to those 60 years of age and over.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Defector Inherits Cash

LONDON (UPI) — Donald MacLean, the British civil servant who defected to the Soviet Union in 1951, has inherited $4,480 from his late mother, Lady MacLean, it was disclosed Wednesday. Treasury officials said the money would be sent to MacLean in Moscow.

Throughout the history of the United States, the proportion of church membership in the total population has risen.

Levels Woman Is Injured In Auto Crash

Mrs. Alma T. Moon Hospitalized Here

A Levels, W. Va. woman was injured yesterday afternoon in a one-car accident on Bethel Road about three and a half miles west of Paw Paw.

Authorities identified her as Mrs. Alma T. Moon who was admitted to Memorial Hospital here suffering from a concussion, compound fracture of her left elbow, a severe laceration of her scalp and lacerations about her body. Her condition was "fair" last night, attaches said.

Raymond Baker, RFD 4, Fulton, N. Y. a member of the Marine Corps, who was the driver of the automobile, sustained minor injuries, was examined at the hospital and released.

Trooper J. I. Plybon, stationed with the West Virginia State Police at Romney, said he received a call about 12:45 p.m. (EST) and when he arrived at the scene of the accident the two occupants of the car had been taken to the local hospital in an ambulance from Berkeley Springs.

The trooper said Baker was driving in the direction of Paw Paw when he lost control of the car which plunged down over a rather steep embankment for a distance of about 150 feet before coming to a stop in a hollow.

While plunging down the embankment, the car rolled over and came to a stop on its wheels. He said the accident occurred on a curve on top of a rise in the highway.

Turner To Face Arson Trial Next Tuesday

Charles William Turner Jr., 22 Fifth Street, has been indicted by the Allegany County Circuit Court grand jury on an arson charge and his case has been scheduled for trial next Tuesday.

The indictment was returned by the grand jury last week and was placed on the open docket in Circuit Court yesterday. He is free on bond.

Turner is charged with setting fire to a shop or garage which he owned at the rear of 357 Williams Street on May 16 with intent to injure and defraud the Ohio Farmers Insurance Company of LeRoy, Ohio.

This property of Turner's was involved in a zoning dispute last year which ultimately was decided by an opinion of Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court last December 19. He affirmed the decision of the City Board of Zoning Appeals in refusing to permit Turner to open a printing business in the building at the rear of 357 Williams Street in a residential district.

Last October 5, Turner had applied to the city engineer for an occupancy permit to use the concrete block and frame building at 357 Williams Street for a silk screen printing company.

The engineer refused the permit. The City Board of Zoning Appeals affirmed the action and Judge Harris ultimately sustained the appeals board on the appeal.

City Is Seeking Traffic Light System Bids

The proposals, which are to be in duplicate in sealed envelopes, will be received at the city clerk's office at City Hall until 10 a. m. October 22 at which time they will be opened and read.

The work includes all labor, equipment and material for installation of the overhead traffic light at the intersection, and is to be in accordance with plans and specifications on file at the city engineer's office.

The city reserves the right to accept or reject any of the bids.

DR. ROBERT E. SHIELDS

Presbyterian Men To Hear Pa. Clergyman

Dinner Lectures Start October 17

Dr. Robert E. Shields, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, McKeesport, Pa., will open the dinner lecture series of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church with a talk in the church fellowship hall following a dinner set for 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 17.

"Resetting The Compass" will be the subject of Dr. Shields' address.

He grew up in Bellingham, Wash., and is a graduate of Wheaton College and Princeton Theological Seminary. Upon completion of his seminary training he went to Washington, D. C., where he was ordained and became pastor of the Kenilworth Presbyterian Church. While in Washington he was instrumental in organizing a new suburban church, Eastminster Presbyterian Church in Bladensburg, Md.

From 1948 until a year ago he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Morgantown, W. Va. He has been active in youth work and has spoken to student groups at West Virginia University as well as high school and youth conferences in various parts of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

On several occasions he has conducted Religious Emphasis Week at Davis and Elkins College in Elkins, W. Va. He was awarded a Doctor of Divinity degree from that college.

Dr. Shields has been chapel speaker at Muskingum College in Ohio and Stanford University in California. In 1957 he participated in a preaching mission to Alaska and was stationed, while there, at the University Presbyterian Church at College, adjacent to the campus of the University of Alaska. He also has been guest speaker for gatherings of Presbyterian men and ministers' seminars in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In 1960-61 he was moderator of the Synod of West Virginia. For a number of years he served as president of the Board of Directors of the Westminster Foundation which has charge of Presbyterian student work at West Virginia University.

Postmasters Preparing For Holiday Rush

Postmasters and Post Office personnel from five West Virginia counties met in Moorefield Monday night to hear Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., assistant to the postmaster here.

The meeting was conducted in the Moorefield Post Office by William H. Geddes, postal service officer, from the Post Office Department in Washington. He led the discussion on how to speed up mail service, especially during the rush of the coming holiday season.

Mr. Cumiskey stressed the importance of breaking the mail down as far as possible before dispatching it, thus reducing the amount of time and manpower in handling here and at other central offices. He also suggested several practical and mechanical aids for busy offices.

Frank McCullough, foreman of the finance section of the local office, demonstrated a new type punch-print money order machine in use in many offices.

Postmaster Glenn W. Evans, Moorefield, was host. He said about 110 postal workers from Grant, Pendleton, Hardy, Hampshire and Mineral counties attended, and participation by postmasters was 100 per cent.

Bushby Says SRC To Move Illegal Signs

Campaign Posters Are Obstructions

John D. Bushby, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said last night that SRC crews have been instructed to remove campaign cards and posters along state highways whenever they are considered hazardous.

The SRC spokesman noted that the Maryland billboard law prohibits posters along state highways without a permit from the commission. Traditionally, political candidates never have attempted to get permits for the posters they and their supporters place along the highways.

The basic rule that the SRC follows is that these signs are removed, regardless of political party, if they are placed on the state right-of-way, if they are placed on signs or posts so as to be an obstruction to safety, or to cover up regular SRC signs.

Such signs which are placed illegally are called snipe signs by the SRC and these the the ones which are removed. One SRC employe reported removing six signs which had been placed one over another, so that only the top sign was visible. The five other signs were doing no candidate any good.

Eventually, after the campaign is over, winter weather will result in virtually all of these posters falling down. Then they become another problem for the SRC, which has the responsibility right-of-way.

Deadline For College Testing Slated Oct. 13

High school seniors must register no later than Saturday, October 13, for the American College Testing program to be held at Allegany Community College and Frostburg State Teachers College on November 10 at 8 a. m.

Registration forms, information booklets and other data on the ACT examinations can be obtained by contracting either William H. Smerling, Allegany Community College registrar, or high school counselors.

The testing is required for admission to all state-supported institutions, including the University of Maryland, Frostburg State Teachers College and Allegany Community College.

General capabilities in English, mathematics, social studies and natural sciences will be indicated by the three-hour tests.

Since these are comprehensive tests based on the individual's total high school background, students are not helped by studying, said Dr. William C. VanNewkirk, administrator of the FSTC testing program.

At Allegany Community College, testing will be staged on November 10 from 8 a. m. to noon in room 102 with William H. Smerling, registrar, in charge.

According to Dr. VanNewkirk, applicants will report to Lowndes Hall, FSTC, on November 10 at 8 a. m. and then will be directed to the testing place.

Excel In CUF Support

Employes in each of the City of Cumberland's 13 departments attained excellent results in their individual campaigns within the Classified Division of CUF. Here three representative city workers are shown, flanked by the fire chief's car and a police patrol coincidentally parked in "V"-for-victory fashion. They the Police Officer Frank R. Valentine, Mrs. Joy Oliver, clerk in the city clerk's office, and C. Arthur Nave, member of the fire department and a CUF representative. The street department representative, B. J. DiGilarmo was absent when picture was taken.

11 Appeals To Be Tried On Monday

Eleven criminal appeals have been docketed for trial next Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Five of these cases involve motor vehicle charges. Clifton Eugene Clites and Earl C. Clites are both charged with overload on formula. Charles William Weese is accused of failure to stop after an accident. Frederick H. Albright is charged with failure to obey a stop sign. Kenneth E. Shreve is accused of driving without a Maryland license.

Other criminal appeals docketed for Monday include William D. Carroll, charged with nonsupport of his wife and three minor children; Benjamin May, charged with assault; Joseph L. Wallizer Sr., charged with possession of undersized fish; Robert L. Moyer, non-support of wife and three minor children; Charles Boden Jr., charges of being drunk and disorderly and assault, and Hugh Kifer, charged with violation of the LaVale zoning ordinance.

Several criminal trials are scheduled for next Tuesday. Robert Lee Kerns, 21, of 343 Davidson Street, and John Mark Riggleman, 22, Green Spring, W. Va., have been lodged in the County Jail since last Friday on a charge of breaking and entering a Williams Street service station September 1. They were bound over to the grand jury after a hearing last Friday before Substitute Magistrate Harold E. Naughton. They have agreed to waive their right to indictment by the grand jury and will be tried on criminal informations.

B&O Railroad Will Develop Coal Lands

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has begun a program for developing coal lands owned by the B & O or served by its lines in West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania, Jervis Langdon Jr. company president, announced Wednesday.

The new program is designed to increase coal traffic on the B&O lines, Langdon said, and to encourage coal production.

Mid-Allegheny Corp., a subsidiary of B&O, will manage and develop the railroad's land interests in the three-state area.

Langdon said his company has faith in the future of the coal industry and intends to exploit possibilities for its development. Coal accounted for approximately 46 per cent of the B&O's total freight tonnage last year.

State Employes' Meeting Today In Baltimore

Allegany, Garrett To Be Represented

The question of a $500 pay hike for all state employes will be one of the major items of business, according to D. Worthington Pearre, MCEA executive director, who said "the door is not closed" to the general pay increase, although Gov. Tawes has not yet committed himself to the increase.

The pay boost is part of the MCEA legislative committee's report made in June. Gov. Tawes has endorsed several points of the program, including a $1.25 minimum wage for state employes, Mr. Pearre said.

Other Agenda Items

A recommendation for special legislation to assist conservation department employes who are not inculded in the maximum 40-hour week regulation will also be on the program.

Pearre said these employes are required to work excessively long hours without additional payment.

Mayor J. Harold Grady of Baltimore will welcome approximately 800 delegates who are expected to attend the convention, which will have Dr. Wilson E. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, as speaker this morning.

Gov. Tawes will address the evening banquet session.

Local Persons To Attend

Planning to attend from Allegany County are William M. Goldsborough, city, state vice president; John Eagan, Midland, and Charles Hout, LaVale, members of Road Construction Chapter 81 comprising the three westernmost counties of Maryland; Ray Gross, Kenneth Hartsock and Jerry McGraw, city, members of Road Maintenance Chapter 4; Francis Philpot, WM Department of Employment Security Chapter, an employe at the local office; John Nichols, Mt. Savage, Allegany County Welfare Chapter 61; Miss Pauline Fisher, Allegany County Health Department Chapter; Walter Abel and about six other delegates from the Frostburg State Teachers College Chapter.

Elmer Upole of Oakland will represent the Garrett County Chapter.

City Employes Far Over Goals In CUF Campaign

Drawing compliments from Mayor Earl D. Chaney and all of the top leaders of the sixth County United Fund campaign, employes of the City of Cumberland increased their CUF gifts 116.5 per cent over 1961, it was announced in their final report to the Classified Division yesterday.

In every one of the city's employe groups in all 13 departments, the goal was either met or exceeded.

This accomplishment drew words of praise from the mayor at a council session. Alvin H. Wilson, general campaign manager, hailed the feat as "outstanding and worthy of all the praise we can muster." John E. Geare and C. M. Sanner, co-chairmen for the Classified Drive which has $60,000 as its goal, said they were "overwhelmed" by the city employes' response.

The co-chairman paid tribute to the CUF representatives of these departments — C. Arthur Nave, Fire Department; Wilber E. Shank, Police Department; Raymond R. Valentine, Streets Department; and James F. Twigg Jr., Water Department. They made particular mention of the work done by Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, who served as team captain for the city employes.

Nine of the 13 employe groups showed 100 per cent participation. They are the engineering office, city clerk's office, finance department, Lake Gordon filtration plant, mayor's office, Recreation Department, Water Department, CCSAC (city, county federal credit union), and the Street Department.

Sewage treatment plant, 191.2 per cent; Fire Department, 184.5 per cent; Finance Department, 164.0 per cent; engineering office, 163.1 per cent; Lake Gordon filtration, 124.0 per cent; Water Department, 111.5 per cent; Police Department, 104.0 per cent; and Street Department, CCSAC, Recreation Department, mayor's office and city clerk's office, all 100 per cent.

Garrett Jury Awards $5,000 In Civil Case

A Garrett County jury yesterday afternoon awarded $5,000 to the plaintiff in a civil damage suit filed against a Decatur, Ill., insurnce firm as the result of nonpayment of a claim in a fire which destroyed the man's home near Swallow Falls last year.

The suit was filed in Garrett County Circuit Court against the Federal Mutual Insurance Company by Cecil Lewis, who lives near Red House not far from Oakland.

The insurance company, according to counsel for the plaintiff, contended that Lewis had not filed any proof of loss within 60 days of the fire which occurred September 12, 1961.

The plaintiff waived this provision in the policy after an insurance adjustor had made an offer on his property loss, the attorney said.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., Westernport attorney, who represented Lewis, asked the jury to return a verdict for the plaintiff for the value of the property at the time of the fire which destroyed the seven-room frame home which had been improved by Lewis after he had purchased it in 1959.

Representing the insurance firm were Stephen R. Pagenhardt and Frederick Thayer, of Oakland. Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill heard the case. Ten men and two women were on the jury which deliberated about an hour and a half.

Tenth District Legion Caravan Slated Sunday

American Legion posts of nearby West Virginia counties will participate in the annual Tenth District Caravan which will be held Sunday.

Grant County Post 78, of Petersburg, will be caravan host this year, according to District Commander Hartzell A. Riggleman, of Romney, who said about 250 legionnaires, their wives and friends are expected to take part in the caravan.

The first division of the caravan will start in Charles Town and the second division in Piedmont and drive to Junction in Hampshire County where they will join for the final leg of the journey to Petersburg.

After a parade through Petersburg the participants will be served a dinner and hear a talk by a distinguished speaker. Legion problems will be discussed at the meeting.

Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley, will leave the post home at 10:30 a. m. (EDT) and will fall in line when departing from Romney at 10:50 a. m. (EST) and proceed to Moorefield Junction, intersection of U. S. Route 220 and 50, where it will pick up Keyser Posts 41 and 152, Piedmont Post 52, at 11:05 a. m. (EST).

Moorefield Post 64 will join in that community at 11:35 a. m (EST). The entire caravan will meet Petersburg Post 78 and Franklin Post 30 at the tannery in Petersburg at noon and proceed to the post home there.

U.S. Official Arranges Visit To Forestry Camp

Mrs. Katherine Oettinger, chief of the U.S. Children's Bureau, will visit Allegany County today to inspect the Green Ridge boys' forestry camp and obtain material and pictures for a brochure on the program of rehabilitation being carried on there.

David L. Curran, director of the state forestry camps, said that Mrs. Oettinger, Philip Green, chief of the section on delinquency prevention and treatment, and a photographer are scheduled to arrive at the camp about 11:30 a.m. today.

They will have lunch at the camp and remain there until about mid-afternoon.

The U.S. Children's Bureau is the basic source of much research on the care and treatment of neglected and delinquent children. This bureau provides grants-in-aid and technical assistance and consultation and establishes standards for training schools and forestry camps in the United States.

Equity Suits Filed

Three new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Gareth D. Buchholtz vs. Hazel M. Buchholtz, Flossie Etta Robertson vs. Emory Robertson, and Frank R. Valentine vs. Carolyn V. Valentine.

New Flakeboard Plant Possible In This Area

Paw Paw Is Seen As Good Location

The Paw Paw Industrial Committee, Inc. at Paw Paw, W. Va., is working on the possibility of locating an industrial plant for the construction of flakeboard in the community.

J. T. Slocomb, industrial forester for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company conferred with the group Tuesday night and reviewed the forest resource available within a 25-mile radius.

Mr. Slocomb said there are 700,000 acres of merchantable forest land now supporting a stand of 700,000,000 board feet of saw timber and 5,000,000 cords of pulpwood in this area. More than a million cords of Virginia scrub pine are also available, he said, pointing out that this is the best known species for the manufacture of flakeboard.

A plant as proposed for Paw Paw, he explained, which would turn out 5,000,000 square feet of three-quarter inch flakeboard annually, would employ about 30 people, plus an additional 10 or more in the woods. This minimum-size plant for economical operation would bring $200,000 a year into the Paw Paw area in the form of wages and for raw material, he suggested.

Mr. Slocomb is a graduate of the Yale School of Forestry with 20 years of woods experience in this territory. Employed in the industrial development department of the B&O, he is actively promoting the development of wood industry.

Members of the industrial committee explain that flakeboard is a form of particle board made from green wood. Fine particles of pine are mixed with urea formaldehyde. Under pressure and heat, six inches of flakes are reduced to a board three-quarters of an inch thick and four by six feet in width and length. This smooth, firm and lightweight product is broadly used as core stock in the manufacture of cabinets, furniture, paneling, doors and fixtures. It is also used for sheathing, subfloors and interior partitions. The manufacture of particleboard is said to be one of the fastest growing wood products industries in the United States today.

Midland To Get New Television Translator

The M.G.W. Television Association Inc. of Midland has been granted a construction permit for a new VHF television translator station on Channel 11 to translate programs of WJAC-TV (Channel 6) Johnstown, Pa.

The Federal Communications Commission has notified William C. Kroll, association president, that the permit has been granted.

Midland residents who have been receiving programs on Channel 7, Washington, D.C. for about a year will be getting pictures of the Johnstown station in about a month, said Mr. Kroll.

Lonaconing homes will also be included in the second translator. During the past few weeks a 70-foot tower has been built and transmitting and receiving antennaes have been placed in operation.

Buildings also have been erected and the power lines have been installed, the association president said. The association which has been operating on public donations, meets every Monday.

Playing with the All-State Band will be Linda Gipe, flute, and William Robinson, clarinet, both Allegany High School; Dennis Hewitt, clarinet; Wayne Thompson, French horn, and David Windish, baritone sax, all of Fort Hill High School, and John Scott, bass clarinet, Beall High School, Frostburg.

Hugh Henderson, director of the University of Maryland bands, will serve as guest conductor of the All-State Clinic Band. This unit will rehearse from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday, October 19, but will not present a concert.

Participating in this band from Allegany County will be Ralph Wilson, trombone, Mt. Savage High School, and Keith Thomas, bass clarinet, Fort Hill High School.

Mr. Hahn stressed that all eight of these instrumentalists were selected by practical musicianship audition. All of them except Keith Thomas are members of the Allegany County Youth Wind Ensemble.

Orchestra Members

Dr. Richard Page, chairman of the vocal department of State University College, Fredonia, N. Y., will be guest conductor of the All-State Chorus. This group will rehearse in Baltimore Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week in preparation for the concert which will be presented at 2 p. m. Friday, October 19, at the second general session of the teachers' convention.

Six of the county's eight senior high schools are represented in the chorus. Members of the chorus are Margaret Ellen Filler, Ilsa Duke, Richard Lehr and James Levin, all of Allegany; Roberta Rizer, Beall High School; Richard Bosely, Bruce High School; Sharon Cox, Carol Herman and John Slocomb, all of Fort Hill High School; Judy Boyce, Mt. Savage High School, and Lois Carol Foote, Valley High School.

All-State band members will drive to Baltimore next Tuesday morning. The All-State chorus members will travel by train Tuesday afternoon and the All-State clinic band members will go by automobile Friday morning.

Levels Woman Is Injured In Auto Crash

Mrs. Alma T. Moon Hospitalized Here

A Levels, W. Va. woman was injured yesterday afternoon in a one-car accident on Bethel Road about three and a half miles west of Paw Paw.

Authorities identified her as Mrs. Alma T. Moon who was admitted to Memorial Hospital here suffering from a concussion, compound fracture of her left elbow, a severe laceration of her scalp and lacerations about her body. Her condition was "fair" last night, attaches said.

Raymond Baker, RFD 4, Fulton, N. Y. a member of the Marine Corps, who was the driver of the automobile, sustained minor injuries, was examined at the hospital and released.

Trooper J. I. Plybon, stationed with the West Virginia State Police at Romney, said he received a call about 12:45 p.m. (EST) and when he arrived at the scene of the accident the two occupants of the car had been taken to the local hospital in an ambulance from Berkeley Springs.

The trooper said Baker was driving in the direction of Paw Paw when he lost control of the car which plunged down over a rather steep embankment for a distance of about 150 feet before coming to a stop in a hollow.

While plunging down the embankment, the car rolled over and came to a stop on its wheels. He said the accident occurred on a curve on top of a rise in the highway.

Turner To Face Arson Trial Next Tuesday

Charles William Turner Jr., 22 Fifth Street, has been indicted by the Allegany County Circuit Court grand jury on an arson charge and his case has been scheduled for trial next Tuesday.

The indictment was returned by the grand jury last week and was placed on the open docket in Circuit Court yesterday. He is free on bond.

Turner is charged with setting fire to a shop or garage which he owned at the rear of 357 Williams Street on May 16 with intent to injure and defraud the Ohio Farmers Insurance Company of LeRoy, Ohio.

This property of Turner's was involved in a zoning dispute last year which ultimately was decided by an opinion of Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court last December 19. He affirmed the decision of the City Board of Zoning Appeals in refusing to permit Turner to open a printing business in the building at the rear of 357 Williams Street in a residential district.

Last October 5, Turner had applied to the city engineer for an occupancy permit to use the concrete block and frame building at 357 Williams Street for a silk screen printing company.

The engineer refused the permit. The City Board of Zoning Appeals affirmed the action and Judge Harris ultimately sustained the appeals board on the appeal.

City Is Seeking Traffic Light System Bids

The proposals, which are to be in duplicate in sealed envelopes, will be received at the city clerk's office at City Hall until 10 a. m. October 22 at which time they will be opened and read.

The work includes all labor, equipment and material for installation of the overhead traffic light at the intersection, and is to be in accordance with plans and specifications on file at the city engineer's office.

The city reserves the right to accept or reject any of the bids.

DR. ROBERT E. SHIELDS

Dinner Lectures Start October 17

Dr. Robert E. Shields, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, McKeesport, Pa., will open the dinner lecture series of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church with a talk in the church fellowship hall following a dinner set for 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 17.

"Resetting The Compass" will be the subject of Dr. Shields' address.

He grew up in Bellingham, Wash., and is a graduate of Wheaton College and Princeton Theological Seminary. Upon completion of his seminary training he went to Washington, D. C., where he was ordained and became pastor of the Kenilworth Presbyterian Church. While in Washington he was instrumental in organizing a new suburban church, Eastminster Presbyterian Church in Bladensburg, Md.

From 1948 until a year ago he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Morgantown, W. Va. He has been active in youth work and has spoken to student groups at West Virginia University as well as high school and youth conferences in various parts of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

On several occasions he has conducted Religious Emphasis Week at Davis and Elkins College in Elkins, W. Va. He was awarded a Doctor of Divinity degree from that college.

Dr. Shields has been chapel speaker at Muskingum College in Ohio and Stanford University in California. In 1957 he participated in a preaching mission to Alaska and was stationed, while there, at the University Presbyterian Church at College, adjacent to the campus of the University of Alaska. He also has been guest speaker for gatherings of Presbyterian men and ministers' seminars in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In 1960-61 he was moderator of the Synod of West Virginia. For a number of years he served as president of the Board of Directors of the Westminster Foundation which has charge of Presbyterian student work at West Virginia University.

Postmasters Preparing For Holiday Rush

Postmasters and Post Office personnel from five West Virginia counties met in Moorefield Monday night to hear Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., assistant to the postmaster here.

The meeting was conducted in the Moorefield Post Office by William H. Geddes, postal service officer, from the Post Office Department in Washington. He led the discussion on how to speed up mail service, especially during the rush of the coming holiday season.

Mr. Cumiskey stressed the importance of breaking the mail down as far as possible before dispatching it, thus reducing the amount of time and manpower in handling here and at other central offices. He also suggested several practical and mechanical aids for busy offices.

Frank McCullough, foreman of the finance section of the local office, demonstrated a new type punch-print money order machine in use in many offices.

Postmaster Glenn W. Evans, Moorefield, was host. He said about 110 postal workers from Grant, Pendleton, Hardy, Hampshire and Mineral counties attended, and participation by postmasters was 100 per cent.

Bushby Says SRC To Move Illegal Signs

Campaign Posters Are Obstructions

John D. Bushby, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said last night that SRC crews have been instructed to remove campaign cards and posters along state highways whenever they are considered hazardous.

The SRC spokesman noted that the Maryland billboard law prohibits posters along state highways without a permit from the commission. Traditionally, political candidates never have attempted to get permits for the posters they and their supporters place along the highways.

The basic rule that the SRC follows is that these signs are removed, regardless of political party, if they are placed on the state right-of-way, if they are placed on signs or posts so as to be an obstruction to safety, or to cover up regular SRC signs.

Such signs which are placed illegally are called snipe signs by the SRC and these the the ones which are removed. One SRC employe reported removing six signs which had been placed one over another, so that only the top sign was visible. The five other signs were doing no candidate any good.

Eventually, after the campaign is over, winter weather will result in virtually all of these posters falling down. Then they become another problem for the SRC, which has the responsibility right-of-way.

Deadline For College Testing Slated Oct. 13

High school seniors must register no later than Saturday, October 13, for the American College Testing program to be held at Allegany Community College and Frostburg State Teachers College on November 10 at 8 a. m.

Registration forms, information booklets and other data on the ACT examinations can be obtained by contracting either William H. Smerling, Allegany Community College registrar, or high school counselors.

The testing is required for admission to all state-supported institutions, including the University of Maryland, Frostburg State Teachers College and Allegany Community College.

General capabilities in English, mathematics, social studies and natural sciences will be indicated by the three-hour tests.

Since these are comprehensive tests based on the individual's total high school background, students are not helped by studying, said Dr. William C. VanNewkirk, administrator of the FSTC testing program.

At Allegany Community College, testing will be staged on November 10 from 8 a. m. to noon in room 102 with William H. Smerling, registrar, in charge.

According to Dr. VanNewkirk, applicants will report to Lowndes Hall, FSTC, on November 10 at 8 a. m. and then will be directed to the testing place.

Excel In CUF Support

Employes in each of the City of Cumberland's 13 departments attained excellent results in their individual campaigns within the Classified Division of CUF. Here three representative city workers are shown, flanked by the fire chief's car and a police patrol coincidentally parked in "V"-for-victory fashion. They the Police Officer Frank R. Valentine, Mrs. Joy Oliver, clerk in the city clerk's office, and C. Arthur Nave, member of the fire department and a CUF representative. The street department representative, B. J. DiGilarmo was absent when picture was taken.

11 Appeals To Be Tried On Monday

Eleven criminal appeals have been docketed for trial next Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Five of these cases involve motor vehicle charges. Clifton Eugene Clites and Earl C. Clites are both charged with overload on formula. Charles William Weese is accused of failure to stop after an accident. Frederick H. Albright is charged with failure to obey a stop sign. Kenneth E. Shreve is accused of driving without a Maryland license.

Other criminal appeals docketed for Monday include William D. Carroll, charged with non-support of his wife and three minor children; Benjamin May, charged with assault; Joseph L. Wallizer Sr., charged with possession of undersized fish; Robert L. Moyer, non-support of wife and three minor children; Charles Boden Jr., charges of being drunk and disorderly and assault, and Hugh Kifer, charged with violation of the LaVale zoning ordinance.

Several criminal trials are scheduled for next Tuesday. Robert Lee Kerns, 21, of 343 Davidson Street, and John Mark Riggleman, 22, Green Spring, W. Va., have been lodged in the County Jail since last Friday on a charge of breaking and entering a Williams Street service station September 1. They were bound over to the grand jury after a hearing last Friday before Substitute Magistrate Harold E. Naughton. They have agreed to waive their right to indictment by the grand jury and will be tried on criminal informations.

B&O Railroad Will Develop Coal Lands

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has begun a program for developing coal lands owned by the B & O or served by its lines in West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania, Jervis Langdon Jr. company president, announced Wednesday.

The new program is designed to increase coal traffic on the B&O lines, Langdon said, and to encourage coal production.

Mid-Allegheny Corp., a subsidiary of B&O, will manage and develop the railroad's land interests in the three-state area.

Langdon said his company has faith in the future of the coal industry and intends to exploit possibilities for its development. Coal accounted for approximately 46 per cent of the B&O's total freight tonnage last year.

State Employes' Meeting Today In Baltimore

Allegany, Garrett To Be Represented

Allegany and Garrett counties will be represented at the annual convention of the Maryland Classified Employes Association today in Baltimore.

The question of a $500 pay hike for all state employes will be one of the major items of business, according to D. Worthington Pearre, MCEA executive director, who said "the door is not closed" to the general pay increase, although Gov. Tawes has not yet committed himself to the increase.

The pay boost is part of the MCEA legislative committee's report made in June. Gov. Tawes has endorsed several points of the program, including a $1.25 minimum wage for state employes, Mr. Pearre said.

Other Agenda Items

A recommendation for special legislation to assist conservation department employes who are not inculded in the maximum 40-hour week regulation will also be on the program.

Pearre said these employes are required to work excessively long hours without additional payment.

Mayor J. Harold Grady of Baltimore will welcome approximately 800 delegates who are expected to attend the convention, which will have Dr. Wilson E. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, as speaker this morning.

Gov. Tawes will address the evening banquet session.

Local Persons To Attend

Planning to attend from Allegany County are William M. Goldsborough, city, state vice president; John Eagan, Midland, and Charles Hout, LaVale, members of Road Construction Chapter 81 comprising the three westernmost counties of Maryland; Ray Gross, Kenneth Hartsock and Jerry McGraw, city, members of Road Maintenance Chapter 4; Francis Philpot, WM Department of Employment Security Chapter, an employe at the local office; John Nichols, Mt. Savage, Allegany County Welfare Chapter 61; Miss Pauline Fisher, Allegany County Health Department Chapter; Walter Abel and about six other delegates from the Frostburg State Teachers College Chapter.

Elmer Upole of Oakland will represent the Garrett County Chapter.

City Employes Far Over Goals In CUF Campaign

Drawing compliments from Mayor Earl D. Chaney and all of the top leaders of the sixth County United Fund campaign, employes of the City of Cumberland increased their CUF gifts 116.5 per cent over 1961, it was announced in their final report to the Classified Division yesterday.

In every one of the city's employe groups in all 13 departments, the goal was either met or exceeded.

This accomplishment drew words of praise from the mayor at a council session. Alvin H. Wilson, general campaign manager, hailed the feat as "outstanding and worthy of all the praise we can muster." John E. Geare and C. M. Sanner, co-chairmen for the Classified Drive which has $60,000 as its goal, said they were "overwhelmed" by the city employes' response.

The co-chairman paid tribute to the CUF representatives of these departments — C. Arthur Nave, Fire Department; Wilber E. Shank, Police Department; Raymond R. Valentine, Streets Department; and James F. Twigg Jr., Water Department. They made particular mention of the work done by Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, who served as team captain for the city employes.

Nine of the 13 employe groups showed 100 per cent participation. They are the engineering office, city clerk's office, finance department, Lake Gordon filtration plant, mayor's office, Recreation Department, Water Department, CCSAC (city, county federal credit union), and the Street Department.

Following is a percentage breakdown of CUF results, the percentage indicating each department's achievements as compared to goals:

Sewage treatment plant, 191.2 per cent; Fire Department, 184.5 per cent; Finance Department, 164.0 per cent; engineering office, 163.1 per cent; Lake Gordon filtration, 124.0 per cent; Water Department, 111.5 per cent; Police Department, 104.0 per cent; and Street Department, CCSAC, Recreation Department, mayor's office and city clerk's office, all 100 per cent.

Garrett Jury Awards $5,000 In Civil Case

A Garrett County jury yesterday afternoon awarded $5,000 to the plaintiff in a civil damage suit filed against a Decatur, Ill., insurnce firm as the result of nonpayment of a claim in a fire which destroyed the man's home near Swallow Falls last year.

The suit was filed in Garrett County Circuit Court against the Federal Mutual Insurance Company by Cecil Lewis, who lives near Red House not far from Oakland.

The insurance company, according to counsel for the plaintiff, contended that Lewis had not filed any proof of loss within 60 days of the fire which occurred September 12, 1961.

The plaintiff waived this provision in the policy after an insurance adjustor had made an offer on his property loss, the attorney said.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., Westernport attorney, who represented Lewis, asked the jury to return a verdict for the plaintiff for the value of the property at the time of the fire which destroyed the seven-room frame home which had been improved by Lewis after he had purchased it in 1959.

Representing the insurance firm were Stephen R. Pagenhardt and Frederick Thayer, of Oakland. Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill heard the case. Ten men and two women were on the jury which deliberated about an hour and a half.

Tenth District Legion Caravan Slated Sunday

American Legion posts of nearby West Virginia counties will participate in the annual Tenth District Caravan which will be held Sunday.

Grant County Post 78, of Petersburg, will be caravan host this year, according to District Commander Hartzell A. Riggleman, of Romney, who said about 250 legionnaires, their wives and friends are expected to take part in the caravan.

The first division of the caravan will start in Charles Town and the second division in Piedmont and drive to Junction in Hampshire County where they will join for the final leg of the journey to Petersburg.

After a parade through Petersburg the participants will be served a dinner and hear a talk by a distinguished speaker. Legion problems will be discussed at the meeting.

Chester Matney, commander of the Department of West Virginia, other department officers, and officers of the Tenth District will attend the program.

Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley, will leave the post home at 10:30 a. m. (EDT) and will fall in line when departing from Romney at 10:50 a. m. (EST) and proceed to Moorefield Junction, intersection of U. S. Route 220 and 50, where it will pick up Keyser Posts 41 and 152, Piedmont Post 52, at 11:05 a. m. (EST).

Moorefield Post 64 will join in that community at 11:35 a. m. (EST). The entire caravan will meet Petersburg Post 78 and Franklin Post 30 at the tannery in Petersburg at noon and proceed to the post home there.

U.S. Official Arranges Visit To Forestry Camp

Mrs. Katherine Oettinger, chief of the U.S. Children's Bureau, will visit Allegany County today to inspect the Green Ridge boys' forestry camp and obtain material and pictures for a brochure on the program of rehabilitation being carried on there.

David L. Curran, director of the state forestry camps, said that Mrs. Oettinger, Philip Green, chief of the section on delinquency prevention and treatment, and a photographer are scheduled to arrive at the camp about 11:30 a.m. today.

They will have lunch at the camp and remain there until about mid-afternoon.

The U.S. Children's Bureau is the basic source of much research on the care and treatment of neglected and delinquent children. This bureau provides grants-in-aid and technical assistance and consultation and establishes standards for training schools and forestry camps in the United States.

Equity Suits Filed

Three new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Gareth D. Buchholtz vs. Hazel M. Buchholtz, Flossie Etta Robertson vs. Emory Robertson, and Frank R. Valentine vs. Carolyn V. Valentine.

New Flakeboard Plant Possible In This Area

Paw Paw Is Seen As Good Location

The Paw Paw Industrial Committee, Inc. at Paw Paw, W. Va., is working on the possibility of locating an industrial plant for the construction of flakeboard in the community.

J. T. Slocomb, industrial forester for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company conferred with the group Tuesday night and reviewed the forest resource available within a 25-mile radius.

Mr. Slocomb said there are 700,000 acres of merchantable forest land now supporting a stand of 700,000,000 board feet of saw timber and 5,000,000 cords of pulpwood in this area. More than a million cords of Virginia scrub pine are also available, he said, pointing out that this is the best known species for the manufacture of flakeboard.

A plant as proposed for Paw Paw, he explained, which would turn out 5,000,000 square feet of three-quarter inch flakeboard annually, would employ about 30 people, plus an additional 10 or more in the woods. This minimum-size plant for economical operation would bring $200,000 a year into the Paw Paw area in the form of wages and for raw material, he suggested.

Mr. Slocomb is a graduate of the Yale School of Forestry with 20 years of woods experience in this territory. Employed in the industrial development department of the B&O, he is actively promoting the development of wood industry.

Members of the industrial committee explain that flakeboard is a form of particle board made from green wood. Fine particles of pine are mixed with urea formaldehyde. Under pressure and heat, six inches of flakes are reduced to a board three-quarters of an inch thick and four by six feet in width and length. This smooth, firm and lightweight product is broadly used as core stock in the manufacture of cabinets, furniture, paneling, doors and fixtures. It is also used for sheathing, subfloors and interior partitions. The manufacture of particleboard is said to be one of the fastest growing wood products industries in the United States today.

Midland To Get New Television Translator

The M.G.W. Television Association Inc. of Midland has been granted a construction permit for a new VHF television translator station on Channel 11 to translate programs of WJAC-TV (Channel 6) Johnstown, Pa.

The Federal Communications Commission has notified William C. Kroll, association president, that the permit has been granted.

Midland residents who have been receiving programs on Channel 7, Washington, D.C. for about a year will be getting pictures of the Johnstown station in about a month, said Mr. Kroll.

Lonaconing homes will also be included in the second translator. During the past few weeks a 70-foot tower has been built and transmitting and receiving antennaes have been placed in operation.

Buildings also have been erected and the power lines have been installed, the association president said. The association which has been operating on public donations, meets every Monday.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

19 Young County Musicians Will Play, Sing With All-State Groups Next Week

Some 19 instrumental and vocal musicians from Allegany County will participate in All-State musical groups in Baltimore next week, according to LaVern J. Hahn, supervisor of music education in the county.

Six will play in the 110-piece All-State Band, two others in the All-State Clinic Band and 11 others will sing in the 275-voice All-State Chorus.

Nilo Hovey will serve as guest conductor of the All-State Band, which is scheduled for two concerts. The first will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday, October 17, at Ridgely-Dulaney High School, Lutherville. The second will be at 2 p.m. Thursday, October 18, for the first general session of the State Teachers Association convention.

Band Members

Playing with the All-State Band will be Linda Gipe, flute, and William Robinson, clarinet, both Allegany High School; Dennis Hewitt, clarinet; Wayne Thompson, French horn, and David Windish, baritone sax, all of Fort Hill High School, and John Scott, bass clarinet, Beall High School, Frostburg.

Hugh Henderson, director of the University of Maryland bands, will serve as guest conductor of the All-State Clinic Band. This unit will rehearse from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday, October 19, but will not present a concert.

Participating in this band from Allegany County will be Ralph Wilson, trombone, Mt. Savage High School, and Keith Thomas, bass clarinet, Fort Hill High School.

Mr. Hahn stressed that all eight of these instrumentalists were selected by practical musicianship audition. All of them except Keith Thomas are members of the Allegany County Youth Wind Ensemble.

Orchestra Members

Dr. Richard Page, chairman of the vocal department of State University College, Fredonia, N. Y., will be guest conductor of the All-State Chorus. This group will rehearse in Baltimore Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week in preparation for the concert which will be presented at 2 p. m. Friday, October 19, at the second general session of the teachers' convention.

Six of the county's eight senior high schools are represented in the chorus. Members of the chorus are Margaret Ellen Filler, Ilsa Duke, Richard Lehr and James Levin, all of Allegany; Roberta Rizer, Beall High School; Richard Bosely, Bruce High School; Sharon Cox, Carol Herman and John Slocomb, all of Fort Hill High School; Judy Boyce, Mt. Savage High School, and Lois Carol Foote, Valley High School.

All-State band members will drive to Baltimore next Tuesday morning. The All-State chorus members will travel by train Tuesday afternoon and the All-State clinic band members will go by automobile Friday morning.
